Mr. Fuller arose to a point of order: that Mr. Baker's motion to reconsider was out of order.

Mr. Speaker decided that Mr. Fuller's point of order was not well taken.

The Speaker announced that the Governor wished to send a message to the House.

The message was received and laid upon the table to await the pleasure of the House.

The following is the message submitted:

A message from the Governor, by J. N. Reece, Private Secretary.

Mr. Speaker: I am directed by the Governor to lay before the House of Representatives the following communication:

STATE OF ILLINOIS, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SPRINGFIELD, January 30, 1885.

To the Honorable the House of Representatives:

I have the honor to transmit, herewith, the biennial message of the Governor to the General Assembly, with the reports of the Secretary of State, Auditor of Public Accounts, State Treasurer, Attorney General, and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

JOHN M. HAMILTON, Governor.

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives of the Thirty-fourth General Assembly:

With cordial greeting to you on your coming together as the representatives of the people of Illinois, I have the honor to submit to you, as required by the Constitution, the biennial message of the Governor.

In writing this message I have endeavored to lay before you a comprehensive business view of the transactions of the State Government during the two years last passed, the present condition of affairs, and the estimates of expenditures for the next two years, as accurately as can be ascertained.

I came into the Executive office February 6, 1883. Since that time the people of the State have been peaceful and prosperous, with but few exceptions.

FINANCIAL AFFAIRS.

A statement of the financial condition of the State Government must commence with the fiscal year, beginning with October 1, 1882, the time to which the last biennial message submitted by my predecessor brought the statement, and end with the end of the fiscal year, October 1, 1884.

GENERAL REVENUE FUND.

On hand October 1, 1882.....	$2,977,412 95
Received to October 1, 1884.....	4,293,789 87
Total.....	$7,271,202 82
Disbursements to October 1, 1884.....	4,143,636 15
Balance on hand.....	$3,127,566 67

STATE SCHOOL FUND.

Balance on hand October 1, 1882.....	$267,014 63
Received to October 1, 1884.....	2,052,430 11
Total.....	$2,319,444 74
Disbursements.....	2,133,224 13
Balance.....	$186,220 61

MILITARY FUND.

On hand October 1, 1882.....	$45,556 68
Received to October 1, 1884.....	131,895 07
Total.....	$177,451 75
Disbursements.....	177,451 75

BALANCE IN TREASURY OCTOBER 1, 1884.

General Revenue Fund.....	$3,127,566 66
State School Fund.....	186,220 61
State Military Fund.....
Total.....	$3,313,787 27

This balance in the State treasury, erroneously supposed by some people to be a useless surplus, is accounted for as follows:

Balance on hand.....	$3,313,787 27
Deduct State school fund already appropriated.....	186,220 66
Balance.....	$3,127,566 64
Deduct, also, appropriations to July 1, 1885, for Executive and Judicial Departments, already appropriated.....	$602,249 34
Balance of appropriations to charitable, educational, penal and reformatory institutions.....	1,186,836 97
Balance of miscellaneous appropriations.....	256,999 08
Expenses of Illinois National Guard.....	42,554 54
Completion of State House, already appropriated.....	200,000 00
	2,288,639 93
Balance in Treasury unappropriated.....	$838,926 73

Against the last named sum must also be drawn all such appropriations as may be made by the Thirty-fourth General Assembly in emergency bills for special purposes. That amount, of course, cannot be foretold. To the balance left in the treasury July 1, 1885, will be added $1,500,000 expected to reach the treasury from new taxes by that period, from which total sum the entire appropriations made by the General Assembly for the next following fiscal year must be paid. It is reasonable to suppose that such new appropriations will almost, if not quite, reach the above total amount, and therefore no large or unnecessary surplus remains in the treasury.

I am also directed by the Constitution to submit to you estimates of the amount of money required to be raised by taxation for all purposes for the next two years :

My estimate is as follows :

Legislative Department.....	$259,500 00
Executive Department, including all the Executive Bureaus, salaries and expenses.....	477,716 29
Judicial Department, salaries of Judges, State's Attorneys, and expenses.....	578,130 00
Conveying convicts to penitentiary.....	50,000 00
Conveying convicts to reform school.....	8,000 00
Arresting fugitives from justice.....	35,000 00
Public printing, binding, and printing paper and stationery for General Assembly and Executive Departments.....	80,000 00
State House, completion of.....	331,712 00
Illinois National Guard.....	300,000 00
Northern Penitentiary—
Repairs and extra costs.....	11,000 00
Contingent fund.....	50,000 00
Southern Penitentiary—
Ordinary subsistence and expenses.....	175,000 00
New buildings.....	25,000 00
Southern Normal University—
Ordinary expenses.....	23,000 00
For new buildings, heating, light and furniture.....	172,500 00
Illinois State Normal University—
For current expenses, including one-half interest on College and Seminary fund.....	53,987 12
For building outhouses.....	2,000 00
Illinois Industrial University—
For ordinary expenses and salaries.....	50,000 00
For ordinary expenses and maintenance of inmates of four State Hospitals for the Insane, the Deaf and Dumb, Blind, and Feeble-Minded Asylums, the Soldiers' Orphans' Home, the Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary, and the State Reform School.....	1,740,000 00
Contingent appropriation for the Illinois and Michigan Canal.....	40,000 00
For State school purposes—one million dollars per annum.....	2,000,000 00
Total.....	$6,461,546 41

The above does not include any estimate for the extra appropriations usually made to the charitable institutions for new buildings, furniture, improvements, etc., for the reason that I have no definite information on the subject, and the amount of such appropriations can only be conjectured. If the Legislature follows the example of several preceding Legislatures, appropriations for such purpose would probably amount to $500,000; but, in my judgment, no more than $300,000 will be needed.

The estimate for the next two years is increased, it will be observed, by these items materially:

1. The estimate contemplates the care of 1,500 more inmates of our charitable institutions than we have ever had before, chiefly owing to the increase of the capacity in the insane hospitals, as shown hereinafter.

2. The estimate is increased by $172,500 for rebuilding the Southern Normal University.

3. The appropriation recommended for the Illinois National Guard is increased $150,000.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD FUND.

During my term of office the reports made to me by the Illinois Central Railroad Company, semi-annually, of 7 per cent. of the gross earnings which that company is required by law to pay into the State treasury, have been as follows:

For six months ending April 30, 1883.....	$182,104 80
For six months ending October 31, 1883.....	206,638 39
For six months ending April 30, 1884.....	172,070 42
For six months ending October 31, 1884.....	184,609 21

The last two reports have not come up to my expectations of one year ago of what they would be, but they show a corresponding decrease with other great railroads during the same period, resulting from commercial causes. In February, 1883, I attended an important meeting of the Illinois Central Board in New York City, and made thorough examination of their manner of doing business, with satisfactory results. In the month of October, 1884, I employed a railroad expert of my own selection, also a practical railroad accountant, and sent them to Chicago to examine the books and accounts of the Illinois Central Railroad with reference to the claims of the State, and the manner of ascertaining the same. After investigation, they reported to me in writing that the rules under which the divisions of earnings between the main line on which the State derives its 7 per cent. of gross earnings, and the branches and extensions, were just and equitable. They also reported that the rule of the company dividing its earnings with branches and extensions not included in the seven per cent. original line, has been made to conform to the suggestions of the Finance Committee of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-third General Assembly. With these sources of information I sincerely believe that the management of the Illinois Central Railroad is efficient, and that the interests of the State in its earnings are honestly and fully protected and accounted for.

STATE BONDED DEBT.

There is a remnant of the old State bonded indebtedness still outstanding, which has long since been called in by proclamation of the Governor, and upon all of which interest has ceased since January 1, 1879.

It is as follows:

New Internal Improvement Stock.....	$ 4,000 00
New Internal Improvement Int. Stock, payable after 1877.....	4,600 00
1 Refunded Stock Bond, payable after 1877.....	1,000 00
1 Old Internal Improvement Bond.....	1,000 00
13 Canal Bonds.....	13,000 00
Total.....	$23,600 00

It is supposed that most of these bonds have been lost or destroyed. The Legislature has usually appropriated a sum sufficient to take them up if presented, ever since they were called in. My predecessor in office advised the 33d General Assembly that it would be no longer necessary to so appropriate, under the belief, no doubt, that no more of these bonds would be presented. Since the adjournment of that General Assembly, one of these old bonds has been presented for payment. It is a bond for $500 of class "New Internal Improvement Int. Stock, payable after 1877," and with the interest on it from July 1st, 1857, to January 1st, 1879, now amounts to $1,145.00. A sum of money should again be appropriated sufficient to pay this bond.

ASSESSMENT OF TAXES FOR STATE PURPOSES.

I desire to call the attention of this General Assembly to what I consider a growing evil arising out of our State revenue laws. That is the varying and gradual decreasing amount of value of property in the State, for taxable purposes. In 1874 the amount of taxable property in the State as returned by the State Board of Equalization was $1,194,456,451. This sum gradually decreased from year to year until 1879, when it amounted to $784,623,550. It then began to increase yearly until in 1883 it amounted to $817,904,721, while in 1884 it again fell off to $809,169,303. In levying the assessments in 1883 of taxes for State purposes, the State officers charged with that duty found it necessary to levy on y 32 cents on the $100 of taxation for State purposes, to raise the amount directed by the Legislature. But when we came to make the same levy to raise the same taxes in the year 1884, we found we had $8,734,918 less of taxable property on which to levy; therefore, we were compelled this year to levy 35 cents on the $100 in order to meet the same appropriations. This vascillation and uncertainty is attributable to a fault in our revenue laws. It seems that the township and county assessors, and the members of the State Board of Equalization, have grown into a practice of constantly viciug with each other in their efforts to reduce the taxable values of property in their several localities. No one will deny but that the total cash value of all classes of property in this State is now much greater than it was in 1874 and in 1883, and yet, we are forced to tax on a value this year of $385,286,648 less than in 1874, and $8,734,918 less than one year ago. This constant change and reduction of values must necessarily work an injury to those who perchance have their property in such shape as that it can be taxed for something near its real value as against others whose property cannot be so readily valued. It also shows to the great disadvantage of the State, and misrepresents its taxation compared with real values, in comparison with other States of the Union whose revenue laws compel the more equitable and real return of the taxable value of property. I therefore call the especial attention of the Legislature to this evil, and ask that such remedies may be applied by legislation as the case demands.

EDUCATIONAL.

Under the able supervision of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Hon. Henry Raab, the school system of the State has shown very satisfactory progress. The increase over former years of daily attendance of children in proportion to total enrollment, is very large, as is also the increase of average daily attendance. The report of the School Superintendent shows marked increase of attendance in high and graded schools, while the attendance in ungraded schools has greatly decreased. His report also shows that in two years the average wages of men teaching has increased from $46.86 per month to $51.31, and of women from $37.76 to $40.44.

The amount spent for school houses has increased from $770,000 to $1,100,000 and the total expenditures by school districts from $8,000,000 to $9,400,000.

From these facts and statistics the State Superintendent ably argues—and in his argument I fully concur—that there is a public demand for the maintenance, in good shape, of the State Normal schools we now have, if not for additional ones. He shows that over 2,000 students of these Normal schools are now teaching in this State, with marked improvement in the work of the public schools.

I also concur with him in recommending that the school law be amended so as to compel the personal visitation and supervision of all the public schools in a county by the County Superintendent. The country district schools are entitled to improvement and supervision as well as those of the town or city.

In regard to the Normal schools, they are both doing a noble work that the State should be proud of. The State Normal school at Normal should be more generously supported by the State than it has been heretofore, in order that financial embarrassment hindering and cramping thorough work may be avoided.

The Southern Illinois Normal University at Carbondale has had a peculiar and sad experience since the last Legislature adjourned. Under an able and devoted corps of teachers it rapidly developed into the source of power in public education in Southern Illinois. It is, in fact, the light of "Egypt." On the 26th day of November, 1884, its fine and only building was totally destroyed by fire, with the exception of foundation and part of the walls, which can, in re-building, still be utilized. It would be supposed that such a sudden calamity would paralyze the life of such a young institution as this. But not so. By the prompt and heroic action of the faculty and students much of the furniture, apparatus and library was saved. The generous citizens of Carbondale at once threw open halls, offices and other accommodations, and the school went right on, most of the students devotedly remaining. The citizens of Carbondale promptly raised a subscription fund of $6,000, with which a temporary wooden one-story structure was built on the Normal grounds in a very short time for the use of the school. In this structure, not much better than barracks, of upright boards, the school has been run for over a year. During the time the total attendance at the school has actually increased. The trustees and faculty have succeeded in running it within the appropriation made by the last General Assembly for its support. The school is now doing splendid work under such adverse circumstances. The edifice for the school should be rebuilt without delay, because: 1st. The necessities of public and popular education in the State demand it. 2d. It would be a disgrace to the State not to promptly rebuild it under such circumstances. 3d. Because the section of country in which it is located is entitled to its benefits. 4th. The city of Carbondale contributed about $125,000 for the location of the University at that place, with the implied understanding at least, with the State, that it should be maintained perpetually.

I therefore most earnestly recommend that from $150,000 to $200,000, or whatever sum may be found necessary, be promptly appropriated to restore the building and equipments of the Southern Normal University. At the time of its destruction I was warmly importuned by many prominent citizens of Southern Illinois to call the Legislature together in special session to make the necessary appropriation to restore it. But I deemed that an unwise and expensive course and refused. I have left the matter until this regular meeting of the General Assembly, and hope it will do its plain duty in the case.

The Illinois Industrial University at Champaign has also been doing good work, as shown by the report. It should be encouraged and properly supported. During my administration, by action of the Board of Trustees, in which I, being present, fully concurred, the Nebraska lands belonging to the University were offered for sale at fixed minimum prices. I am informed that many very good sales have been effected, the amount of which I am not able to state. It will be fully shown in the financial reports of the University. The lands were a continual yearly expense by way of taxes, and in my judgment, were properly sold when good prices could be obtained. The finances and interests of this University should be closely guarded.

CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

The policy of this State, through its Legislature, has been, for many years, to make liberal appropriations and expenditures for the care of persons who are the objects of public charity, including the insane, idiotic, blind, deaf and dumb, and soldiers' orphans. A vast amount of money is annually appropriated from the public treasury for the maintenance of these charitable institutions. Large as the sum may seem, however, the necessity for those liberal expenditures may be readily seen by a glance at the facts and figures.

From the tenth U. S. census, June 1st, 1880, it appears that in Illinois there were, at that time, insane, 5,134; idiots, 4,170; blind, 2,615; deaf and dumb, 2,202; in all, 14,121, not including the inmates of private charitable institutions. That number has probably increased since then in about the proportion of increase of the population of the State. Many of them are now taken care of in State institutions; others are in county poor houses, or are a constant charge and burden on friends and relatives. It has been demonstrated beyond question that the cheapest and best way of taking care of these unfortunates is in State institutions aggregating and accommodating large numbers under one system of care and management. This reasoning is the justification of the large appropriations and extensive plans of charitable institutions embraced in the State policy. In pursuance of this policy, the last Legislature appropriated $400,000 for the Kankakee Insane Hospital, to add new buildings and increase its capacity for number and care of patients. The work has been undertaken and successfully carried on by the cordial co-operation of the trustees of that hospital and the State Board of Charities, with the Executive. The plan comprehends the erection of eighteen additional detached buildings. Five of them are already complete and filled with patients. The contract for three additional buildings was let under plans and specifications at such favorable terms that when the buildings are complete it is believed that it will be the cheapest hospital for the insane ever erected in the United States. The whole expense of the hospital, under the present plan and contract, of grounds, and buildings all of stone, including fireproof main buildings, water works, gas works, sewerage, etc., will be only $559.55 per patient. The present plan, when completed, will give additional capacity to the hospital for 1,000 patients. The work is rapidly progressing, and is being paid for from the appropriations as fast as it is properly done according to contract.

In the same line of policy the last Legislature appropriated $135,000 for the extension of the buildings and capacity of the Jacksonville Insane Hospital. The design of this enlargement has been carried out by the erection of a detached building to accommodate 300 patients. The building is already under roof, and $60,951.33 has been drawn from the appropriation of $135,000 to pay for work done, while $74,048.67 of the appropriation still remains in the treasury undrawn. When the Kankakee and Jacksonville extensions are finished, it is estimated by the State Board of Charities that there will be sufficient capacity in our insane hospitals in the aggregate to relieve our county poorhouses of all their insane, a result much to be desired.

I am informed by the State Board of Charities that the Soldiers' Orphans' Home and State Reform School will both need special legislative attention at this session in order to properly care for them and put them on good footing.

The Northern and Southern Insane Hospitals, the Deaf and Dumb, the Blind and the Idiotic Asylums are all in healthy, well-ordered condition, and should receive the usual necessary appropriations for their maintenance. This charitable work cannot be too strongly commended to the careful consideration of the Legislature.

PENITENTIARIES.

It is with great pleasure that I am able to report that the Northern Penitentiary at Joliet is self-supporting so far as ordinary expenses are concerned. The $50,000 appropriated by the last General Assembly as a contingent fund, has not been drawn upon at all. This result has been produced by the favorable position and opportunities of the penitentiary for securing good contracts for the work of the prisoners. Many of the contracts for the work of the prisoners expired during the last few months, and the new letting of contracts proved very favorable to the State. This penitentiary is being run on very successful business principles, and it is believed will continue to be self-supporting, so far as ordinary expenses are concerned, under the present laws and principles. The contingent fund of $50,000, to be used in cases of emergency, should be again appropriated. The duration of the favorable and self-supporting condition necessarily depends upon the condition of business affairs, so far as they may affect future lettings of the labor of prisoners.

The recommendation of the Warden for an appropriation of $10,000 for necessary repairs, and $1,000 additional for extra expenses on account of a murder in the prison, are hereby approved and recommended.

The Southern Illinois Penitentiary, at Chester, is a comparatively new prison, and could not reasonably be expected to be anything near self-supporting. It is still incomplete and undeveloped. It has only a capacity for taking care of eight hundred prisoners as a maximum. It has but one work-shop, which is occupied by the contractors in the shoe-manufacturing business. It has also a brick-yard, making bricks from clay within the stockade, which is let to contractors. These two industries contract for and employ about three hundred men, at good wages. I have, from time to time, so adjusted the territory between the districts of the Northern and Southern Penitentiaries as to keep an average of about seven hundred prisoners in the Southern Penitentiary, sending all the remainder to the Northern Penitentiary, where they could be amply accommodated, and their labor contracted with advantage to the State. Of the average of seven hundred kept in the Southern Penitentiary, about three hundred were let on contract work, while the remaining four hundred were either employed in the immense stone-quarry within the stockade, reducing a hill of stone and producing rip-rap and paving stone, which sold at good prices, or were doing work of State improvement about the penitentiary. Much work for the State for improvements about the penitentiary has been done by the convicts, which does not show in cash against the subsistence account.

Of the $150,000 appropriated for this penitentiary for ordinary subsistence, $125,000 has already been drawn. Whether the remaining $25,000 will be sufficient to maintain them until July 1, 1885, I am unable to state, but it is doubtful. Much work remains to complete the design of this penitentiary. I recommend that a sufficient work-shop shall be built for letting contracts for labor to advantage. Also, for a State work-shop, in which the State may have work done which has heretofore been imperfectly done in temporary sheds. A reservoir and reservoir-house are also imperatively demanded. The additional wing of the cell-house should also be erected in due time, but it is not at present imperatively necessary.

For the extra buildings above suggested, an appropriation of $25,000 is recommended. $175,000 for ordinary expenses should be appropriated, which I have reason to hope will not all be needed.

If the Legislature would devise some plan and enact it into a law by which the penitentiary convicts of the State could be classified so as to send the monstrous, incorrigible and hardened criminals to the Northern prison, and make it purely a prison of hard labor, while the accidental criminals and the young, first offenders could be sent to the Southern prison, which might, under salutary laws and restrictions, be made a reformatory institution with all necessary regulations, I think the effect would be excellent upon the results of the treatment of the criminal classes of the State.

RAILROAD AND WAREHOUSE COMMISSION.

This very important Bureau of the State Government shows exceedingly gratifying results during the past two years. The authority of this Board, under the law, to regulate railroad charges and prevent discrimination, is now so well established by the decisions of the courts, that nearly all complaints from the people of violations of law are adjusted by the railroads themselves, without litigation, on notice from the Commissioners. The result is a much more harmonious feeling between the railroads and the people, and without expensive litigation the people are protected from extortionate rates. Rules and regulations adopted by the Commission under the law, and well established and recognized, are generally found sufficient to settle all complaints and difficulties.

The State Grain Inspection Department at Chicago, which is under the charge of the Railroad and Warehouse Commission, is in the very best of condition, and has, under the very able management of Chief Inspector Drake, been giving unusual satisfaction. This department has done an unprecedentedly large business during the past two years, and the immense interests of shippers and dealers in grain in that great grain market of America have been so smoothly and equitably conserved that complaint is very rare. The department has been, and is, entirely self-supporting, and keeps a reasonably safe cash surplus on hand.

ILLINOIS AND MICHIGAN CANAL.

The past two years have been unusually trying ones on the business of the Illinois and Michigan canal, and, but for the excellent business management of the commissioners, would have probably showed a financial loss.

During the first year, owing to the comparative failure of crops and railroad facilities in competition, the transportation of grain over the canal was small, and that condition has substantially remained through the whole two years. But by reducing rates on lumber and heavy freights to about half the former rates, the commissioners succeeded in obtaining sufficient business for the canal to make a very good financial showing.

The canal itself has been greatly improved by repairs and additional facilities. The right of the State to valuable real estate along and near the canal has been asserted and maintained. All expenses have been promptly paid and the surplus earnings, or cash capital of the canal, has been materially increased, as shown by the report of the commissioners, while the contingent appropriation of $40,000 has not been drawn upon for a dollar.

MILITARY AFFAIRS.

On the 30th of September, 1884, the Illinois National Guard was shown by official reports to number 4,939 officers and men. They are well organized into nine (9) regiments of infantry; one (1) regiment of cavalry; three (3) batteries of artillery, and one (1) detached company (colored) of infantry, divided into two brigades, each commanded by a Brigadier-General.

These citizen State troops are under good discipline and well armed. The arms are all furnished by the General Government and have not cost the State anything. The artillery has been acquired by the companies themselves from private resources and does not belong to the State. During my term of office I have succeeded, by requisition on the Secretary of War, in equipping the Danville battery with a complete outfit of furnishings and accoutrements except guns, and by a recent requisition have secured from the Secretary of War a Gatling gun for the Joliet battery and a large amount of needed supplies for repairs and replacing worn-out pieces for all arms of the service. This requisition has furnished supplies to put the arms and accoutrements of the whole service in good shape.

This requisition will exhaust all the current year's allowance from the National Government to this State for military supplies, and will anticipate about $1,600 on next year's allowance. I have also succeeded, during my term of office, in making uniform the infantry arms of the National Guard, by procuring from the National Government a sufficient number of the Springfield breech-loading rifles, calibre 45, with steel bayonet scabbard and McKeever cartridge box, to supply all of them, and have taken up the old 50 calibre arms which some of them had. All these troops are yet without canteens, haversacks and knapsacks except where they have purchased them themselves. They are well uniformed, but have bought and paid for their own uniforms, except where I have been able to use the military contingent fund to assist them some. A board of officers recently authorized by me have adopted the service uniform of the United States Regular Army as the regulation uniform for the Illinois National Guard, and companies and regiments will comply with that regulation as fast as practicable.

The number and organization of the Guard is now very commendable and satisfactory. It is highly creditable to this great State. The State, however, has not, in my judgment, done its duty toward its National Guard.

The necessity for a military organization as large as the State has now, thoroughly equipped, must be apparent to every one; it became a necessity at one time during my administration, in suppressing riots and preserving the peace in St. Clair and Madison counties. The companies ordered out responded promptly and performed their duty in a most honorable and soldierly manner. I reported this occurrence, however, specially to the last General Assembly. The existence of a well organized and equipped militia in a State is a necessary and powerful reserve police force, which is recognized by nearly all the States in the Union, and by its very existence tends strongly to preserve the peace. The Constitution of the United States also recognizes and refers to the militia of States in several places, and men of greatest experience in military and public affairs are now urging that the organized militia of the several States shall be recognized by the Federal Government as a reserve part of the Regular Army of the United States. Illinois, with her proud position, ought not to be behind other States in taking care of her citizen soldiers. But the fact is that she is badly behind many of them. Illinois only appropriates $75,000 per annum to her National Guard. This is used up in paying armory rent, current expenses and the cost of annual encampments, camp equipage, etc., leaving the officers and men to buy their own uniforms. The men composing the National Guard are representatives of the best young men of the State as a rule. It is wrong that they should devote so much of their time, after attending to their private business, to drilling and training, and then be compelled to pay their own money for many necessities. The State of New York, in addition to providing armories and uniforms, appropriates $300,000 annually to support twelve thousand troops. Pennsylvania, $220,000 annually for eight thousand troops. Massachusetts, $150,000 annually for less than five thousand troops. It is believed that if this State would appropriate $150,000 per annum, the troops could be creditably uniformed and maintained. Well knowing that the present appropriation of $75,000 is shamefully insufficient, I earnestly recommend the appropriation of $150,000 per annum, and the amendment of the Military Code so that part of the money can be used to purchase the regulation service uniform and other regular equipments.

Encampments of the two Brigades of the National Guard have been held annually, which I have always attended in person, and in which very satisfactory results were witnessed.

The proceeds of the sale of old arms authorized by resolution of the last General Assembly should be appropriated to the military fund of the current year, as was intended, to make up some unavoidable deficiencies, as shown in the Adjutant-General's report.

The uniform alacrity, courtesy and zeal with which the officers and men have responded to orders, and have joined with the present efficient Adjutant-General, and the Commander-in-Chief, to perfect military discipline and organization, is highly commendable and deserving of public recognition.

BATTLE FLAGS.

The 33d General Assembly appropriated ten thousand dollars for the restoration and proper care of the battle flags carried by Illinois regiments during the war of the rebellion. The fund and supervision of the work was placed under the direction of the Governor and Adjutant-General. The flags to the number of over three hundred, were skillfully preserved and arranged. The vacant hall, formerly called the "Art Gallery," in front of the upper story of the capitol, was selected as the repository, and it was fitly decorated and furnished with cases for receiving the flags and relics emblematic of the patriotism and valor of the Illinois troops in the war for the preservation of the Union. Memorial Hall, as it is now called, was, when furnished, dedicated with proper ceremonies. It shows for itself the completeness of the work. The work was all done and paid for within the appropriation. A special account of the expenditures will be given in a report of the expenditures of all funds subject to the order of the Governor.

Much credit is due the late Adjutant-General Elliott for the success of this work. He made it his special pride, and he made it a success. Memorial Hall will for ages be "the shrine of each patriot's devotion."

BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS.

Special attention is invited to the utility of labor statistics as shown in the report prepared and submitted to me by its capable Secretary, J. S. Lord. The statistical information therein contained of the manufacturing and mining industries of the State, and especially of the wages, cost of living, and general condition of the laboring classes—the relations between capital and labor, as showing the legitimate profits of each—is suggestive and instructive.

The system of mine inspection and protection of the safety and health of the miners, inaugurated by the acts of the last General Assembly, have proved to be very beneficial to the miners. The work of the inspection of mines, according to the law passed by the last Legislature, has been well executed by an able and industrious corps of inspectors selected under the rules prescribed by law. Any additional protection afforded to the miners or other laboring men by law, either in their wages or personal safety and health, would be commendable. The duty imposed upon the Legislature by the 29th section of Article IV of the Constitution to provide for the safety and protection of miners, should always be borne in mind, and the salutatory work of the Bureau of Labor Statistics should be sustained.

FISH COMMISSION.

The Illinois Fish Commission, under the very able management of the present commissioners, is proving to be a means of great satisfaction and benefit to the people of the State. Through its agency the cultivation and protection of food fishes has been greatly promoted, and interest in fish culture has been awakened, and hundreds of ponds, lakes and streams have been stocked with fine fish.

Special attention is called to the necessity of amending the fish laws in regard to the prohibition of dragging seines, the size of meshes, and the denomination of "food fish" instead of "game fish," in the prohibitory laws. Also such needful amendments as tend to preserve food fish from wanton and useless destruction.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

The State Board of Health, which was, in its inception, very difficult to establish by legislative enactment, has steadily grown in usefulness and popular favor, until now it is one of the most important bureaus of the State government. By reason of the able management of its members, and especially of its Secretary, the medical profession of the State has been very much elevated and improved. Incompetent beginners have been prevented from practicing. The grade of medical education required for practice has been raised to a respectable and safe standard, while mountebanks and quacks have been driven from the practice of their wiles and deceptions on the people of this State. The health of the citizens, and their protection from the inroads of contagious and epidemic diseases, have been faithfully and carefully watched. Rules for sanitary care, and regulation and instruction as to prevention and cure of prevalent and especially dangerous diseases, have also been so successfully published and promulgated that it is believed thousands of lives have been saved.

The recommendations which will be made to the General Assembly by the Board of Health for amendments to the laws by which it is constituted and operated, should be carefully considered, and needful changes made. The regular appropriation for the ordinary expenses of this board, for the year ending September 30, 1884, was $9,000, but this amount was found too small by $606.94, which was made up from fees and other receipts. The regular appropriation for ordinary expenses should be $22,500, at least. A very important subject for the consideration of the General Assembly presents itself in this connection. Asiatic cholera has, during the past year, made fearful ravages among the population of European countries, especially in Spain, Italy and France. According to the usual history of this scourge, its course runs westward around the world. The chances of its reaching this country next summer are very great, and its frightful visitation to the United States can only be prevented by extreme vigilance on the part of both the National government and the States of the Union in enforcing thorough quarantine and sanitary regulations. The State of Illinois should be thoroughly prepared to meet this contingency through the agency of its Board of Health, under proper regulations and equipped with an adequate appropriation to meet all emergencies. To completely quarantine the State of Illinois and protect it all along the eastern, southern and north-eastern frontier by systematic inspection at railroad crossings and boat landings would, in the estimation of the Secretary of the Board of Health, cost from $80,000 to $85,000, if this State were acting alone in the matter. But I take it for granted that the National government will do its whole duty in the matter, and that other States east of us will co-operate in protective measures, so that a much less sum will have to be provided by this State for the contingency. Therefore, I suggest that a contingent appropriation of $40,000 be made, subject to the order of the Board of Health, to be used on approval of the Governor only in case of approach of cholera or other ravaging disease threatening the lives and health of large portions of the people of the State.

STOCK DISEASES AND STATE VETERINARIAN'S DEPARTMENT.

The last General Assembly amended the existing law for the prevention of pleuro-pneumonia and other contagious diseases among cattle, so as to make its provisions apply to the diseases of glanders among horses. The State Veterinarian was by the law given supervision over these subjects and directed to inspect animals suspected of having these diseases, and to condemn, cause to be appraised and slaughtered diseased animals, and quarantine premises under directions therein contained. Ten thousand dollars was appropriated to pay the expenses and per diem of the State Veterinarian, and to pay the appraised value of animals condemned and slaughtered. The past year has been singularly marked with an epidemic of these diseases. Glanders among horses has spread to nearly all parts of the State. Upon inspection and condemnation up to the present date, horses have been slaughtered by order of the State Veterinarian on account of glanders, and in many cases quarantine of infected premises has been established.

The most revolting feature of this ravaging disease is that the contagion may be communicated from the equine species to persons. Several cases have occurred in the State with certainly fatal results, which have been pronounced by skilled physicians to be glanders among men communicated from horses. This horrible disease has been widely prevalent, but it is believed is now largely under control, although it still exists.

During the last summer quite an excitement was raised by the importation of cattle from Texas and other southwestern localities into the Chicago stockyards which were diseased with splenic or so-called Texas fever. I was importuned by many to at once quarantine against the importation of these cattle from the infected localities. But after inspecting the nature of the disease and learning that it could not be communicated to Illinois native cattle, but only to the cattle of the southwest on the trail, and after getting assurances from the State authorities of Kansas and Missouri that no more cattle infected with that disease should be shipped to Illinois, I declined to quarantine against them. Since then no further agitation of the matter has occurred, and no danger from that source is believed to exist, except that provisions should be made to constantly inspect shipments from the southwest to Chicago markets so as to guard against diseased animals being sold in the stockyards and slaughtered for beef.

During the past year the other dreaded disease, pleuro-pneumonia, among cattle made its appearance in our State. It was first discovered in shipments of Jersey cattle from a certain locality in Ohio, these coming from localities farther east, particularly in New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia. When the disease first made its appearance I caused the State Veterinary Surgeon to make close examination and inspection of the suspected cattle. In this work he was assisted by the United States Veterinary Surgeon, Dr. Salmon, and the State Veterinary Surgeon of Kansas, whom I had invited to assist and co-operate with him. His special report to me, in which the other surgeons coincided, was that the disease was a contagious pleuro-pneumonia. This report was based upon ante- and post-mortem examinations of a number of animals. Several of the owners of animals diseased, and stock-raisers, have also corroborated the opinions of the surgeons that the disease was contagious pleuro-pneumonia. I have no doubt of the fact. Prompt and rigid measures were taken. Diseased animals were slaughtered and those exposed were closely quarantined. The quarantine before existing against certain localities in the Eastern States on account of the prevalence of this disease there, was at once enlarged, by my public proclamation according to law, so as to include all infected localities. By these prompt and stringent measures the disease was confined to a few Jersey herds among which it first made its appearance, although a few cases occurred where it was communicated from the Jerseys to other cattle. It is believed that the disease is now under control and will be speedily stamped out. This visitation of scourges has been quite alarming, troublesome and expensive. The law as it now exists placed all the work for the whole State upon Dr. Paaren, the single State Veterinarian, without power granted to employ deputies or assistants. The consequence was that he had more to do than it was in the power of any one man to do. He has been very active and energetic, and has been going constantly in the line of his duty. The law should be amended so as to allow the State Veterinarian to appoint deputies in case of necessity, whose salaries should be provided for, or to divide the State into districts, with a responsible veterinary surgeon in each district.

The appropriation of $10,000 for these purposes for two years was entirely inadequate. Of this appropriation, $5,963.66 has already been used, up to December 30, 1834, in paying the per diem of the Veterinary Surgeon and his traveling expenses, and the appraisement of forty-eight horses and mules slaughtered on account of glanders, leaving but $4,036.34 of the fund remaining. I have still on hand, regularly reported to me, appraisements for slaughtered cattle on account of pleuro-pneumonia, to the amount of $4,130. I did not deem it wise to entirely exhaust this fund, inasmuch as the per diem and expenses of the State Veterinarian must be paid from the remainder of this fund until July 1, 1885, unless further emergency appropriations are made by this Legislature. Therefore, I have approved the appraisements for the cattle slaughtered, ($4,130), contingent on an appropriation to be made by this Legislature. I therefore recommend that a deficiency appropriation of $5,000 be at once made, to pay the above sum of $4,130, and any other such claims as may yet appear. I also recommend that the contingent appropriation for preventing the spread of these diseases be increased to $20,000 per annum. The interests involved in an epidemic of these diseases are so great, and so apparent, that they cannot be ignored.

I also call attention to the necessity of so amending the law as to more accurately define the measure of damages in condemning and appraising these diseased animals. I have directed the appraisement of the animals to be on the basis of their value as diseased, based on the percentage of their chance of recovery. In case of glanders among horses, not much trouble has been experienced, for the almost certain fatality of the disease being generally recognized, the appraisements have usually been very low, and acquiesced in. But among fine thoroughbred Jersey cattle, when the chances for recovery from disease is said to be about equal, the measure of damages on a valuable animal has always been a subject of much controversy.

In aid of the execution of the law, and to induce co-operation of cattle men, I have been inclined to be liberal in approving their appraisements of cattle destroyed as above stated, an itemized account of which will be submitted to the General Assembly; but the measure of values should be more definitely fixed by law. The power and method of quarantine should also be more specifically defined.

ELECTION LAWS.

The recent attempt to control the election of a State Senator in the 6th District and to secure control of the Legislature by bold and daring changes and forgeries upon the true returns of election in a certain precinct of that District, strongly suggests the necessity of reform in our election laws by which the purity of popular elections may be more firmly secured. On a fair election, honest count, and true returns, rests the whole fabric of popular government. The laws regulating elections should be so perfected that the whole people would feel secure in the potency of their right of suffrage, and be assured that their judgment and wishes, as expressed at the ballot box on election day, are not to be, by any possibility, overthrown by the manipulations of the ballots and returns, by common burglars, thieves, forgers and ballot-box stuffers. In the amendment of the laws so as to keep pure and render inviolable the freeman's sacred rights of suffrage, all good men should join without regard to party affiliations. So far as the particular crime committed at the last election is concerned, a perfectly lawful and proper remedy was found. But the election laws of the State are such as to admit of an infinite variety of frauds being perpetrated, many of which could not legally be so easily defeated. I have no doubt whatever but that it is not only the plain command of the law, by implication at least, that canvassing boards shall only canvass returns known to be true returns, and shall reject returns known to be false and forged, but that every sense of right and justice commands them to do it. Neither have I the slightest doubt that the power is vested by the Constitution and laws of the State in the Governor to refuse to issue certificates of election to persons shown to have been elected on returns known and universally admitted to be false and forged, and not the expression of the will of the people; nor of his power to issue certificates of election to the person shown to be elected by true returns, if such true and legal returns were once made out, and their contents can be unquestionably ascertained, even if canvassing boards do, in violation of law, canvass the false returns, and thus attempt to show one elected who was not. If such power does not constitutionally and legally exist in the Governor to so construe the law with reference to the duties imposed upon him in his own executive sphere, then the wiles and arts of bad men, who are the meanest conspirators against the rights of the people to govern themselves, must be permitted to triumph in silence over the power of the law, and the strong arm of execution vested in the Governor. I am glad, however, to be able to correctly say that the decision made by me as above indicated, in reference to issuing the certificate of election to the Senator in the Sixth District, has met with almost universal approval from good citizens of all parties who love right and despise wrong, who delight in the prevalence of law and have no sympathy with crime. The approval of the people has been shown in abundant private testimonials and by the reflector of the people's sentiments, the public press, with the exception of a few very unimportant and inconsequential partisan sheets. I am especially pleased that it has also been endorsed by the bench and bar generally as a strictly legal view of the case. It has been denounced as an act of usurpation only by those who were actively engaged in the fraud as conspirators or perpetrators, or who expected to enjoy the profits of such fraud by way of political preferment.

But this action only meets one of the many varieties of the outrages which may be invented by the ingenuity of dishonest men. In the secret ballot, guarded only by loose and incompetent election laws, lies the opportunity for the perpetration of an innumerable variety of election crimes.

I commend to your careful consideration a revision of election laws, for the reasons and purposes above indicated. I also suggest that among other reforms which might be made with salutary effect, the law should be so amended as to prohibit the authorities vested with the power of prescribing the limits of election precincts, from making any precinct that should contain within its boundaries more than three hundred legal voters. Another great opportunity for evil practices lies in the law permitting the swearing in of unregistered votes on election day. The law should require the registry of voters in every precinct to be completed ten days before the election. Persons who were not registered ten days before election should not be permitted to vote at all, thus requiring every voting citizen to personally see that he is registered in time, and putting an end to swearing in illegal votes by questionable affidavits on election day. This registry list should be a public document public'y displayed for the ten days preceding the election. If these remedies should not be deemed sufficient to secure purity and honesty of elections, then I commend to your careful consideration the thought that, notwithstanding all these safeguards thrown by law around elections, the opportunity for fraud, crime and deception lies in our custom of having a secret ballot. I know of no natural or moral right in the voter to cast a secret ballot. The law gives him a legal right to it. But the question may be well asked, why should that be the law? And what inherent right of the freeman is preserved by the secret ballot, and what one would be violated by requiring him to cast an open ballot, stripped of the cloak of secrecy, under which is often hidden crimes, frauds and deceptions innumerable. If the voter should be allowed in each precinct abundant time and opportunity to vote in a respectable place, be protected from intimidation and insult, why should he not vote an open ballot which should be publicly announced either by himself or one of the election officers before the same was deposited in the box? Then by allowing, under proper restrictions, a representative of different parties or candidates to be present and keep count at each poll, nearly all chance for frauds and forgeries would be gone. The result of elections would be known as soon as the polls closed. The voter would be sure that he was voting the ticket and for the candidates of his choice, and that his ticket had not, by some trick known to experts in dishonesty at elections, been substituted for another in which the name of one or more candidates were inserted whom he did not intend to vote for. Bribery and corruption at elections would soon become almost unknown, since by an open ballot the bribe-taker would, in most cases, have to at once publicly advertise by his ballot strong evidence of his corruption. Voters would be compelled to be honest with each other, because the mask of hypocrisy would be torn away at the ballot box by the open ballot, and the fraud so often shrewdly practiced by an individual trading his vote with a half dozen or more other voters on a single candidate, would be impracticable. Repeating would be almost impossible, since the opportunity for detection would be many fold greater. The occupation of the ballot-box stuffer, the poll-list and tally-sheet forger, and the professional election fixer, would be gone.

Some of these suggestions may seem and are no doubt radical in their character. But the peril in which the right of suffrage and popular government by the people are involved, demands such radical changes and amendments as shall surround these sacred rights with a wall impregnable to the assaults of reckless criminals.

Gentlemen of the 34th General Assembly, my two years' administration of the executive office is about to close. These two years have been to me years and days of almost unceasing labor, surrounded with peculiarly vexatious and annoying circumstances. I have felt compelled to labor hard and endure much, that all the interests of the people of this great State, and their respect for the high office which I fill, should be fully preserved. In looking back over it I can candidly say that I know I have committed some errors, but I have no public act to regret, and nothing of public interest to explain or apologize for.

When my successor shall have been legally qualified, I shall gladly shift the burden and cares of State to him and leave the office without regret.

Hoping that the session of the 34th General Assembly may be pleasant to its members, and greatly beneficial to the people, I am,

With great respect,

JOHN M. HAMILTON, Governor.

George Hunt having received the highest number of votes cast for any one person for Attorney General, was declared duly elected Attorney General for the State of Illinois for the term of four years.

Mr. Fuller offered the following resolution, and moved its adoption:

Resolved, That a committee of five, three from the House and two from the Senate, be appointed to wait on the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and request him to be present in the Hall of the House of Representatives to administer the oath of office to the State officers elect.

Adopted.

The President of the Senate announced as members of this committee, on the part of the Senate, Messrs. Whiting and Gillham, and the Speaker of the House announced as the members of such committee, on the part of the House, Messrs. Dill, Campbell of Hamilton, and Rodgers of Warren.

Mr. Fuller offered the following resolution, and moved its adoption:

Resolved, That a committee of five, three from the House and two from the Senate, be appointed to wait on the State officers elect, and request their presence in the Hall of the House of Representatives to take the oath of office and be installed in their respective offices.

Adopted.

The President of the Senate announced as such committee on the part of the Senate, Messrs. Ray and Merritt, and the Speaker of the House announced as such committee, on the part of the House, Messrs. Fuller, Kimbrough and Linegar.

The committee appointed to wait upon the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, returned and reported the presence of the Chief Justice in the Hall of the House ready to administer the oath of office to the officers elect.

The committee appointed to wait upon the officers elect, reported the presence of those officers in the House.

And thereupon Mr. Chief Justice Scholfield, of the Supreme Court, administered the oath of office, separately, to Richard J. Oglesby, Governor elect; John C. Smith, Lieutenant-Governor; Henry D. Dement, Secretary of State; Charles P. Swigert, Auditor of Public Accounts; Jacob Gross, Treasurer, and George Hunt, Attorney General.

Thereupon Governor Oglesby delivered the following address :

INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

Fellow Citizens of the Senate and House of Representatives :

Prompted by feelings of gratitude, I return my sincere thanks to the people of the State of Illinois for the recent expression of their confidence in again electing me to the office of Governor.

Having in your presence taken the oath prescribed by the Constitution, I enter upon the performance of the duties of that office with a due sense, I trust, of the great responsibilities they impose. Neither experience nor maturity of years can dissipate apprehensions of deficiency and weakness in assuming the duties of a great trust. You will bear me testimony, the conscientious desire to discharge intelligently and faithfully grave official duties inspires in a candid breast feelings of doubt and distrust. Under such circumstances, the highest assurance that can be given to the public is the pledge of an honest purpose and earnest desire to bring to the discharge of the duties of the office absolute integrity and the best ability that one may command.

Without detaining you further, I might be excused from extending this communication beyond its present brief limits, for the Constitution, which will be our guide in all affairs of the State, having a due regard for the fitness of things, presupposes that before the Governor undertakes to give information of the condition of the State, he shall have had sufficient time to personally look into and consider what it really is. A message carrying with it the weight such a communication may be supposed to possess ought to be the result of observation, time and reflection. It is manifestly impossible that an ordinary citizen, called from the private walks of life, can have, in the brief period between an election and the time when he must enter upon the performance of the duties of the office, considerably familiarized himself with the many interesting and important subjects of State concern that are to demand attention. The language of the Constitution is:

"The Governor shall at the commencement of each session and at the close of his term give to the General Assembly information by message of the condition of the State, and shall recommend such measures as he shall deem expedient."

This manifestly means the Governor in office at the meeting of your respective bodies on the first day of the session, and not another citizen, elected for a new term, who shall later in the session take the oath of office.

I respectfully commend to your attention the message of my predecessor, which contains valuable information upon all subjects discussed in connection with the present condition of the State.

While, therefore, I do not feel it incumbent upon me to enter into the detail of measures of State administration, it is a pleasure to be able to congratulate you upon the generally encouraging condition of our State affairs. The wonderful growth in our industries, increase in our population, and development of our resources during the last twenty years are cause of just pride to all.

THE THREE STATE CONSTITUTIONS.

The State has passed through three stages of development, marked by the three different constitutions which have been adopted from time to time by our people. The first may be characterized as the pioneer period, when our population was composed largely of very poor but energetic immigrants from the older States of the Union. They gave us our first constitution and a system of laws and a policy well adapted to the times, which prepared the State for that future career to which her geographical position clearly entitled her.

Under the second constitution we had increased in wealth and population sufficiently to be recognized as one of the leading Western States. The times were hard, the people were laboring under every possible privation resulting from the condition of sparsely settled communities, and unable to bear the burden of public improvements deemed essential to their welfare; under such circumstances a spirit of enterprise and improvement prevailed which the State was not able to sustain, and it was easily led into extravagant methods. Unable to raise by taxation the sums required by the system of internal improvements then in contemplation, heavy loans were made which became an incumbrance that the industry of the State was unable for years to meet. The debt was incautiously and imprudently incurred under the extravagant ideas which then prevailed through all the Western States. The hopeful schemes entertained by the people resulted in utter failure and ended in general disaster.

The constitution of 1848 made the honorable effort to redeem the State credit, and as you are well aware, under its provisions for enlarged revenues and incomes the people were enabled a few years ago to discharge the last dollar of its indebtedness.

Great enterprises were in the meantime in contemplation. Steadily moving forward with the spirit of the times, the means for the development of industrial enterprises constantly augmenting, released from the burdens which had for so many years oppressed it, the State under our present constitution adopted in 1870 took another step forward in its great career.

The Illinois and Michigan Canal, which had been the chief reliance of our people in the earlier days of internal improvements, found a competitor in the railway system, which fairly started in our State in 1854. Those wonderful arteries of trade and commerce soon began to multiply, and have continued to increase with almost unexampled rapidity until nearly every county and locality is penetrated by them, and they are supplying all the needful channels to our great interior trade.

Vexed questions, harrassing production and trade, grew out of these new enterprises, and there arose a contest between railroads on the one hand and producers and shippers on the other, which has tested the courage and intelligence of our people to settle and adjust consistently with the proper relations which ought to exist between an agricultural, producing, mining and manufacturing State and its public carrying corporations; and although the law and the power and the policy of the State on the subject of railroads and railroad transportation may be considered as settled, yet so intricate and intimate are the relations existing between the public and these corporations, and of such great importance are they to our public, the General Assembly will not unlikely be required to consider the subject and to enact new legislation bearing upon these relations at almost every session. Happily, as we know, a better understanding exists between the people of the State and those large and indispensable corporations than in the early days of our railroad system.

The power of the State to control and regulate as well as create them is no longer questioned. Notwithstanding this great power rightfully abides in the State, and will always be exercised directly by the Legislature, or indirectly by the Railroad and Warehouse Commission appointed to execute its laws, so as to compel such corporation to accept the trade and transportation of the State upon fair and reasonable terms, having reference in this respect to the condition as to prosperity or adversity of our people at all times, it is due to all to state that no feeling of hostility or unfriendliness toward these corporations exists in the public mind. On the contrary, it is the universal wish that they may be so wisely and unselfishly managed as to become not only the useful instruments of commerce they are designed to be, but that all those who have invested capital in them may find them a constant source of remuneration and profit.

Under the law, the Railroad and Warehouse Commission executes the powers of the State in its supervision of these corporations. It is a delicate power, and ought to be entrusted to men of enlightened experience and capacity, capable of understanding the relations of these great interests to the State, and who will fearlessly, and yet intelligently and with a due regard for the real interests at stake, execute the law.

After fifteen years of experience under the constitution of 1870, it seems to be regarded by the people as adapted to every necessary condition of a well organized society and a thrifty and populous State.

The objects of civilization and social society must be to protect and guarantee to every citizen the largest social and political liberty, the protection of private property and personal rights, and the amplification of opportunities for every pursuit within the gift and reach of man.

Under the present constitution, our laws, responding to enlightened experience, have been greatly multiplied and extended, so that it may be confidently asserted that Illinois is now equipped with as complete a system of civil and criminal jurisprudence as will be found among civilized nations. I know of no State where personal liberty, property rights and the social and religious relations are more fully secured by wise and liberal laws. Capital has ever found and will ever find ample security for every imaginable investment. The legitimate energy and enterprise of our people are not restrained in any respect, and as far as we can at present see, the future of our commonwealth is as promising as that of any other State in the Union.

Our exhaustless and fertile soils are the sure guarantee, under favorable conditions, of abundant crops forever. Illinois is necessarily the grainery for a large number of the world's population. Our farmers are educated, intelligent and industrious, and I believe as a class are as well contented as any other in the world. Upon them every other interest and industry must rely for prosperity. Farming land which under our second constitution might have been purchased in any quantity from one end of the State to the other, for from three to ten dollars per acre, will range to-day in the central and northern portions at from fifty to one hundred dollars per acre; while it has greatly increased in value in the southern counties.

There may be periods when our cereals and farm products will range as at present at low prices, and temporarily the farming industries may be discouraged. We know perfectly well that the vast multitudes of the earth to be fed are the sure guarantee for remunerative prices for such products for all time to come, and that corresponding with the growth of population and wealth will be the increase in value of our farm lands. Our central position in the United States surrounded by dense population, east, west, north and south, will forever bring to our people substantial prosperity and wealth, so that Illinois will continue to be the happy home of the millions destined to occupy her territory.

Under such circumstances, gentlemen, representing such a population, and for a time responsible for the legislation which will always be demanded by such vast interests and by such a people, we cannot but feel the responsibility which must attach to us during the time we shall have in charge and keeping the welfare of the people of our State.

The law is the growth of conditions and circumstances as naturally and inevitably as the cereals are the growth and production of the soil. Although great and leading principles are firmly established in our constitution, and although we are habituated to well-defined principles of life that are suitable and fitly expressed in our statute books to such an extent that they may be indeed regarded as fundamental and settled, yet the changing conditions of our people and the variable circumstances of life will require that they be subjected to modification and amendment. Questions of revenue, common school education, universities of learning, State charitable, penal and reformatory institutions, commerce, railway transportation, our civil and criminal codes, the condition of labor, the laboring classes in the arts and industries of life, and the peaceable and remunerative relations between capital and labor will demand most careful consideration.

The division of the powers of the State into three distinct departments—the legislative, executive and judicial—and the provision that no person or collection of persons being one of these departments shall exercise any power properly belonging to either of the others except as expressly directed or permitted, places the burden of all legislation for the State upon the General Assembly.

The people will therefore look more directly to your respective houses for the enactment of all laws which are to affect them in their relations as citizens of the State. You will have to consider not only the present state of the law, but such desirable and necessary amendments to our various statutes as the wants of the people, the necessities of the times, and the changing conditions of affairs may from time to time suggest. Although it is true all legislation must be submitted to the Governor for his approval or disapproval, and he may also from time to time recommend such measures for your consideration as he shall deem expedient, it is manifestly the purpose of the constitution to leave to the General Assembly the duty of providing all necessary legislation.

While, therefore, it is obvious that the legislative and executive departments of the government must co-operate in some sense in the making of laws, and in that respect bear a different relation to the people than does the judicial, I hope I shall not be regarded as going beyond the bounds of executive propriety in alluding to this third department of our government; for after all the action of the first two departments must come under review from time to time by the judiciary. Indeed it may be a question as to whether the legislative or judicial department exercises the greater influence in dealing with the welfare of a people. The latter presides not only over the legislation, but the acts, the conduct, the commercial transactions and entire business pursuits of all the people. Nothing adds more to the dignity of a State and the security of its people than the judicial arm of its service. It is to this great tribunal that we all at last turn for security and protection in its adjudication and settlement of the law and of all the acts that go to constitute the conduct of the people.

It is with pleasure that I avail myself of this occasion to state that the judicial department of our government, by the dignity, the learning, sterling integrity and general fitness of the honorable persons who administer this branch of the service, justly merits and I believe possesses the confidence of the people. It would be sad indeed should the time ever come when the people might be led to forfeit respect for and confidence in our judiciary. It is the stay and hope of every one who has any regard for property or personal rights. It is to it we constantly turn for the protection of our rights in every relation of life. From the uniform tenor of its decisions, and the wise and liberal spirit it has ever manifested in construing public statutes as nearly consistently as possible with the public expectation as expressed in such statutes, and thus trying to give judicial expression to that public opinion which first finds expression in the law, endeavoring at all times to reconcile law with public right so as to impress upon the public heart the conviction that a resort to the judicial tribunals and not to extraordinary and unlawful methods, is the true source and security of the public peace, we may entertain the hope that the usual lawful methods are to be hereafter resorted to by our people in the settlement of all matters public and private. That State would already be on its way to ruin whose people at any time, yielding to the impulses of passion or unjust suspicion of the methods of administration of law, would seek to invent tribunals of their own for the purpose of hastily and unlawfully executing their passions and purposes.

While I believe there is a deep-seated purpose with the people of our State to abide by the decisions of the tribunals they have established for the adjudication of all public and private controversies and difficulties, while I know our people love peace and good order, and will insist upon the faithful enforcement of all laws in the usual methods for enforcing laws, I regret to say that occasionally expressions are heard, altogether too frequently, especially in connection with our criminal law and practice, which might lead the thoughtless to believe that the spirit of insubordination is steadily increasing in our communities.

It is true that occasionally there are outbursts sudden and alarming, which create solicitude in the breasts of all peaceably disposed people. While these outbursts are not frequent and important enough to create a real uneasiness, they cannot be overlooked in a communication of this sort. The law is our shield, and must be made effective to right every wrong; it must reach every weak spot in our framework of government, and wherever ineffective administration or rascality in individuals points to defects in it, though ever so small, it will be the duty of the Legislature to amend it in those respects, so as to make it effectual for every possible condition of the peaceable and well disposed as well as of the reckless and criminal classes.

THE CRIMINAL LAW.

I invite your attention to our criminal laws. On a former occasion I felt it to be my duty to submit to the General Assembly of the State some suggestions and recommendations upon that subject.

It is certain the stability of our institutions rests not only upon the patriotism of the people, but as well upon the faithful execution of the laws. Criminal law ought to be as plain, simple and certain as it is possible to write it, and then it ought not to be evaded; but if evaded or circumvented by designing, artful and unscrupulous or wicked and criminal persons, it ought at once to be made more certain and still more stringent. I know of no greater calamity to befall a free people than loss of confidence in the execution of the criminal laws. Nothing could be more injurious to the public morality than a well founded belief that the rich can escape, while the poor must suffer the punishment due a violation of law.

Looking over the criminal statutes it would seem that almost every crime known among men has been characterized by suitable definition, and legislation upon the subject seems to have covered the entire field. Still I think amendments may be made that will be effective for good, and if so they ought, without hesitation, to be put upon the statute books.

Our people do not like to resort to the military arm of the service for the execution of their laws. It is greatly to be preferred that the courts and juries, after crime shall have been clearly defined and the proper penalties affixed, have charge of the administration of public justice. If the law shall be promptly and faithfully executed by the courts and juries, and the punishment it provides meted out to criminals so that the really guilty shall not escape, there will be no provocation or excuse for the efforts of individuals to take the execution of the laws into their own hands.

Perhaps a review of and research into the history of the criminal law in England, from which country we derived our ideas of the definitions and punishments of crime, and upon which our criminal law and procedure are largely based, would show that many of the safeguards thrown around the individual, the rules and maxims which are observed in all criminal proceedings in the interest of personal freedom, to protect life, liberty and property, were the result of the struggles of the common people against the aggressions and encroachments of power, and in that light may still be regarded as great concessions to the earnest and rugged protest of the oppressed races and classes who manfully made the first inroads upon the cruel despotism of a darker age, and if similar conditions existed in this country, would still be retained and regarded as salutary weapons of defence against the cruelty of bigoted and despicable tyranny. But when it is notoriously certain that no such conditions exist here, where liberty is the law and power the exception, where the utmost freedom prevails with all classes, where law is based upon public opinion, and where the rights of the meanest equally with the best are scrupulously guarded and protected by enlightened humanity and rational and self-imposed laws, it cannot hold good and ought not to be urged in the interest of the criminal classes, that ideas the outgrowth of old and exceptional conditions should find lodgment in our criminal statutes.

One of the greatest privileges of those early days was that one charged with crime should be tried in his vicinage or neighborhood. Indeed, so essential to personal liberty has this right ever been regarded, it has found specific expression in each of our three constitutions; nor in either of them was provision made for a change of the venue. One of the steps taken now by those charged with crime, and guilty of it, is to seek to change the venue. I seriously doubt if a change of venue should ever be granted in a criminal case. It can scarcely be possible that impartial jurors cannot be found in any county where crime may be committed to try any case which may arise. I believe plain and simple justice requires that the criminal should be tried where the crime was committed.

If, however, the Legislature should differ from me upon this subject, I recommend if change of venue shall continue to be granted in criminal cases, that the defendant shall be required to make application for the change at the first term of the court when he shall be arraigned for trial, and not afterwards, so as not to allow him the benefit of procuring continuances and baffling justice as long as possible, and finally come in to seek another delay by a change of venue. By these opportunities it is perfectly well known that justice has often been thwarted in this State. Witnesses for the prosecution disappear, interest in the case subsides, and the criminal, by the very favor of the law, at last avoids its penalties.

It has been the law ever since the State was admitted into the Union to allow the defendant, when indicted for any crime punishable with death or imprisonment in the penitentiary for life, the privilege of peremptory challenge of twenty jurors, and persons arraigned for any offense punishable by imprisonment for a term exceeding eighteen months, a like challenge of ten. What is the effect? When a jury is being called for trial, a juror taken from the regular panel or otherwise, in all probability as competent to try the cause as any citizen in the county, after every other method has been exhausted by the criminal to rid himself of the presence of such honest and capable juror, is at last disposed of on a peremptory challenge, and this will continue until twenty such persons have been gotten rid of. By this means the defendant increases his opportunities for getting his favorites, friends and incompetent persons on the jury.

Whatever may have been the reasons for this indulgence to the criminal when it first found favor in the legislation of the country, what are the reasons now that any man charged with crime has the right in such cases to challenge twenty men, and in other infamous crimes ten? I can conceive of no ground upon which such right of the defendant exists, except upon the hypothesis that, living in the community where the crime was committed, in his relations and dealings in that community it might so happen the defendant would believe certain of his neighbors or acquaintances in some sort of way entertain secret and hostile feelings against him, it might be difficult to explain why, and yet would be of such character that his neighbor or acquaintance might still take the oath and go upon the jury to his injury, in order to gratify a private hate or spite.

It is within the experience of every man that to some reasonable extent this might be so, but can any one conceive that a man moving in the ordinary relations of life would find about him any such large number of that class of persons as the law allows the defendant to except to in the cases named? I do not believe the reason for the favor was ever based upon any supposition of unpopularity merely. Take the case of two or three defendants—say three defendants on trial at once; under the statute as it now exists, the three defendants could exclude from the jury box on peremptory challenge sixty men, while the State would be entitled under the practice to exclude only twenty.

The law as it now stands allows to every person arraigned for any crime, where the penalty does not exceed imprisonment for eighteen months, a challenge of six jurors.

I recommend that the statute be so amended as to allow persons arraigned for crimes punishable with death or imprisonment for life, a challenge not to exceed six jurors, and in all other criminal cases not to exceed three, and that the State be allowed a like number of challenges; and that if two or more be joined in an indictment for one offense, that the State shall be entitled to a like number of challenges as may be allowed to the defendant. I base this recommendation upon the reason, which I believe experience proves, that no honest and peaceably disposed citizen can, in the nature of things, ever by his daily life so array against him any large number of his neighbors whose secret hates and prejudices would be of such serious character as to be carried into the jury box.

I am considering the question in the sense alone that the defendant is to be tried in the county where the offense was committed. Should a change of venue be granted and the trial take place in a community with which the defendant was unacquainted, then the reasons do not apply, nor in that case would any reason exist why a peremptory challenge should be permitted at all. Believing, as I do, that a criminal should be tried in the community where the offense was committed, where the facts are known, and where his character has been made, I feel it to be my duty to submit these views for your consideration.

I am satisfied other important changes should be made in our criminal law which will benefit public justice, and have no doubt when you shall take up the general subject they will receive your careful consideration.

Criminal law is for the purpose of punishing crime. Common civilized humanity will always guarantee to the indicted a fair trial. Prejudice and passion will always disappear when the defendant, assisted by counsel, shall stand before the public in the presence of the court and jury, for a fair trial, according to law. His case will always excite sympathy, and there will be ever present on such occasions sympathy and tender charity imploring mercy, and urging upon court, jury and the public all those uncountable and inestimable advantages which result from that humane maxim of the law that the defendant is to have in all cases the benefit of a reasonable doubt.

REGISTRATION AND ELECTION LAW.

If every citizen in the State enjoying the right of suffrage would go to the polls on election day and vote once, and by example and endeavor induce all other legal voters to do so, and none seek to vote illegally or to vote more than once, or if entitled to vote, to make merchandise of this most precious and cardinal right of a free people; if judges and clerks of election would intelligently and faithfully perform the responsible and delicate duties imposed upon the positions they hold, and the officers to whom the returns are made in counties would secure the ballots from molestation and honestly scrutinize the returns and make the necessary abstracts and perform all duties incumbent upon them, there would be no occasion for altering, amending, or in any way disturbing our registration and election laws.

Experience, I regret to say, satisfies us all that these necessary and desirable conditions do not at all times exist. It therefore results, in order to give protection to all honest and legal voters, and to insure to them the full value of their votes, and to encourage them to continue to have full confidence in free suffrage as a means of protecting and perpetuating honest government and free institutions, that the laws, forms and methods with which we are familiar and to which we are accustomed should be changed, and such additional limitations and substantial alterations be made and such restraints imposed as shall add new and more stringent safeguards about the ballot box.

The great mass of honest voters desire simple election laws, free as possible from restraints and forms, so that they can on election day go peaceably to the ballot-box, quietly deposit their ballot, and go about their business. Not so with the crafty, corrupt and unscrupulous, who have no regard for right, for liberty, or for fair elections, who for the accomplishment alone of their own selfish and corrupt ends, would annul the force of all legal votes, bring voting into disrepute, and turn this cherished method of freemen into a farce, a fraud, and an agency of vice, corruption and irremediable wrong.

There is a growing belief that our registration laws should be so amended as to give full opportunity to every legal voter in a precinct or district to have his name registered, and then carefully continued on the registry so long as he shall remain a voter in such precinct or district without further effort to that end upon the part of the voter; and that, after such ample provision shall in these respects be made, if the voter wilfully or negligently omits to see to his proper registration, he shall not be permitted to vote at any election until he shall have legally registered. It is felt to be a hardship upon other legal voters to be delayed at or detained from voting places by the large number who present themselves to swear in their votes after negligently omitting to register. It is believed besides that this manner of voting encourages illegal voting.

In the earlier years of our experience under registration laws, it might not have been wise to make such provisions as to voting. Our statutes to the present time have not been changed upon that subject. I submit, however, if, after twenty years' experience, and when it is known all our people are familiar with the system, and, I believe, heartily approve it, the time has not arrived when our law shall be changed, in this respect, so as to conform to public opinion.

Every citizen who has the right to vote ought to have ample opportunity to do so, at a convenient, accessible and respectable place, free from annoyance, inconvenience or insult. To that end, all precincts and districts ought to be of such boundery and size, and the voting places fixed in such open, known and respectable locality as to secure these ends.

If the law shall be amended so as to put an end to the habit of swearing in votes on election day, it will perhaps be expedient to limit the number of votes to be cast at any one polling place to five hundred or less.

It is believed the hour of closing the polls should be changed to an earlier one. Seven o'clock was fixed in the law to afford an opportunity to every legal voter to cast his vote. When the purpose of a law, however, becomes the occasion of its violation, and is perverted and abused for illegal and fraudulent purposes by persons who mean to cast illegal votes under the cover of darkness, and designedly await the last hour of an election to do so, because darkness rather than light suits their purposes, the law ought to be changed, even if considerable numbers of honest voters be put to some inconvenience thereby.

I would favor a law changing the mode of selecting judges of election so as to make them elective, and providing for their election in such manner as to render it impossible that all of them should belong to one political party.

I have no doubt reflection will suggest many desirable amendments to our election laws. I invite your serious attention to the whole subject. The recent bold attempt in the city of Chicago to perpetrate upon the legal and qualified voters of that city a shameful fraud, which has become national in its infamy, has revived a general solicitude upon the subject of our registration and election laws throughout the State. A body of men who would deliberately conspire to rob the people of their votes, and to carry an election by such means, would without hesitation rob a community or a State of its liberty, and be the first in any movement to inaugurate despotism, or to overthrow government by anarchy and ruin.

I most heartily commend the patriotic and earnest efforts of the law-abiding citizens of that great city to pursue and ferret out the band of villains who would dare to attempt such a crime; and especially do I approve of the worthy efforts of the Citizens' Association, the various clubs, and the Committee of Eighty, who diligently co-operate, liberally expending money and generously donating their time to the public in a commendable determination to bring the offenders to public notice and to just and severe punishment.

PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

Our State charitable institutions are monuments of the munificence of our people, and of the humane interest they take in the sad lot of those who are overtaken and cast down by the misfortunes of this world. The condition of the idiotic, insane, deaf and blind constantly appeals to the generous instincts of the more fortunate; and the liberal provisions heretofore made to meet their wants and to relieve their distresses show that they do not appeal in vain. We can scarcely hope the time is to come when claims of this character upon the public favor will cease.

I shall heartily co-operate with you in liberal provisions for such relief. I doubt not, the methods of treatment and instruction followed in the various institutions are the best, according to the state of our knowledge upon those subjects at the present time, and that the appropriations for the benefit of the sufferers are judiciously applied and expended.

Our educational, penal and reformatory institutions will demand your attention.

And now, gentlemen, again congratulating you upon your relation to the State as the chosen and accredited representatives of the people, agreeing to share with you, in such a way as I may be able to, the just responsibility for all legislation which may result from our joint deliberations, let us so enter upon and strive to perform the great duties incumbent upon us, as to deserve the approval of our constituents and the favor of Almighty God.

36. It shall be the duty of the committee on engrossed and enrolled bills to examine all engrossed and enrolled bills, correct any mistake therein, and report the bills to the House; and it shall be in order for it to report at any time.

37. When any bill is about to be considered by a committee, the introducer of the bill shall be notified of the time and place where such bill shall be considered by such committee.

38. The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Cushing's Manual shall govern the House in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the House, or of the joint rules of the Senate and House of Representatives.

39. If a question be lost by adjournment of the House, and revived on the succeeding day, no member who has spoken on the preceding day shall be permitted to speak again on the same question without leave.

40. Any two members shall have the liberty to dissent from any protest, in respectful language, against any act or resolution which they shall think injurious to the public or any individual, and have the reasons of their dissent entered upon the journal.

41. When a committee reports a substitute for an original bill, with the recommendation that the substitute pass, it shall be in order to read the substitute a first time at once.

42. Petitions, memorials and other papers addressed to the House, may be presented by any member, who shall state briefly to the House the contents thereof, which may be received, read and referred on the same day..

43. No member shall speak longer than thirty minutes at one time, nor more than once on the same question, except by leave of the House, but the member who introduces a measure shall in all cases have the right to close the debate, and this right shall not be denied him even after the previous question has been ordered, although he may have spoken once on the same subject, provided the member so speaking shall not be allowed more time in all than is permitted by the rules of this House to other members.

44. While the Speaker is putting a question or addressing the House, or when a member is speaking, no person shall walk out of or across the room, or pass between the member speaking and the Chair, or entertain private discourse.

To postpone indefinitely;

Which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged; and no motion

50. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, and shall be decided without debate, and not subject to amendment.

51. No rule shall be dispensed with unless by the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present; nor shall any rule be rescinded or changed without one day's notice being given of the motion thereof; but a new rule, not in conflict with existing rules, may be added, after such notice, by a majority vote.

52. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?"—and until it is decided shall preclude all amendments or debate. When it is decided the main question shall not now be put, the main question shall be considered as still remaining under debate.

53. The effect of the main question being ordered shall be to put an end to all debate, and bring the House to a direct vote—first upon all amendments reported or pending, in the inverse order in which they are offered. After the motion for the previous question has prevailed, it shall not be in order to move a call of the House unless it shall appear, by yeas and nays as taken on the main question, that no quorum is present, or to move to adjourn, prior to a decision of the main question.

Provided, If a motion to postpone is pending, the only effect of the previous question shall be to bring the House to a vote upon such motion.

54. The Clerk of the House shall prepare, each day, an exact transcript of the journal, and furnish the same to the State printer, in order that printed copies of the proceedings of the day previous may be placed upon the desk of each member every morning, before the House is called to order; and the form of advance copies furnished to members shall be precisely the same as that in which the journal is published in accordance with the law relating to State contracts.

Approved, February 24th, 1885.

This House has received with profound regret the sad intelligence of the death, on the 7th day of February, A. D. 1885, of the Honorable Pinkney H. Walker, and desires to express its sincere regard for him as a man, and its high appreciation of his eminent services to the State.

A man of pure mind and simple life, with unblemished character, unquestioned integrity, with an industry never excelled by any other American jurist, and with a mind thoroughly imbued with the fundamental principles of the law, he conscientiously devoted his time and talents to the great official trusts confided to his charge.

He served the State as a Circuit Judge for five years before his elevation to the Supreme bench.

For nearly twenty-seven years he filled the exalted position of Justice of the Supreme Court; a part of this time he presided as Chief Justice of that Court.

During this period questions affecting almost every interest of the people came before that court for adjudication; rules of property, and precedents of law were established, not only for us, but for coming generations.

In this great labor he performed a conspicuous part.

Ninety-three of the published volumes of the Illinois Reports are enriched and adorned with records of his judicial labors.

As a testimonial of regard to the memory and services of the deceased, be it

Resolved, That this preamble and resolution be spread at large upon the journal of this House, and that a copy of the same be sent to the family of the deceased.

WHEREAS, it is the first duty of governments to adopt such policies as will best promote the growth of national power and insure prosperity to the nation and its citizens; and

WHEREAS, large amounts of the land of the nation are now owned and controlled by the citizens of foreign nations, who owe no allegiance to our government, the income from such lands increasing the wealth of citizens of other nations and the aggregate wealth of such foreign nations, resulting in an equal loss to our citizens and nation; and

Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That the ownership of lands within the limits of any State or Territory of the nation, by aliens, is an evil threatening the prosperity of the nation, and virtually affecting the interests of the citizens, especially those who seek to secure homes on the public domain.

WHEREAS, the Legislature of this State, in the year A. D. 1869, passed an act entitled "An act to fund and provide for the paying the railroad debts of counties, townships, cities and towns," (see Session Laws of 1869, page 316, in force April 16, 1869) by which the State Treasurer, with other duties, was ordered to place to the credit of such counties, townships, cities and towns, having incurred such indebtedness, or that should thereafter create such indebtedness, all the State taxes on the increased valuation of the taxable property of such counties, townships, cities or towns, above the assessment roll of the year 1868, except the two mill and State school tax, for ten years after the passage of said act, and for ten years after the creation of said indebtedness, which said act was by the Legislature passed to induce the inhabitants and tax-payers to aid in the building and procuring the building, equipping and operating of railroads of this State, and thereby greatly facilitate commerce and increase the taxable property of the State, from which the State would and did derive great benefit; and

WHEREAS, it appears from the records and reports before this General Assembly, that fifty-three counties, and two hundred and seventy-four cities, towns and townships, within this State, relying upon the inducements and promises in said act contained, and upon the good faith of the State that it would see that all counties, cities, towns and townships should be credited with such increase of taxes for ten years, did vote in aid of railroads large amounts of money or municipal bonds, and by such aid did induce and procure many railroads to be built, equipped and operated within this State, and thereby largely increased the amount of taxable property within the State, as the report shows, from $460,817,905.00 in the year 1868, to the sum of $1,205,332,315.00 in the year 1873, and on railroad property from $14,681,763 to $123,928,479, and it further appearing that the counties, cities, towns and townships within this State, in order, to make such addition to the taxable property of this State, did incur and create municipal indebtedness amounting in all to the sum of $15,516,751.58, issuing bonds for the same, which said last indebtedness has been held and decided by the courts to be legal liens upon the property in such counties, cities, towns and townships, and valid contracts with the various railroad companies, which the highest courts of the State and Nation, with all their powers, will see enforced; and

WHEREAS, the Supreme Court of this State, at its January term, A. D. 1875, in the case of Ramsey vs. Hoeger, 76 Ill. 432, held and decided that said act of 1869 was abrogated and could not be enforced, and "that exemptions from taxation are always subject to be recalled when they have been granted as a mere privilege, and not for a sufficient consideration;" and

WHEREAS, we do not believe that it was the intention of the Legislature of this State, or of the Constitutional Convention of 1870, to repeal said act or impair in any manner the promise and contract it had made with counties, cities, towns and townships that acted thereunder, nor can we make it plain to the tax-payers of counties, cities, towns and townships, after such municipal corporations have created debts to the amount of $15,516,751.58, and the taxable property of the State has been increased, within five years after the passage of said act, $745,014,410, that the State has received no sufficient consideration, nor can such tax-payers, mentally constituted as they are, see why their counties, cities, towns and townships should be compelled to keep and perform all their promises and contracts, made under and by virtue of said act, and yet when such counties, cities, towns and townships make requests upon the State Treasurer for the amounts due them under said act, they are informed that the money will not be paid; that the courts have held that the State was not bound by the act, and that the State could and had refused to perform its part of the contract under said act; therefore be it

Resolved, That the committee on revenue be and hereby is instructed to investigate fully the matter herein referred to, and report to this House by bill or otherwise their conclusion as to the practicability of carrying into effect the provisions of the act of 1869 under the promise of which such indebtedness of the said counties, cities, towns and townships were contracted.

Mr. Harper, of the minority of the committee on license, made the following minority report:

The minority members of the committee on license dissent to the report of a majority of said committee.

In dissenting to the bill and recommendations submitted by a majority of the committee on license in the House, the minority members beg to state, as briefly as possible, some of the facts, figures and reasons which have led them to dissent to the views and recommendations set out in the bill and report of the majority.

It cannot be denied that the practical workings and pecuniary benefits of the present high license law have been largely successful and advantageous to the municipal corporations throughout the State.

The widespread beneficent influence of so wise and just a law has not alone been felt and appreciated by the people of Illinois, but other States have introduced similar measures in their Legislatures, and are hopeful of the enactment of such a high-license law. In many respects this law is desirable and commendable, chiefly because it meets a long felt want, and also because of its sanitary and humane effects.

True, no law, however wise and just, can prevent crime and suppress all the evils of intemperance, nor can the best and most stringent laws prevent murder, arson, burglary and all other crimes; yet can anybody show just reasons for hindering or obstructing the full, free execution of so wise and salutary a law as this is? The advantages and pecuniary benefits of this law are not only wonderful, but almost incalculable. In the city of Chicago the revenue arising therefrom has been increased from $200,000 to $1,500,000, and the city has reduced the number of saloons from 3,900 to 3,300, or 600 less, and has added to the police force 300 men. In Hyde Park, a suburb of Chicago, two years ago 214 saloons paid $11,000, and since this law has been in operation the saloons have been reduced nearly one-half, while the population has largely increased, and the revenue from 127 saloons is $71,000, nearly tenfold more, and the number of arrests for the two years prior to the passage of this law was 1,895, as against 678 arrests since.

In Springfield (the Capital City), the number of saloons has been reduced from 157 to 104, closing up 53, or 33 per cent., while the revenue has been increased from $15,700 to $52,000, an increase of $36,300 or 231 per cent., notwithstanding the reduction of saloons and the increase of population of the Capital City.

In Peoria, before this law went into effect there were 220 saloons, paying a revenue of $22,000, and since then with an increased population and about half the number of saloons, say 126, the city receives $63,000, or neary thrice as much as heretofore, and the number of arrests have been 194 less than before this law was enacted.

Statistics, numberless and incontrovertible, could be added, showing the incalculable value and benefits of this law to the people and the municipal corporations throughout the State, but the facts, figures and advantages herein set forth are sufficient to satisfy any body of reasonable men that this law should be maintained. In the State at large, the revenues derived from the enforcement of this law have been increased from $700,000 to over $4,500,000, and hence the burden of taxation on other articles has been lessened, thereby enhancing the wealth, peace and happiness of the people of this great commonwealth; reducing the number of saloons in the State from 13,000 to less than 9,000, enabling cities like the Capital, Chicago, Peoria, Quincy, Bloomington, Jacksonville and many others to pave and beautify, police and improve in all respects their order and sanitary condition. The present law was passed by a large majority in the House, after long consideration and full discussion, and the people had been generally heard from, by a vote of 79 against 55, and the bill was regarded then by both parties (and the Greenbackers also) as a final settlement of a vexed question, placing it in the most satisfactory shape that was possible to devise by human wisdom based on many years of reflection; and after the law had been in operation a year, and the people of all classes had ample time to study its workings, neither of the two party platforms, put forth at the State Conventions at Peoria, contain a word or hint in favor of disturbing the law, nor did they recommend any reduction or increase, modification or amendment thereof. While the Democratic platform pronounced against the principle of prohibition: yet it made no objection to taxing and regulating the liquor traffic. The Gubernatorial standard-bearers of neither party discussed the State liquor legislation, and neither proposed, advocated nor demanded any change of the law of any description. No public meetings of Democrats, Republicans or Greenbackers are being held demanding a reduction of the liquor tax, or instructing members to vote for a $250 bill, or any other sort of liquor bill. The whole tax-paying people are perfectly well satisfied with the law as it is—don't want it meddled with—and disapprove of its disturbance. They wish the act to be let alone. The bill provides for a reduction of the tax on whisky $250 and increasing it $100 on beer. The minority committee believe both changes to be wrong. Whisky contains from 33 to 40 per cent. of intoxicating properties, and beer but 4 per cent. The evils of the traffic are caused by the intoxicating properties of the stimulant. In communities where beer alone, or chiefly, is drank, it may be felt that the less harmful beverage is discriminated against and its use discouraged, if the tax on whisky is reduced by half, and the tax on beer nearly doubled, and it would be like offering a premium on whisky drinking and a punishment for patronizing beer. It is wiser to leave the minimum tax on malt liquors at $150 in the law, and let each community do as they please about increasing it. The gross receipts from the saloons of the State are estimated at from $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 a year, three-fourths of which may be safely reckoned as retailers' profits; from which it will be seen that this class of non-producers can well afford to pay the tax on their alcoholic traffic now imposed by law for the benefit and protection of the community. If the effect of the tax be to limit somewhat the number of middlemen desiring to follow this business, it will not be felt as a hardship, or a public calamity. There will always be enough dramsellers to fully supply the public appetite for intoxicants, and there is no danger of any citizen suffering thirst under the existing law, while he possesses a nickle or dime to pay for its alleviation. If the whisky tax be reduced to $250, or one-half, at the instance of the persons called the "Saloon-keepers' Convention," and thereby inflicting a loss of $2,000,000 on the revenues of the local municipalities, the reduction will not end there, but will make an almost irresistible precedent for a reduction of the tax to $125 by the next Legislature. The same line of arguments and class of influences that will cause the repeal of half the existing excise on the whisky traffic by the present Legislature, will impel the next one to halve it again, and the succeeding to bisect the remainder or repeal it altogether and place the traffic in intoxicating drinks on the free list. The influences that are urging the repeal of this just and necessary tax do not proceed from the more reputable and conservative class of saloon keepers, as they have no interests to serve by lowering the responsibility or increasing the number of dealers to compete with them. The local taxes and appropriations for municipal purposes are now imposed and disbursed on the basis of the revenues derived from the tax on the liquor traffic under the act of June 15, 1883. To reduce the tax as is proposed by the majority report by one-half on hard drinks will derange and throw into confusion the finances of a thousand cities, towns, villages, townships and other municipalities in this State. It will compel a multitude of municipalities to impose higher taxes on real and personal estate already oppressively burdened, or else cripple their police, fire, poor, school, road, bridge and other funds. The revenue derived from the liquor tax now yields to the various municipal governments of the State between four and a half and five millions of dollars, being nearer the latter than the former amount, and the proposed change of the law will cut down this source of income by fully two millions of dollars, a loss of revenue which cannot be endured without great harm to the local administrations, and a sum which the tax-payers will not voluntarily consent to have added to the present onerous burdens in order to increase the profits of the dram-sellers, or to enlarge their numbers.

This question of high-license is not treated by the minority committee from a partizan standpoint, but from the just and higher plane of humanity, philanthropy and the demands of a majority of the tax-payers and good people of the State, who are earnest and anxious that the provisions of so just and humane a law shall be enforced and upheld everywhere in the State; and therefore, to the end that justice may be done, and the rights and interests of the people of this great commonwealth maintained and protected, the minority dissent to the bill and recommendations of a majority of the license committee, and respectfully urge the foregoing facts, figures and reasons against the same, as in the interest of the tax-payers of the State, and therefore recommend that the bill do not pass.

BYRON McEVERS, }

Mr. Caldwell, chairman of the committee on finance, made the following report:

In response to a joint resolution of the General Assembly, the joint finance committees of the House of Representatives and Senate submit the following report:

Before proceeding to the discharge of our duties we obtained from the Auditor of Public Accounts a statement showing the amount of funds in the State Treasury February 28, 1885, also the amount received up to March 20, 1885.

We next proceeded to carefully count the money in the Treasury, and found the amount agreed precisely with the sum called for by the statement above referred to, to-wit: $3,061,253.33, as follows:

Revenue fund.....	$2,470,609 90
School fund.....	216,788 16
Delinquent Land-tax fund.....	331 06
Unknown and minor heirs fund.....	10,514 75
Local bond funds.....	363,009 46

We find the vaults and safes in the Treasury are of the most approved patterns and of undoubted security. The watchmen are sufficient in number, competent and reliable.

We find the unexpended balances of existing appropriations to be the sum of $1,457,310.81, shown in detail by the accompanying statement.

We estimate the amount of the State revenue to be paid into the Treasury during the present fiscal year to be as follows:

Revenue fund, taxes 1884.....	$1,477,000 00
School fund, taxes 1884.....	987,000 00
Seven per cent. gross earnings Illinois Central Railroad.....	350,000 00
Fees of State Departments.....	60,000 00
Total.....	$2,904,000 00

Owing to the fact that many of the various necessary appropriation bills are yet unreported, it is impossible for your committee at present to present a reliable estimate of the probable amount of money required for all State purposes during the two years commencing July 1, 1885, as called for in item three of said resolution.

When a reliable estimate of the sums to be appropriated by this General Assembly shall have been obtained, your committee will furnish the information, called for in said item three, by a supplemental report.

We recommend that the balance of $331.06 delinquent land tax fund, which has remained in the Treasury as such fund since 1863, be transferred to the credit of the revenue fund.

BEN F. CALDWELL,

Chairman House Finance Committee.

On motion of Mr. Keyes, the bill was read at large a first time, and ordered to a second reading.

Mr. Johnson, in behalf of the minority of the committee on appropriations, offered the following minority report relative to House Bill No. 445:

We, the undersigned, members of your committee on appropriations, beg leave to dissent from the conclusions of the aforesaid committee on House Bill No. 445, appropriating two hundred and sixty thousand three hundred and thirty-six dollars and fifty cents ($260,336.50), and entitled a bill for "An act to make appropriations for the purpose of repairing and restoring the State House," and respectfully submit the following reasons therefor:

1st. Section thirty-three (33) of Article four (4) of the Constitution of the State of Illinois provides that the General Assembly shall not appropriate out of the State treasury or expend on account of the new Capitol grounds and construction, completion and furnishing of the State House, a sum exceeding in the aggregate $3,500,000, inclusive of all appropriations heretofore made, without first submitting the proposition for an additional expenditure to the legal voters of the State at a general election, nor unless a majority of all the votes cast at such election shall be for the proposed additional expenditure.

2nd. That said sum of $3,500,000 was appropriated and expended in the construction of the State House, and its completion not being effected the Thirty-third General Assembly passed an act entitled 'An act to provide means for the completion and furnishing of the State House and for the improvement of the grounds, and to provide for the appointment of three commissioners," appropriating the sum of $531,712 for the completion and furnishing of the State House and for the improvement of the grounds, based upon plans and specifications submitted, which said act was submitted to a vote of the people of the State of Illinois at the general election held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1884, and approved by a majority of all the votes polled at said election; said approval by the people was proclaimed by the Governor and it became a law from the date of said proclamation.

3d. That under and by virtue of said act three commissioners were appointed as in said act provided; that no estimate has been made by said commissioners, nor plans and specifications placed before this committee in regard to the expenditure of the sum of $531,712 mentioned in said act, and they have no knowledge of how and when said sum is to be expended.

That House Bill No. 445 is based upon an estimate made by architects the aggregated amounts of which is the amount specified in the bill, viz: Two hundred and sixty thousand three hundred and thirty-six dollars and fifty cents ($260,336.50), a large portion of which said sum seems by referring to the recapitulation in said estimate to have been contemplated and embraced in the act appropriating the sum of $531,712, to-wit: $51,302 for cut stone work, etc., below cornice; $18,908 for stylobate (stone and iron); $24,622 for tile floors; $16,000 for fire-proofing roof, and other and various material and work presented in the recapitulation of said estimate.

4th. That it furthermore appears to the undersigned that the prices of much material mentioned in said estimate is far above the value and cost of obtaining the same, and that there is a large variance in price of doing work pertaining to the same class and kind; and for these reasons they most respectfully recommend that the bill do not pass.

The pay of the janitors employed by the Secretary of State, purporting to be employes of the Thirty-fourth General Assembly, from January 7 to March 27, amounts to the sum of $7,668. Of this sum $824 is charged, in the above statement, to the House of Representatives.

From the above figures it will be seen that the entire expense of employes employed by the House, and janitors employed by the Secretary of State is $32,434.50.

The committee further reports that during the temporary organization of the House, there was no vote or resolution of the House in relation to the appointment of employes in the House.

Section 5 of the "Act to provide for the election and appointment of officers and employes of the General Assembly of this State, and to fix their compensation," approved May 28, 1877, (chapter 63, R. S.) provides for the appointment of not more than four policemen and ten pages in the House of Representatives. The number of janitors to be appointed is not fixed by the statute, but the committee find after careful inquiry that twelve janitors are ample to do the work in the Hall of the House of Representatives and the cloak rooms, and, in addition to these, one for the Speaker's room, one for the chief clerk's rooms, and one for the enrolling and engrossing clerk's room, making a total of fifteen janitors.

During the temporary organization (from January 7 to January 29) the Speaker had no legal right to employ more than four policemen, ten pages and fifteen janitors, whose pay would have been as follows:

4 policemen at $63.00.....	$252 00
10 pages at $31.50.....	315 00
15 janitors at $42.00.....	630 00

It will be seen by reference to the Speaker's pay rolls "A," "A 1," "A 2," that during this period there were employed by the Speaker:

75 temporary pages, who were paid.....	$2,335 50
19 temporary policemen, who were paid.....	1,197 00
24 temporary janitors, who were paid.....	928 00
Total.....	$4,460 50
The statutory amount would have been.....	1,197 00

Excess..... $3,263 50

Your committee finds from an examination of the pay-rolls on March 27, 1885, in the Auditor's office, that 85 janitors have been appointed by the Speaker, when there was no authority given to the Speaker by any resolution of the House of Representatives or otherwise, so far as your committee have been able to find, to appoint more than 44 janitors.

That the House of Representatives may be thoroughly advised in relation to difference in the expenses of the House of Representatives of the 33d General Assembly, as contemplated by the resolution offered by Mr. Marshall on January 30, 1885, and the House of Representatives of the 34th General Assembly, as modified by other resolutions, and the appointments made by the Speaker without authority of the House, the committee consider it proper to make the following comparative statement of expenses for the time embraced in the pay-rolls of this House and that of the House of Representatives of the 33d General Assembly, covering the same period:

Total expenses of the House of Representatives of the 34th General Assembly$19,525 50

Total expenses of the House of Representatives of the 33d General Assembly..... 8,464 00

Expenses for the same period in excess of those of the House of Representatives of the 33d General Assembly.....$11,061 50

It will be observed that the comparison is made concerning pages, policemen, janitors, committee clerks, reading clerk and superintendent of ventilation, which are either in excess or additional employes to that of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-third General Assembly, the other officers and employes being the same in both sessions at the same per diem.

The total expense for officers and employes of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-third General Assembly, for the entire session which convened January 3, and adjourned June 18, 1883, (having been in session 167 days,) was $32,892.00, as shown by the Speaker's pay rolls.

The total expenses of the present House to March 27, 1885 (being 80 days,) as shown by the Speaker's pay rolls, is $24,776.50.

This estimate does not include the per diem of the five men assigned to do janitor's duty on the floor of the House by the Secretary of State.

Chapter 63, Revised Statutes, provides for the appointment, by the House of Representatives, by resolution or otherwise, of not to exceed 13 committee clerks, 4 policemen, and 10 pages, and 1 private secretary for the Speaker. In said act it is further provided that the House of Representatives shall elect 1 chief clerk and 3 assistants, 1 doorkeeper and 3 assistants, 1 postmaster and 1 assistant, and 1 enrolling and engrossing clerk; and provides that "no other officer or employe not designated in this act shall be employed by either branch of the General Assembly except by a two-thirds vote of that branch of the General Assembly desiring such additional officers or employes." This act further provides how they shall be paid, and fixes the per diem of all clerks, officers and employes of the House.

The House has recognized the binding force of said act in electing 1 chief clerk and 3 assistants, 1 doorkeeper and 3 assistants, 1 enrolling and engrossing clerk, 1 postmaster and 1 assistant, and certifying to the per diem as fixed by said act, together with other things provided therein. This act is binding upon this House in all its provisions relating to the House, and should be regarded in the election of employes and in their dismissal as well.

On the first day of April, the Speaker entered the following order:

"It is ordered that all policemen, pages, janitors, committee clerks and committee janitors heretofore appointed by the Speaker of this House be and they are hereby discharged from further service."

While the committee expresses no opinion as to the right of the Speaker to dismiss employes of the House, yet, as the House acquiesced in the order of the Speaker dismissing the employes, the committee assumes that all persons embraced in the order of the Speaker have been discharged, and that said discharge took effect on the day the order was entered. With this view, the committee recommends the reinstatement and retention of the following persons without interruption to per diem on account of dismissal:

A. H. Ball, Chaplain.

Paulina Keusch, Speaker's Private Secretary.

E. L. Merritt, Journal Clerk.

E. J. Pace, Journal Clerk.

Wm. N. Cronkrite, Bill Clerk.

Jno. W. Hoke, Mail Messenger.

Jno. G. Varnell, Night Watchman.

The 26 committee clerks appointed under authority of rule 14.

The 26 committee janitors appointed under authority of rule 14.

The committee finds, upon investigation, that some of said committee clerks and janitors have performed no duties; the committee therefore recommends that before any committee clerk or janitor of committee room draws further pay he be required to file with the Auditor of Public Accounts his affidavit, therein stating that he has been regularly at his post of duty in the State House ready to perform, and has actually performed the duties required of him as such clerk or janitor as the case may be.

In the grouping of committees by the committee on rules, twenty-six committee groups were arranged, providing for one janitor and one clerk for each group. There are only fifteen (15) committee rooms set apart for the use of the House, and this arrangement by the assignment of rooms throws from one to three groups in each room. Four rooms have one clerk and one janitor each, and eleven (11) rooms have two clerks and two janitors each. The committee are of the opinion that fifteen committee clerks and fifteen committee room janitors are sufficient to do all the work required, and recommend that on and after April 16, one clerk and one janitor from each of the eleven (11) committee rooms having two groups, and two clerks and two janitors, be and remain discharged. The chairmen of the committees meeting in each room having two janitors and two clerks, shall determine and report to the Speaker the name of the clerk and janitor to be discharged, and in no case shall the Speaker certify to the service of more than 15 committee janitors and 15 committee clerks after April 16. The names of all committee clerks and janitors, discharged under this recommendation shall be entered on the journal of the House.

The committee is of the opinion that ten pages, four policemen, and ten House janitors, in addition to the five House janitors appointed by the Secretary of State, are all that are needed to do the work required, and recommends that the Speaker appoint from the number heretofore on the pay rolls of this House—

Ten pages,
Four policemen and Ten janitors.

The committee finds that C. T. Heydecker and F. W. Moran, proof-readers, have had nothing to do, on account of the journals not being printed daily as provided for by rule No. 65 of the House, and recommends that their names be stricken from the pay rolls.

The committee is further of the opinion that E. P. Bowles, reading clerk, and B. D. Dawson, assistant clerk, and Chas. T. Bouillon, superintendent of ventilation, are not needed to transact the business of the House, and recommend that the resolutions appointing them be rescinded.

The recommendations of the committee are directed to the end that the pay roll of the House so far as it relates to employes be modified as follows:

From 25 pages changed to 10 pages.
From 10 policemen changed to 4 policemen.
From 59 janitors changed to 10 janitors.
From 1 reading clerk changed to none.
From 1 assistant clerk changed to none.
From 1 superintendent of ventilation changed to none.
From 2 proofreaders changed to none.
From 26 committee clerks changed to 15 after April 16.
From 26 committee janitors changed to 15 after April 16.

And the committee asks that in adopting these recommendations the change above proposed be carried into effect.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES M. DILL,
SAMUEL MILEHAM,
W. F. CALHOUN,
A. F. BROWN.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Edward I. Boies, Assistant Secretary.

Mr. Speaker: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has concurred with them in the adoption of the following preamble and joint resolutions, to-wit :

WHEREAS, it is the first duty of governments to adopt such policies as will best promote the growth of national power, and insure prosperity to the nation and its citizens; and

WHEREAS, one of the means necessary to secure these results, permanently, is that the lands of a nation should be owned and possessed by its citizens exclusively, that the income therefrom may be added to the aggregate wealth of the nation and the comfort of its citizens; and

WHEREAS, large amounts of the lands of the nation are now owned and controlled by the citizens of foreign nations who owe no allegiance to our government, the income from such lands increasing the wealth of citizens of other nations, and the aggregate wealth of such foreign nations resulting in an equal loss to our citizens and nation; and

WHEREAS, the continuance of this evil will result in the introduction of foreign systems of landlordism, thereby oppressing the labor interests of our nation, and making the acquisition of homes by the poor more difficult if not impossible; therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That the ownership of lands within the limits of any State or territory of the nation, by aliens, is an evil threatening the prosperity of the nation and vitally affecting the interests of the citizens, especially those who seek to secure homes on the public domain.

Resolved, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress be and are hereby instructed to endeavor to have submitted to the States for their action thereon an amendment to the national constitution, providing that aliens shall not own, possess or control, either individually or as a member of any company or corporation, any land or real estate within the limits of any State or territory of the nation, and for the equitable extinguishment of all title now held by aliens who shall continue to be such after the expiration of 10 years after the adoption of such amendment, providing that the stock of any transportation or mining companies, when the amount of land owned and controlled by said company does not exceed the amount necessary for carrying on their legitimate business, shall be exempt from the provisions of such amendment.

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be instructed to transmit a certified copy of this preamble and resolutions to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress.

Ordered that the title be as aforesaid, and that the Clerk inform the Senate thereof, and ask their concurrence therein.

The Speaker laid before the House the following report from the select committee to appoint employes of the House:

The select committee appointed to retain ten House janitors, ten pages and four policemen, hereby recommend the following janitors, pages and policemen:

Janitors—

Charles Nelson.
J. S. Clark.
John Seiter.
Thomas Farrell.
R. E. Shelly.
John Connors.
Ed. O'Connell.
D. D. Dawson.
Lewis Ijams.
John W. Payne.

Policemen—

Paul Flynn.
Peter Conboy.
W. B. Gordon.
E. C. Salmon.

Charles Davis.
John Hesser.
Ed. Young.
William Barry.
William Wall.
Walter Outhouse.
Michael O'Brien.
L. Flemming.
Charles Kerr.
W. Anderson.

The committee understand the proper construction of the order of the House under which they were appointed to be, that the selection of janitors and pages assigned to them does not include the two janitors for the two cloak rooms, nor the two janitors and the two pages for the Speaker's room and room of the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives; that J. B. Smith and F. Flynn are acting as janitors of the two cloak rooms of the House; that Frank Gillman is acting as janitor for the Speaker's room; and Herman Keusch is acting as Speaker's page; that Joe D. Nicholson is acting as janitor for the Chief Clerk's room, and Tanner Wilbanks is acting as page for the Chief Clerk's room; and that the selection by the committee of policemen, janitors and pages as hereinbefore stated, therefore does not affect the positions of janitors and pages in the rooms aforesaid.

Mr. Goodspeed, from the select committee to appoint employes of the House, submitted the following minority report:

The undersigned, a minority of the select committee to which was referred the matter of selecting from those previously upon the pay rolls of this House, as such, ten (10) janitors, ten (10) pages and four (4) policemen, is of the opinion that it is the wish of this House that those who are selected shall be such as have performed service while on the pay rolls, in preference to those who have drawn pay and performed no service.

All those who have been on the pay roll as pages, as a rule, have performed the service required of them. All those on the pay roll as policemen, so far as known, have been on duty; but on the roll of 59 janitors on the floor and corridors of the House, not to exceed (10) ten have performed much service. It is the opinion of the minority of the committee that the majority of the committee have failed to report the names of such men for janitors as have been heretofore doing the work; therefore, the minority recommend the appointment or retention of the following as janitors:

J. A. Vineyard, to be superintendent of janitors.

Soloman Cobb.

Mark Anthony.

E. H. Wright.

John Seiter.

James Davis.

Louis Ijams

Gabriel Schnell

Sidney Robinson.

B. V. Harlan.

In addition to these, the minority is of the opinion that in addition to the above the following janitors should be appointed, and so recommend:

J. D. Smith, Democratic cloak room.

Thomas Flynn, Republican cloak room.

Frank Gillman, Speaker's room.

A. D. Davis, press messenger.

That the following be and are appointed pages:

Warren Anderson.

Frank Elkin.

Samuel Scholes.

Charles Kerr.

Frank Arnold.

Pages—Continued:

Eddie Day.

Charles Davis.

Ollie Sheplor.

Joseph Miller.

Richard Connelly

Herman Keusch, in addition, to Speaker.

And that the following be appointed policemen:

Edward O'Connor.

Paul Flynn.

William I. Johnson.

Frank Crosby.

The minority is of the further opinion that some of the names agreed upon by the majority have not been on the pay roll in the capacity they are now, by the majority, sought to be placed, and for these and other reasons set forth in this opinion, this is respectfully submitted.

Bakewell and wife, of Normal, Illinois, did, upon certain conditions to be fulfilled by the Board of Education of the State of Illinois, make and execute a deed to said Board of Education for the forty acres of land off of the south side of so much of the north half of the north-west quarter of section twenty-eight, township twenty-four north, range two east, of the third principal meridian, as lies west of the State road, which is an extension of Main street, in Bloomington north, said forty acres to include said State road; and

"WHEREAS, said conveyance was a conditional donation, dependent for its validity upon the performance of certain conditions, which conditions have never been fulfilled or complied with; and

"WHEREAS, the said Board of Education has since been changed from a private corporation to a board of State officers, and possession and title to said lands have been vested in the present State Board of Education, acting in behalf of the State, by reason of which change no proceedings in law or equity can be brought against them; and

"WHEREAS, the statute of limitations bars the claim of said Bakewell before the Commission of Claims, leaving his only remedy or chance for justice in the hands of the General Assembly; therefore, be it

"Resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That the State Board of Education, or its president, be and he is hereby directed to execute a conveyance, in fee simple of the above described forty acres of land, to Julia A. Bakewell." And

WHEREAS, said State Board of Education and its president, at a regular meeting of the Board, held at Normal, June 18, 1884, refused to execute said conveyance of said land, as directed by the aforesaid resolution; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That the title of said forty acres of land above described be and the same is hereby declared vested in Julia A. Bakewell, and said vesture of title to relate back to the date of the passage of the aforesaid resolution.

Adopted by the Senate, February 21, 1885.

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary on March 17, 1885.

Mr. Miller, from the judiciary committee, submitted the following minority report:

We, the undersigned, members of the committee on judiciary, to which committee was referred Senate Joint Resolution No. 15, which reads as follows, viz:

WHEREAS, the Thirty-third General Assembly of the State did adopt, June 18, 1883, a preamble and resolution, in the words and figures to-wit:

"WHEREAS, in the year 1858, E. W. Bakewell and wife, of Normal, Illinois, did, upon certain conditions to be fulfilled by the Board of Education of the State of Illinois, make and execute a deed to said Board of Education for the forty acres of land off of the south side of so much of the north half of the north-west quarter of section twenty-eight, township twenty-four north, range two east, of the third principal meridian, as lies west of the State road, which is an extension of Main street, in Bloomington north, said forty acres to include said State road; and

"WHEREAS, said conveyance was a conditional donation, dependent for his validity upon the performance of certain conditions, which conditions have never been fulfilled or complied with; and

"WHEREAS, said Board of Education has since been changed from a private corporation to a board of state officers, and possession and title to said land have been vested in the present State Board of Education, acting in behalf of the State, by reason of which change no proceedings in law or equity can be brought against them; and

"WHEREAS, the statute of limitations bars the claim of said Bakewell before the Commission of Claims, leaving his only remedy or chance for justice in the hands of the General Assembly; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That the State Board of Education, or its president, be and is hereby directed to execute a conveyance, in fee simple of the above described forty acres of land, to Julia A. Bakewell." And

WHEREAS, said State Board of Education and its president, at a regular meeting of the Board, held at Normal, June 18, 1884, refused to execute said conveyance of said land, as directed by the aforesaid resolution; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That the title of of said forty acres of land above described be and the same is hereby vested in Julia A. Bakewell, and said vesture of title to relate back to the date of the passage of the aforesaid resolution.

Beg leave to make a minority report upon said resolution, and accordingly report:

We find that the basis of this claim is the assertion that Mr. Bakewell donated the said forty acres of land subject to certain conditions, to-wit: That the land be used to promote the study of agriculture as a science in the Normal University, then about to be established, and that said institution should be located upon section twenty-eight, in the town now known as Normal. That the Board of Education accepted it upon these terms, but has never used it for this purpose. That therefore the Board has forfeited its right to the land, and that it should revert to the donor.

We find, however, that Mr. Bakewell did not make his donation subject to any condition that it should be used to promote the study of agriculture as a science; that the Board did not accept it subject to any such condition.

We find that the donation was made and accepted upon the sole condition as to location, and that that condition has been complied with.

We find, further, that the rents and profits of the land have been used by the Board for the promotion of the purposes of the institution as declared in its charter, and, therefore, that there has been no forfeiture, and that the land should not revert to the donor.

We base these conclusions upon the following facts:

Mr. Bakewell's donation, which was originally, as he says, in the form of a subscription, dated April 25, 1857, was put in the form of a bond for a deed, as he himself says, May 1, 1857.

The act establishing the Board of Education of the State of Illinois, bears date February 18, 1857, and it directs the Board to hold its first meeting May 5, 1857, and it did meet and organize on that day.

The act creating the Board directed it to locate the Normal University at that place which should offer the greatest inducements, provided it was a suitable place.

Mr. Bakewell's donation was a part of a voluntary bid made by him and other large landholders of Bloomington and vicinity, in order to secure the location of the university as a valuable prize, whose securing would and, as the result has proved, did largely enhance the value of their property. The bids were received and opened by the Board, May 7, 1857, and the Bloomington bid was found to be the best, and the location was made there. The only inducement which the act held out for these bids was that of location, and that was the only inducement which the Board was authorized to present, or did present, for its only step in relation to this matter had been to advertise the provision of the statute.

The subscription paper, which Mr. Bakewell says was drawn by some one who was active in getting the Bloomington bid into shape, may have had some such condition as Mr. Bakewell speaks of, but May 1st, still five days before the Board had organized, and seven days before the bids were opened by the Board, was replaced by a bond for a deed, in which there was no other condition than that relating to location.

A summary of their bid prepared and indorsed by Bloomington citizens, May 2, 1857, the indorsers being Leonard Swett, A. Gridley, A. J. Merriam and W. W. Orme, gives the condition of location as the sole condition of that part of the bid made by Mr. Bakewell. General C. Hovey, one of the charter members of the Board, the chairman of its building committee, and the first Principal of the Normal University, says, in two letters written to Mr. Bakewell, one in 1882 and the other in 1883, while this matter was pending before the Thirty-third General Assembly, that, with the records before him, he could have no doubt but that the bond was the paper by which the Bakewell land was donated and on which the Board acted in locating the institution near Bloomington, and quoting his words to Mr. Bakewell: "The 160 acres of land in Normal of which yours was a part was given to the State in consideration that the Normal University, or the buildings of the Normal University, should be located thereon; and the agreement on your part was evidenced by a bond, an instrument in writing bearing date May 1, 1857.

* * * It was upon the faith of that paper, so far as your land grant went, that the Board of Education acted in locating the institution in McLean county."

Hon. S. W. Moulton, of Shelbyville, also one of the charter members of the Board, whose membership continued for twenty-four years, says, in a letter laid before us: "The claim of Bakewell is absurd. It simply is asking the State to give him forty acres of land. From the gift to the State he created a market to his other lands, and thereby realized more than the value of the 40. There never was any condition (as to teaching agriculture as a science) connected with the gift. The deed speaks for itself."

Hon. W. H. Green, of Cairo, who became a member of the Board in 1861, and has been a member ever since, stated that the condition of location was the only condition attached to the gift.

We find that Mr. Bakewell made a deed to the Board for the same land, within a year from the execution of the bond, and that the deed contains the condition as to location alone.

We find that some two years later, when the Board wished to give the land as security for a loan and asked Mr. Bakewell to free the land from any and all conditions, the deed, absolute in terms, names only a condition as to location, which shows either that at that time both Mr. Bakewell and the Board considered that the only valid and binding condition relative to the land, or that they were acting in bad faith towards the men of whom they proposed to borrow.

This mass of testimony from formally executed papers, and from men known to be trustworthy and competent witnesses, is in no manner refuted. The only attempt at a refutation was made by trying to show that a mistake was made in drawing the bond from the subscription paper, and that the Board was responsible for the mistake. But this attempt utterly fails, for (1) the bond was drawn before the Board had as yet organized, before the Bloomington bid was handed in; and (2) Judge Reeves, of Bloomington, who it is claimed made the mistake, himself states, in a letter presented to your committee, which letter was written subsequently to the letter quoted by Mr. Bakewell in the printed statement which he has scattered in the House, that his only connection with the Board was as an attorney for the man first appointed treasurer, and even this quasi attorneyship did not begin until seven days after the bond was drawn and not until after the Bloomington bid was accepted by the Board, for it was not until then that a treasurer was appointed for the first time.

Mr. Bakewell told the committee that his land was probably worth thirty dollars per acre just prior to the location, and that he bargained away the 350 acres which he had after the donation, within a year, for one hundred dollars per acre; so that his land, which stood at less than $12,000 before the location including the forty acres, stood at $35,000 without the forty acres within a year.

Mr. Bakewell further stated to the committee that he now wanted the property conveyed to his wife, on account of financial disasters he had met with.

We repeat, then, that there has been no violation of the condition on which the Board received the gift.

That, on the contrary, there has been a full and complete compliance therewith, and that consequently there has been no forfeiture, and that there should be no reversion, either as a right in law or in equity, or on the ground that Mr. Bakewell made an unprofitable investment when he made the gift.

But there are other important questions involved in the passage of this resolution.

The donation was made to the Board of Education of the State of Illinois. The deed runs from Bakewell to the Board. The Supreme Court of this State held, in the case of the Board of Education of the State of Illinois vs. Greenbaum and Sons, 39 Ill., p. 609, that "the property of the Normal University is not the property of the State, but is the property of the Board of Education of the State of Illinois, as a corporation, whose charter can not be repealed by the Legislature." (9th paragraph of the syllabus).

Now, it is true that an act was passed by the General Assembly in 1867, declaring the Normal University a State institution and its property the property of the State. But this act did not require a conveyance of its property to be made by the Board to the State, nor has any such conveyance ever been made; so the title to the property, as stated above, is still in the Board of Education.

But had the Board conveyed the property to the State, what would it have conveyed? Simply the title which it has. The property was and is held by the Board in trust for the purpose named in the charter—"to qualify teachers for the common schools of the State." The beneficiaries of the trust are manifestly those seeking to be qualified to teach the common schools of the State. And hence the State could not, if it had the title to this land, there having been no forfeiture, divest itself of this title, either in favor of the original donor or any one else, except by an act of the grossest bad faith toward the other donors and the beneficiaries. But when it attempts to vest the property held by an eleemosy-nary institution in trust, not for the State nor for all the people of the State, but for certain persons named in the act creating the trustees and the trust, the General Assembly far transcends its powers.

Again, suppose the State held the title to this forty acres in fee simple and not in trust, could the General Assembly vest the property in some one else by a joint resolution? The General Assembly may act for itself by a joint resolution: it can only act for the State by enacting a law. If the General Assembly owned the land, it could vest the title in some one else. If the State owns the property, the title of the State can be transferred by a bill alone, which must be passed according to the forms provided in the Constitution in both houses, and must receive the approval of the Governor, who is a constitutional part of the law-making department of the State, or be passed over his veto. In this way only can the General Assembly express the sovereign will of the people—the State. And the only power which the General Assembly has to dispose of the property of the State, it may exercise in that way alone by which it represents the State. It does not represent the State in a joint resolution.

Except in this case no attempt has ever been made by the General Assembly to convey land or to direct its conveyance by joint resolution, so far as we can learn—certainly in none since the adoption of the Constitution of 1870.

To hold that the General Assembly may convey this forty acres of land by joint resolution is to hold that all the real estate owned by the State is held upon the same tenure—that is, that a few members of the two houses, acting under a suspension of the rules, without reading the resolution, without the disclosure of a quorum, or of no quorum, without a call of the roll, may in an hour pass irrevocably the title to all the real property held by the State. We can not agree with the other members of your committee in admitting that the real property of the State—this building and its site, for instance—is held upon any such slight tenure.

Inasmuch, therefore, as we find that the act proposed by this resolution is unconstitutional; that the State does not hold the title to the property which it seeks to convey; that the property is held in trust for the use of certain beneficiaries who would be wronged if this resolution should pass and become effective; that it is held by a just and sufficient title, and that the demand for a reconveyance has no meritorious basis, we, the minority of your committee, make this report and recommend that the resolution do not pass.

Mr. James, chairman of the committee to visit penal and reformatory institutions, made the following report:

Your committee to visit the penal and reformatory institutions of the State respectfully report, that on the 20th day of April, 1885, it visited the

STATE REFORM SCHOOL, AT PONTIAC.

After a careful and thorough examination of said institution, they find the same in good order, excellently managed, and a good discipline.

The buildings, five in number, which are used as dormitories, schools, work-shops, machine-shops, are in good condition, and the sanitary condition is excellent.

Three hundred and twenty-five boys, at the age of 11 to 23 years, are at present inmates of said institution. One hundred and fifty of said boys are employed in the boot and shoe trade, at a daily charge of 18 cents per boy, paid by Messrs. O. P. Smith & Sons, of Bloomington, Ill., the contractors. Six hours per day are occupied by said boys in said trade.

Within the last twelve months one boy died in the institution, and one boy is at present on the sick list, though he is able to be out of bed.

Ten boys made their escape during the last twelve months.

The management of the school is excellent, and good work is done for the inmates, and deserves the full support of the Legislature.

The inmates are cheerful, and well satisfied with their treatment.

The committee further finds, that there are two hundred and seventy-eight acres in cultivation, which are worked by the boys. From nine to ten acres are enclosed with a board fence nine feet high.

Nearly 1,600 inmates have been at said school from its beginning, in 1869, till the present time.

Your committee further finds, that there are in said institution twenty-seven employes, as per accompanying pay-roll for April, which is hereby made part of said report. Respectfully submitted,

SOUTHERN PENITENTIARY, AT CHESTER.

We, your committee to visit penal institutions, would report that we visited the Southern Illinois Penitentiary at Chester, made a thorough examination, and are pleased to say that we found the institution in very good shape; the food ample in quantity and excellent in quality; the personnel of the force fair.

All the buildings completed seem to be well built and admirably arranged; the cell-house is a splendid building for the confinement of men, being large, airy, and of the most perfect ventilation; the cells are large and comfortable.

The sanitary condition is excellent, and the health of the prisoners good. We found but six in the hospital out of 669 prisoners, three of these suffering from chronic disease, with which they were afflicted when they entered the prison, but three being sick from acute diseases, and none of these of a severe type.

We found the Mitchell Pressed Brick Company working sixty men, making brick, and the Pettengill Boot and Shoe Company 225 men making foot-wear; all the other men are employed by the State. A large force is employed quarrying and cutting stone. The men look well and seem to work cheerfully. The water supply for cooking and washing is furnished from the river by pumping, and the reservoir built in the early days of the prison is now inadequate to the necessities of the institution. We would recommend that the amount asked for to build a reservoir be appropriated.

The machinery department does not seem to be supplied with sufficient machinery for repairs which become necessary through accident or wear, thereby necessitating sending State repairs to St. Louis, or other places where there is suitable machinery, causing delay, expense and inconvenience to the business of the prison. All this might be avoided if the State had the proper machinery; we would therefore recommend the appropriation asking for an iron planer.

The washing of convict clothing being all done by hand for the want of proper machinery, not only takes a good many men, but necessitates the wearing of clothing too long either for comfort or economy. We therefore recommend the appropriation for the several machines asked for. We might add that the uniform testimony of our other State institutions is in favor of the use of these washers and wringers as a great saving in labor and wear in clothing. They are in general use in these institutions.

So far the prison has done all its baking with a common brick oven, but the ovens now built are too small to do the work. We therefore recommend appropriation for a revolving oven. Such an oven is now in use in Joliet, and, so far as your committee is informed, in the various other State institutions, and its use is uniformly recommended as a matter of economy.

The warden's house needs furniture badly, as much of that in use is worn and very shabby. We think the amount asked for this purpose none too much. No appropriation has heretofore been asked or made for furniture at this institution.

Your committee have examined with reference to shops, both for the working of contract men, and State shop, and deem it very necessary that shops be built as soon as possible, and we would recommend amount asked for be appropriated.

From the best information we can get, we deem the amount asked for, for ordinary expenses, none too large; indeed, as there can not be the income from stone product (which was anticipated at the time of the Commissioners' report,) in consequence of the failure of the river improvement appropriation in Congress, we would recommend that the amount to be appropriated be increased at least $10,000 per year over the amount mentioned by the warden. There are no shops in which the men can be employed, and if this river appropriation is to fail, this increased appropriation will be necessary.

The statistics of crime in our State show such increase as indicates that in the near future more prison room will be necessary than we have in the State at present. We would therefore recommend that enough money be appropriated to put in the foundation of the south cell-house at this prison, which the law for the erection of the prison contemplates.

As the stone business will undoubtedly be a leading industry of the prison, it will be necessary to have steam and steam drills. The institution at present has two steam drills, which are driven by steam from a second-hand worn-out boiler, which has been condemned as unsafe. A new boiler and an additional drill should be purchased to meet the requirements of the quarry. We recommend the appropriation of the money asked for.

We would recommend such amendments to the law regulating penitentiaries as will do away with the office of prison chaplain at both prisons, believing that the moral and religious wants of the prisoners may be quite as well attended to by the local ministers at far less cost to the State.

Your committee would further report that we find the chaplain, physician and hospital steward, with their families, also a large number of shoe-shop employes, boarding in the institution, at a nominal rate. We would therefore recommend that the law be so changed that the authorities be debarred from making a hotel of the prison.

THOMAS JAMES,

ILLINOIS PENITENTIARY AT JOLIET.

The committee on visiting penal and reformatory institutions respectfully report:

That in the performance of the duty with which it is charged, your committee did, on the 27th day of March, visit the Illinois State Penitentiary at Joliet, and during that and the two following days, made careful inspection of the said institution. The committee found that there were confined in said penitentiary on the 27th day of March, 1885, 1,540 males and 29 females, making a total of 1,569 prisoners. Of these there were employed on the various contracts, 1,222 first class, and 45 second class males, and of the remaining 302 prisoners we found 49 men in the repair shops and other employments which earn more or less money for the State, and a large proportion of the 29 female prisoners earn money for the State by toeing socks for the hosiery contractor, at six cents per dozen, besides doing the laundry and mending and other work for the prison. The remaining 224 prisoners are engaged in such occupations as cooking, washing, teaming, taking care of the cell houses, the farm and the stock, and other occupations incident to the management of so large an institution. Included in this number also are a number of cripples and invalids, who are occupied in tending gates and other employments suited to their strength.

We found six patients sick in the hospital, and nineteen excused for the day from duty on account of trifling ailments or injuries which temporarily unfitted them for work, but did not entitle them to a place on the sick list. Cleanliness seemed to be enforced in every department of the institution, and its sanitary condition is good. We found the discipline good, the officers seemingly alert and intelligent, and the morals of the institution in general such as can be commended. We inspected the food supply, and found it to be abundant, of good quality, cooked and served in such manner as to be palatable and healthy. We investigated the prison as much as time would permit, with a view to ascertaining its present financial condition, and the real need for the appropriations which the management ask of this General Assembly. We found that the appropriation of $50,000.00 as a contingent fund, made by the last General Assembly, is still in the State treasury, no portion of it having been drawn. The General Assembly is asked to reappropriate this amount to serve as a contingent fund for the next two years, so that in case of fire, or epidemics, which would interfere with the workings of the institution, the fund may be used to supplement its earnings without the expense of calling the Legislature together in extra session. The law carefully guards the disbursement of this fund, and we recommend its re-appropriation.

The management also asks the sum of $10,000, to be expended during the next two fiscal years in repairs. These repairs are specified in the bill now before the General Assembly providing for said appropriation, and from inspection of the roofs, floors, and other portions of said prison now in need of repairs, we deem the sum asked reasonable and recommend its allowance.

The sum of $1,300 is also asked for the purpose of putting ceilings in six of the cooper shops belonging to the institution. The warden states that it has been impossible to keep the prisoners comfortable during the cold weather of the recent winter, because the heat made by the stoves escaped into the attics, and the effect of it was largely lost. The need of this provision for the comfort of the prisoners working in the said shops was apparent; and when it is remembered that the ceilings proposed will cover nearly 27,000 square feet of surface, the estimate of its cost does not seem unreasonable, and we recommend its allowance.

The only remaining appropriation asked for by the Joliet Penitentiary is the sum of $5,000 for completing and tubing the artesian well inside the prison enclosure, for which the sum of $6,500 was appropriated by the last General Assembly. Evidence was furnished to your committee that a contract was made with Marrs and Miller, of Chicago, who are represented as reliable contractors, to sink for the above sum a well to the depth of two thousand feet, that depth being deemed sufficient to secure a permanent flow of water. Contrary to expectation, when the depth of two thousand feet was reached, the stratum of sandstone called the "water bearing stratum" had not been penetrated to sufficient depth to secure permanent supply. Under the circumstances the contractors agreed to carry the well down still farther, and present the bill for the same to this General Assembly. The Commissioners, as they state in their printed report, decided that to abandon the well at that point would be to lose all the work thus far done, and under the above mentioned arrangement with Marrs and Miller they sunk it to an additional depth of 319 feet, securing a largely increased flow of water. But unfortunately, toward the close of their work, they struck a deposit of saline matter, combined with gypsum and other substances, which completely spoiled the entire flow for drinking or washing purposes, and for its use in steam boilers and iron pipes. The necessity appears to be thus created for shutting off these objectional ingredients, and to do so the diameter of the well has to be enlarged an inch to the depth of something more than twenty-two hundred feet, at which depth a plug of lead has to be inserted and fastened so as to prevent the flow of water from beneath. The enlarging process is now going on, the necessity of more water admitting of no delay. To pay the contractors for sinking the additional 319 feet, for enlarging the same, and tubing it so as to remove the impurities above mentioned, and secure the softest water for boiler and other uses, will, it is estimated, cost the additional sum of $5,000, for which a bill is now before the General Assembly. Your committee believes that this appropriation is necessary to secure the necessary water supply to the prison, and prevent the loss of the money already expended.

The report of the Chief Engineer, marked "Exhibit A," showing tests of the water, and some specimens of the scale taken from boilers, and a section of steam pipe, showing its effect upon iron, are submitted with this report,—also report from the officer in charge of the prison laundry, marked “Exhibit B.”

REPORT OF CHIEF ENGINEER.

CHIEF ENGINEER’S OFFICE, ILLINOIS STATE PENITENTIARY, }
JOLIET, MARCH 30, 1885.

R. W. McCLAUGHRY, Warden.

SIR:—I beg to submit herewith details and specifications of quality, constituents, and effects of the flow of water from artesian well No. 5, at a depth of 2,319 feet, 5 inches.

I may properly preface this report by saying that scale-making ingredients in hard water appear in two classes, carbonates and sulphates. Of these, carbonates are the most frequent, and the least dangerous precipitates, sulphates being the most destructive. Where hard water, such as is obtained from wells in this locality, does not contain more than twenty grains of carbonates to the gallon, it is not objectionable, but twenty grains of sulphates renders the water entirely unfit for use in boilers or iron pipes. An examination of the water from artesian well No. 5 shows large quantities of sulphate formation, combined with bicarbonates held in solution by carbonic acid, and also of insoluble carbonates.

The sulphate formations are derived from a layer of iron of the nature of gypsum or pyrites, imbedded in the third strata of sandstone below the depth of twenty-two hundred feet.

The acid bases of this flow of water are,—sulphuric acid, forming sulphates of the metallic bases; carbonic acid, forming bicarbonate; carbonic acid, in free solution. The alkaline and metallic bases are lime, iron, magnesia, and chlorine, (the principal ingredients of salts of sodium) with silica, clay and organic matter. The chemical test of one gallon of this water shows as follows:

Residuum of one gallon on evaporation, 70 grains. Of this I find as follows:

Carbonate of Lime.....	6 grains.
“ “ Magnesia.....	8 “
“ “ Iron.....	6 “
“ “ Chlorine (salts of sodium).....	7 “
Sulphates “ Lime.....	9 “
“ “ Iron.....	12 “
“ “ Chlorine (salts of sodium)....	10 “
Chlorides.....	8 “
Silica and Organic matter	4 “
Total.....	70 “

The foregoing analysis shows the presence of large quantities of objectionable constituents. The practical results of the use of the above water in any department are as follows:

The water, when fed to the boilers and generators, becoming heated to boiling temperature, allows the volatile gases and oxides to escape. The impurities, no longer held in solution, settle in the form of sediment, and hardening by accumulation, form a scale which can not be removed from the plates and boiler flues except by chiseling and scraping. The lime and magnesia combined, in addition to forming scale, throw up a flocculent floating scum, which causes the boilers to foam, prevents the free generation of steam, and clogs the feed injections and valves. The sediments of iron corrode and destroy the boilers, pitting and furrowing the plates, leaving deposits of rust in the valve connections, and form a hard tenacious scale, which takes off the skin of the plates and pipes when forcibly removed. These scale formations prevent the water from coming in contact with the plates, which become red hot, and are bulged and strained by expansion and internal pressure. Should the scale break the water comes in contact with the red-hot plates, causing a sudden contraction, and leakage or bursting at the seam, or a rapid generation of steam, which is a frequent cause of explosions where hard waters are used for boiler feeding. As a matter of expense, the presence of scale on the boilers necessitates a large extra consumption of fuel, as not only must the boiler plates be heated, but the heat must penetrate the scale, which is a non-conductor of heat, before heating the water. I have found a scale 1-16 of an inch in thickness to cause the loss of ten per cent. of the fuel consumed, and where a scale forms as thick as the specimens herewith submitted, the requirements for fuel are largely increased. The accounts of this department for fuel for motive power, cooking and heating purposes, show an increase of cost of one hundred dollars per month, during the three months ending February 28, 1885, in excess of the amount consumed in the same period in 1884. The accounts for repairs, renewals, and cleaning boilers and connections, show an increase of cost of one hundred and fifty dollars per month, during the three months ending February 28, 1885, above the cost for the same period in 1884. Both of these increased expenditures are necessitated to a great extent by the destructive influence of this water.

While the well was being drilled, I personally inspected the successive flows of water, and observed their qualities, and my opinion is that the third flow of water, commencing at a depth of 1948 feet, derived from a bed of sharp sand-stone, free from iron and sulphates, will not prove objectionable for boiler uses, and I should recommend shutting off the water where the formation ceases, at a depth of about twenty-two hundred feet.

Mr. George Kite, the engineer in charge of Boiler House No. 4, stone department, used the water from the well while it was being drilled, and found no trouble from the water from the third flow, until the above named impurities were reached. After that he had constant trouble, having been compelled to have both his boilers repaired and renewed. His general observations practically confirm my own as to the destructive effects of this water.

The question of the fitness of this water for drinking purposes comes more within the province of the medical department, but I believe the chief of the medical staff will agree with me, that water containing corrosive properties of iron sulphates, can not but be injurious to the health of the inmates of this institution.

Mr. West submitted the following amendment:

Adopted by the Senate, February 21, 1885.

Referred to the Committee on Judiciary, March 17, 1885.

The following minority report of the committee on judiciary was read, as follows:

We, the undersigned, members of the committee on judiciary, to which committee was referred Senate Joint Resolution No. 15, which reads as follows, viz:

WHEREAS, the Thirty-third General Assembly of the State did adopt, June 18, 1883, a preamble and resolution, in the words and figures to-wit:

"WHEREAS, said Board of Education has since been changed from a private corporation to a board of State officers, and possession and title to said land have been vested in the present State Board of Education, acting in behalf of the State, by reason of which change no proceedings in law or equity can be brought against them; and

"WHEREAS, the statute of limitations bars the claim of said Bakewell before the Commission of Claims, leaving his only remedy or chance for justice in the hands of the General Assembly; therefore, be it

"Resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That the State Board of Education, or its president, be and is hereby directed to execute a conveyance, in fee simple of the above described forty acres of land, to Julia A. Bakewell." And

WHEREAS, said State Board of Education and its president, at a regular meeting of the Board, held at Normal, June 18, 1884, refused to execute said conveyance of said land, as directed by the aforesaid resolution; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That the title of said forty acres of land above described be and the same is hereby declared vested in Julia A. Bakewell, and said vesture of title to relate back to the date of the passage of the aforesaid resolution.

Beg leave to make a minority report upon said resolution, and accordingly report:

We find that the basis of this claim is the assertion that Mr. Bakewell donated the said forty acres of land subject to certain conditions, to-wit: That the land be used to promote the study of agriculture as a science in the Normal University, then about to be established, and that said institution should be located upon section twenty-eight, in the town now known as Normal. That the Board of Education accepted it upon these terms, but has never used it for this purpose. That therefore the Board has forfeited its right to the land, and that it should revert to the donor.

We find, however, that Mr. Bakewell did not make his donation subject to any condition that it should be used to promote the study of agriculture as a science; that the Board did not accept it subject to any such condition.

We find that the donation was made and accepted upon the sole condition as to location, and that that condition has been complied with.

We find, further, that the rents and profits of the land have been used by the Board for the promotion of the purposes of the institution as declared in its charter, and, therefore, that there has been no forfeiture, and that the land should not revert to the donor.

We base these conclusions upon the following facts:

Mr. Bakewell's donation, which was originally, as he says, in the form of a subscription, dated April 25, 1857, was put in the form of a bond for a deed, as he himself says, May 1, 1857.

The act establishing the Board of Education of the State of Illinois bears date February 18, 1857, and it directs the Board to hold its first meeting May 5, 1857, and it did meet and organize on that day.

The act creating the Board directed it to locate the Normal University at that place which should offer the greatest inducements, provided it was a suitable place.

Mr. Bakewell's donation was a part of a voluntary bid made by him and other large landholders of Bloomington and vicinity, in order to secure the location of the university as a valuable prize, whose securing would and, as the result has proved, did largely enhance the value of their property. The bids were received and opened by the Board, May 7, 1857, and the Bloomington bid was found to be the best, and the location was made there. The only inducement which the act held out for these bids was that of location, and that was the only inducement which the Board was authorized to present, or did present, for its only step in relation to this matter had been to advertise the provision of the statute.

The subscription paper, which Mr. Bakewell says was drawn by some one who was active in getting the Bloomington bid into shape, may have had some such condition as Mr. Bakewell speaks of, but May 1st, still five days before the Board had organized, and seven days before the bids were opened by the Board, was replaced by a bond for a deed, in which there was no other condition than that relating to location.

A summary of their bid prepared and indorsed by Bloomington citizens, May 2, 1857, the indorsers being Leonard Swett, A. Gridley, A. J. Merriam and W. W. Orme, gives the condition of location as the sole condition of that part of the bid made by Mr. Bakewell. General C. Hovey, one of the charter members of the Board, the chairman of its building committee, and the first Principal of the Normal University, says, in two letters written to Mr. Bakewell, one in 1882 and the other in 1883, while this matter was pending before the Thirty-third General Assembly, that, with the records before him, he could have no doubt but that the bond was the paper by which the Bakewell land was donated and on which the Board acted in locating the institution near Bloomington, and quoting his words to Mr. Bakewell: "The 160 acres of land in Normal of which yours was a part was given to the State in consideration that the Normal University, or the buildings of the Normal University, should be located thereon; and the agreement on your part was evidenced by a bond, an instrument in writing bearing date May 1, 1857.

* * * It was upon the faith of that paper, so far as your land grant went, that the Board of Education acted in locating the institution in McLean county."

Hon. S. W. Moulton, of Shelbyville, also one of the charter members of the Board, whose membership continued for twenty-four years, says, in a letter laid before us: "The claim of Bakewell is absurd. It simply is asking the State to give him forty acres of land. From the gift to the State he created a market to his other lands, and thereby realized more than the value of the 40. There never was any condition (as to teaching agriculture as a science) connected with the gift. The deed speaks for itself."

Hon. W. H. Green, of Cairo, who became a member of the Board in 1861, and has been a member ever since, stated that the condition of location was the only condition attached to the gift.

We find that Mr. Bakewell made a deed to the Board for the same land, within a year from the execution of the bond, and that the deed contains the condition as to location alone.

We find that some two years later, when the Board wished to give the land as security for a loan and asked Mr. Bakewell to free the land from any and all conditions, the deed, absolute in terms, names only a condition as to location, which shows either that at that time both Mr. Bakewell and the Board considered that the only valid and binding condition relative to the land, or that they were acting in bad faith towards the men of whom they proposed to borrow.

This mass of testimony from formally executed papers, and from men known to be trustworthy and competent witnesses, is in no manner refuted. The only attempt at a refutation was made by trying to show that a mistake was made in drawing the bond from the subscription paper, and that the Board was responsible for the mistake. But this attempt utterly fails, for (1) the bond was drawn before the Board had as yet organized, before the Bloomington bid was handed in; and (2) Judge Reeves, of Bloomington, who it is claimed made the mistake, himself states, in a letter presented to your committee, which letter was written subsequently to the letter quoted by Mr. Bakewell in the printed statement which he has scattered in the House, that his only connection with the Board was as an attorney for the man first appointed treasurer, and even this quasi attorneyship did not begin until seven days after the bond was drawn and not until after the Bloomington bid was accepted by the Board, for it was not until then that a treasurer was appointed for the first time.

Mr. Bakewell told the committee that his land was probably worth thirty dollars per acre just prior to the location, and that he bargained away the 350 acres which he had after the donation, within a year, for one hundred dollars per acre; so that his land, which stood at less than $12,000 before the location including the forty acres, stood at $35,000 without the forty acres within a year.

Mr. Bakewell further stated to the committee that he now wanted the property conveyed to his wife, on account of financial disasters he had met with.

We repeat, then, that there has been no violation of the condition on which the Board received the gift.

That, on the contrary, there has been a full and complete compliance therewith, and that consequently there has been no forfeiture, and that there should be no reversion, either as a right in law or in equity, or on the ground that Mr. Bakewell made an unprofitable investment when he made the gift.

But there are other important questions involved in the passage of this resolution.

The donation was made to the Board of Education of the State of Illinois. The deed runs from Bakewell to the Board. The Supreme Court of this State held, in the case of the Board of Education of the State of Illinois vs. Greenbaum and Sons, 39 Ill., p. 609, that "the property of the Normal University is not the property of the State, but is the property of the Board of Education of the State of Illinois, as a corporation, whose charter can not be repealed by the Legislature." (9th paragraph of the syllabus).

Now, it is true that an act was passed by the General Assembly in 1867, declaring the Normal University a State institution and its property the property of the State. But this act did not require a conveyance of its property to be made by the Board to the State, nor has any such conveyance ever been made; so the title to the property, as stated above, is still in the Board of Education.

But had the Board conveyed the property to the State, what would it have conveyed? Simply the title which it has. The property was and is held by the Board in trust for the purpose named in the charter—"to qualify teachers for the common schools of the State." The beneficiaries of the trust are manifestly those seeking to be qualified to teach the common schools of the State. And hence the State could not, if it had the title to this land, there having been no forfeiture, divest itself of this title, either in favor of the original donor or any one else, except by an act of the grossest bad faith toward the other donors and the beneficiaries. But when it attempts to vest the property held by an eleemosynary institution in trust, not for the State nor for all the people of the State, but for certain persons named in the act creating the trustees and the trust, the General Assembly far transcends its powers.

Again, suppose the State held the title to this forty acres in fee simple and not in trust, could the General Assembly vest the property in some one else by a joint resolution? The General Assembly may act for itself by a joint resolution: it can only act for the State by enacting a law. If the General Assembly owned the land, it could vest the title in some one else. If the State owns the property, the title of the State can be transferred by a bill alone, which must be passed according to the forms provided in the Constitution in both houses, and must receive the approval of the Governor, who is a constitutional part of the law-making department of the State, or be passed over his veto. In this way only can the General Assembly express the sovereign will of the people—the State. And the only power which the General Assembly has to dispose of the property of the State, it may exercise in that way alone by which it represents the State. It does not represent the State in a joint resolution.

Except in this case no attempt has ever been made by the General Assembly to convey land or to direct its conveyance by joint resolution, so far as we can learn—certainly in none since the adoption of the Constitution of 1870.

To hold that the General Assembly may convey this forty acres of land by joint resolution is to hold that all the real estate owned by the State is held upon the same tenure—that is, that a few members of the two houses, acting under a suspension of the rules, without reading the resolution, without the disclosure of a quorum, or of no quorum, without a call of the roll, may in an hour pass irrevocably the title to all the real property held by the State. We can not agree with the other members of your committee in admitting that the real property of the State—this building and its site, for instance—is held upon any such slight tenure.

Inasmuch, therefore, as we find that the act proposed by this resolution is unconstitutional; that the State does not hold the title to the property which it seeks to convey; that the property is held in trust for the use of certain beneficiaries who would be wronged if this resolution should pass and become effective; that it is held by a just and sufficient title, and that the demand for a reconveyance has no meritorious basis, we, the minority of your committee, make this report and recommend that the resolution do not pass.

L. F. WATSON, Secretary of the Senate.

The Speaker laid before the House the following communication:

STATE OF ILLINOIS SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
SPRINGFIELD, May 19, 1885.

To the Honorable Speaker, and House of Representatives:

The condition of the dome, stylobate, gutters and down-spouts of the State House make it necessary that some appropriation be made by the present General Assembly to protect the building from great injury. That an intelligent understanding be obtained of these necessary repairs, I employed Mr. Geo. H. Helmle, an architect of this city, to examine the above points and report to me a mode of repairing the same in a lasting and economical manner. His report is herewith attached, and the cost of each item contains the expense of putting it in place, or in other words, the work done complete.

The necessity of re-covering the dome has been forced upon me by large sections blowing off in mid-winter, when it was impossible to repair it, thus leaving the building exposed for weeks to the weather, and the constant work necessary to keep it on. The proposed new covering will be so constructed that it can expand and contract without breaking from its fastenings.

The gutters are to be so constructed that they will carry the water clear of the building in case they overflow, and not permit the water, as at present, to escape through the stone work.

The present down-spouts are of cast iron, are becoming thin by rust, and are coloring the stone-work of the building, while the proposed down-spouts are to be of copper, and their number increased.

The stylobate, as at present constructed, is a temporary affair, not according to the original plan, and in constant danger of blowing from its place, and thereby exposing the inside of the building to all water from the dome. The proposed plan for a new stylobate is not expensive, and, in my judgment, will be permanent. I would respectfully ask that the sum of fifty-five thousand dollars ($55,000) be appropriated in the general appropriation bill, to enable me to make the above repairs.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

HENRY D. DEMENT, Secretary of State.

The committee on judiciary, to whom was referred the following joint resolution, respectfully beg leave to report the same back, and recommend that it be not concurred in:

WHEREAS, it is believed that the interests and welfare of the people of the State demand such amendments to the Criminal Code as will, while fully protecting the honest citizen, more certainly procure the punishment of the actually guilty; and

WHEREAS, it is also believed that criminals often escape punishment by reason of defects in the statutes regulating criminal procedure in the various courts of the State; therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That the Governor of the State shall, by and with the approval of the Senate, appoint a commission of fifteen persons, who shall be citizens of this State; and shall be styled a Board of Commissioners to revise the criminal statutes of the State.

Resolved, That said commission shall be composed of five members of the legal profession, two members of other professions, and eight shall be business men not connected with any profession; and said commissioners shall be selected from the Republican and Democratic parties, eight from one and seven from the other.

Resolved, That said commission shall be limited to ninety days for the performance of said work, and each shall receive ten dollars per day for each day actually engaged in said work; to be paid out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Resolved, That it shall be the duty of the Governor to notify said commissioners to assemble at Springfield on a day to be by him named, not later than the first day of January, 1886, at which time and place they shall organize and proceed with said work; first taking the oath prescribed by the Constitution for other officers of the State. Should vacancies occur in said commission by resignation or otherwise, the Governor shall fill the same by appointment. It shall be the duty of said commission to carefully review the criminal statutes of the State, and determine wherein and in what manner said statutes ought to be amended, with a view of better protecting the rights of the people, and removing such obstacles as may exist to just and speedy enforcement of the criminal laws.

Resolved, That it shall be the duty of said commission to request, by writing or otherwise, each Judge of the Supreme Court, and each Judge of the Circuit Courts, and of the courts of Cook county having the jurisdiction of circuit courts in criminal cases, to suggest to said commission such amendments as said judges may respectively believe should be made to said criminal statutes.

Resolved, That said commission shall report the result of their work to the Governor, accompanied by a bill in due form, embracing such amendments as they may recommend to said statutes. It shall be the duty of the Governor to cause said report to be published, for four issues, in two newspapers published in each county in this State where there are two newspapers published, by the first of August, 1886. It shall also be the duty of the Governor to lay said report before the next General Assembly for their action.

Mr. Stassen submitted the following substitute:

WHEREAS, it is evident from the large amount of litigation as indicated by the court records of this State, that the laws must be bad and very defective; and,

WHEREAS, section thirty-one of article six of the Judicial Department of the Constitution provides that the judges of all courts of record shall report in writing the defects and omissions in the laws as their experience may suggest, together with appropriate forms of bills to cure such defects; and,

WHEREAS, if the judges had complied with their sworn duty as required by the constitution, no doubt hundreds of cases now on the records of the courts would never have been entered, if the defects in the laws had been properly reported by the judges, and consequently corrected by the legislative branches of our government; and,

WHEREAS, the judges of the Supreme Court shall, on or before the first day of January of each year, report in writing to the Governor, such defects and omissions in the constitution and laws as they may find to exist, which they have wholly neglected to do; therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That until the judges of the Supreme Court shall comply with their oath of office as provided in section (31) article (6) of the constitution, no pay shall be drawn from the State treasury by said judges until the Governor and Auditor shall certify that they have complied with their oath of office.

Resolved, That the committee on corporations of the House be requested to investigate this subject, and report to the House without delay—

First. Should the acts creating the State Board of Equalization be repealed, or should the powers of the Board be limited or extended.

At the time fixed by the court for the hearing on the report of the commissioners, and to complete the organization of said district, or at the time to which such hearing was continued, any owner of lands in said proposed district may appear in person or by attorney, and persons under guardianship by their guardians, and the court shall appoint a guardian ad litem as in other civil proceedings, and be heard upon any and all questions, matters and things touching said report, and the organization of said district, and the court shall hear the testimony of all witnesses then introduced; and if it shall appear to the court that the lands included in the proposed district will be benefited for agricultural or sanitary purposes, the court shall so find and enter an order declaring such district organized, unless the court shall find, from the testimony introduced on such hearing, that the cost of the proposed work will exceed the benefits to be derived therefrom. In which case the court shall so find, and enter an order to that effect, and dismiss the petition: Provided, however, if the owners of lands lying in said district, who own in the aggregate more than one-half of the land lying therein, still desire the formation of said district, and such desire shall be evidenced by a failure to withdraw their signatures from the petition, the clerk shall enter an order declaring said district organized, and the clerk shall enter the same of record, and the district shall thereupon be deemed fully organized, and shall be known and designated as 'The.....special drainage district, in the county (or counties) of.....and State of Illinois.' The commissioners shall be the corporate authorities thereof, and shall be a body politic and corporate, with like powers as herein conferred upon other drainage commissioners either by this act or other laws of this State; may sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded in their corporate name and capacity, which shall be: 'The commissioners of the.....special drainage district in the county (or counties) of....., and State of Illinois.'

"Section 53. As soon as a special drainage district has been organized containing fifteen (15) or more land owners, it shall be the duty of the county clerk of the county in which the proceedings are instituted, who shall be ex-officio clerk of the commissioners of said district, to give notice, by posting written or printed notices in at least five public places in or near said district, that on a day and place therein named, and at an hour not later than two (2) o'clock P. M., and not less than ten (10) days from the date of notice, an election will be held, for the purpose of electing three (3) drainage commissioners for said district.

"Section 54. In all elections held for the election of drainage commissioners, the drainage commissioners then in office shall be the judges of election, and in the absence or refusal of any of them to act, the voters present may choose a person or persons to fill the vacancy or vacancies. The judges shall choose one of their number to act as clerk. Every adult owner of land in the district, whether residing within or without said district, shall be a voter, and if a resident of the county in which such district or any part thereof lies, eligible to the office of drainage commissioner. The elections shall close at four o'clock P. M., unless the judges of election shall determine to hold the polls open longer, but not later than six (6) o'clock P. M., to accommodate the voters. At the close of the election the judges of election shall canvass the votes, and the three persons, or so many as there are vacancies to be filled, having the highest number of votes, shall be declared elected. In case of a tie, the judges shall determine, by lot, who is elected, and they shall also determine, by lot, at the first election, their respective terms of office, one of whom shall serve for one year, one for two years and one for three years, or such parts thereof as may expire upon the election of their successors, respectively, at the annual meeting, which shall be held each year on the third Tuesday of November, when there shall be elected one drainage commissioner, to hold his office for three years, and until his successor is chosen and qualified. In case of a vacancy in the office from resignation, death, removal or refusal to serve, the commissioners in office shall fill the vacancy by appointment, until such vacancy shall be filled at an annual election. Within five (5) days after every election of drainage commissioners, the judges of election shall cause the poll book to be delivered to the county clerk aforesaid, with a certificate therein showing the names of those elected drainage commissioners, and the terms of each, which poll book shall be filed by the clerk, and be evidence of such election; each commissioner shall, within ten (10) days after his election or appointment, take an oath to faithfully discharge the duties of his office as such commissioner, which oath shall be signed by him and filed in the office of said clerk.

"Section 55. In all special drainage districts containing less than fifteen (15) land owners, the court on the organization of the district shall appoint three drainage commissioners, who shall not be interested in the lands or work to be accomplished, nor of kin to any of the parties interested therein, one of whom shall hold his office for one year, one for two years, and one for three years, or such parts thereof as may expire upon the appointment of his successor, the term of each to be determined by the court, by lot, at the time of such appointment; and annually thereafter, on the first day of the December term of the court, the county court shall appoint one commissioner for such district, who shall hold his office for three years, and until his successor is appointed and qualified, and the court shall fill, by appointment, all vacancies in the office of commissioners, from any cause.

"Section 56. The commissioners, as soon as they are elected, or appointed and qualified, shall go upon the land included in said drainage district and determine upon a system of drainage, which shall provide main outlets of ample capacity for the waters of the district, having in view the future contingencies, as well as the present. A competent engineer shall be employed to locate, and advise upon the character of the work to be done, and report in writing, with maps, profiles and estimates of cost, and in a general way, the benefits to accrue to the lands in the several localities of the district. They shall make, or cause to be made, a map or plat of the district, and of the work to be done therein, which map shall show, with reasonable certainty, the location of the proposed work, and they shall give a name or number to each ditch or drain. The maps and papers showing the final determination as to the system of drainage, shall be filed in the clerk's office, and be recorded in the drainage record.

"Section 57. The commissioners shall then proceed to procure the right of way, where they can do so, by agreement, as provided in section 18 of this act, which releases shall be filed and recorded in the drainage record. Should the commissioners be unable to procure the right of way by agreement with the owner or owners of any land on which the work may be located, they shall file a petition or statement, in writing, with the clerk of the court in which the proceedings are had, requesting the court to issue a venire for a jury to assess damages for right of way, and which petition or statement shall contain a general description of the lands or premises over or through which the right of way is sought, and the name of the owner or owners thereof, if known, the general course and direction of the right of way sought, and the amount of land proposed to be occupied by the same. On such petition or statement being filed, the court shall fix the time for the hearing not less than fifteen days from the date the same is filed, and the clerk shall issue a venire for a jury of twelve disinterested land-owners to appear at the time fixed by the court, which venire shall be delivered to the sheriff to execute the same as venires from courts of record. It shall also be the duty of the clerk to issue a notice or notices, to be served upon the owner or owners of the lands over which the right of way is thus sought, informing him or them, of the time and place when said case, or cases, will be tried, which notice may be substantially in the following form:

To..... You are hereby notified that a jury has been called to meet before the county judge of the..... county of..... State of Illinois, at the court house in said county, on the..... day of..... A. D. 18..... at o'clock..... M., for the purpose of assessing damages in the matter of the..... special drainage district, in the county (or counties) of..... and State of Illinois,..... when and where you can appear and assert your rights if you desire.

which notice shall be signed by the clerk, and attested by his seal of office, and may be served by any constable, sheriff, or other person, by reading the same to the person to whom it is addressed, or by delivering a copy thereof to such person, or by leaving such copy at his usual place of abode, with some person of the family of the age of ten years or upwards, and informing such person of the contents thereof. The service of said notices shall be made at least five days before said hearing. If the service be made by an officer, the return shall be made as in other cases, but if made by any person not an officer, the return shall be made under oath, stating when and in what manner served, and for all services there shall be allowed the same fees as for services of process in civil cases: Provided, that if any of the owner or owners are non-residents or unknown, notice of such proceeding shall be given by publication, in some newspaper published in said county two successive weeks prior to the time of such hearing, which notice shall be substantially in the form as above given. Minors and their guardians shall be notified the same as other owners.

"Section 58. When the jury shall appear, the trial shall be conducted as other cases before said court; either party may have the same number of challenges, and for the same causes as in other civil cases before said court; and if notice shall not have been given as herein provided, or for any other good cause, the court may continue the case from time to time, until proper notice has been given, or the case is ready for trial. The jury shall hear the evidence offered as to the value of the land proposed to be taken, and all damages consequent upon the construction of the proposed work, and may go upon the premises at the request of either party, for the purpose of viewing them, and they shall return, as their verdict, the amount found, if any, in favor of the owner or owners, and against said district, and the court shall enter judgment upon the verdict, unless for good cause shown the court grants a new trial, in which case a time for such new hearing shall be fixed by the court, and a new jury shall be empaneled; the judgment shall be final and conclusive. Vacancies in the panel of jurors, from whatever cause, shall be filled the same as other vacancies in other cases, but such vacancies shall be filled by land-owners. The owners of different tracts of land, whether they be joint or several owners, may be joined in the same petition or statement, and the jury shall hear and determine all cases for which the venire was issued, except when some one or more of the same have been settled, or the proceedings in reference thereto are determined. They shall return in their verdicts the amount allowed, if any, to each owner or joint owner, and in case they are unable to agree as to any one or more of the cases submitted to them, the court shall receive their verdict in the case or cases in which they do agree, upon which, judgment shall be rendered as hereinbefore provided, and a new jury shall be called to hear and determine the case or cases in which the former jury failed to agree, and the court shall fix the time for such hearing by an order entered of record, which shall be conducted and tried as new trials in other cases, but may be heard at the same, or a subsequent term of the court. The court shall allow amendments to the petition, or other papers or records in the proceedings, at any time before rendering judgment.

"Section 59. At the earliest practicable day the commissioners shall proceed to make a special assessment of benefits as provided in sections 21 and 22 of this act, so that each tract benefited shall bear its proportionate share of the entire costs and expenses of such work and proceedings.

"Section 60. They shall without delay make out and file in the office of the clerk of said court the table or map, either or both, showing the classification of the lands and premises in said district, the names of the owners thereof, if known, and when unknown, stating 'unknown,' and they may attach to the same a statement of damages allowed, together with any statement or explanation they may think proper or necessary to a full understanding thereof by all persons. Said commissioners, shall fix the time, not less than fifteen (15) days from the filing thereof, when they will meet to hear any and all objections that may be made to their classification, which meeting shall be at the court house of the county in which the district was organized, unless the commissioners shall, for the convenience of persons interested, designate some other place; and it shall thereupon be the duty of said clerk to issue notice or notices of the time and place of such meeting, which notice or notices may be in substance as follows:

To whom it may concern: You are hereby notified that the commissioners of the..... special drainage district, in the county (or counties, as the case may be) of and State of Illinois, have filed their classification of lands benefited in said district, and that they will, on the day of A. D. 18...., at the hour of o'clock M., meet at to hear any and all objections that may be made to the same, when and where you can appear and be heard, if you see fit.

Dated at county of, State of Illinois, this day of....., 18....,

which notice shall be signed by said clerk, and shall be published in some newspaper or newspapers printed or published in the county or counties in which the district or any part thereof is located, for two successive weeks, the first publication to be at least fifteen (15) days prior to the time for such hearing. The commissioners or a majority of them shall meet at the time and place fixed for the hearing, and shall hear all objections that may be urged, by any person interested, to their classification. They may adjourn from day to day, or from time to time, as deemed necessary, by public announcement, until all objections are heard. All persons shall take cognizance of all adjournments without further notice. After hearing all objections that may be offered to their classification the commissioners shall, if satisfied that any injustice has been done, correct the same in accordance with the rights and justice of the matter, which corrections or changes, if any, may be made on the table or map, and the commissioners shall thereupon confirm their classification; but if not so satisfied, they shall confirm their classifications as originally made and shall make an order to that effect. All orders made by the commissioners, either of correction or confirmation, shall be filed in said clerk's office within five days from the completion of the hearing, and any person appearing and urging objections who is not satisfied with the decision of the commissioners in confirming the classification of his lands, may appeal therefrom, within ten (10) days after the order of the commissioners is filed in said court aforesaid, by filing with the clerk of said court an appeal bond with good and sufficient security, to be approved by the clerk or judge thereof, payable to said drainage district, conditioned for the payment of such tax as may be levied upon the land in question and all costs occasioned by said appeal in case said order of said commissioners shall be affirmed.

"Section 61. Where the district lies wholly in one county under township organization, the appeal shall be taken to three supervisors, as provided in sections 24 and 25 of this act; where it lies wholly in a county not under township organization, the appeal shall be taken to the county commissioners; where it lies in two counties under township organization, all of the supervisors shall not be selected from the same county; where it lies in more than two counties under township organization, the board of appeal shall consist of one supervisor from each county in which any part of the district lies, to be selected by the clerk of the commissioners. Where it lies wholly in two counties not under township organization, the appeal board shall consist of three of the county commissioners, but not more than two members of such board shall be selected from the same county; where it lies in more than two counties not under township organization, one member of the board of appeal shall be selected from each county in which the district or any part thereof lies; and where it lies partly in a county or counties under township organization and partly in a county or counties not under township organization, at least one member of the board of appeal shall be selected by the clerk from each county in which any part of the district lies, and shall be a supervisor or one of the officers hereinafter mentioned, as the case may be, and the clerk shall summons the members constituting the appeal board in the same manner; and the clerk, as also the board of appeal, shall have like power, and perform like duties, as near as may be, as is provided by section 25 of this act, and the classification, when made and confirmed, shall be conclusive, and shall be recorded in the drainage record:

"Section 62. As soon as the classification has been corrected and confirmed by the commissioners, or board of appeal, as provided in the preceding section, it shall be competent for the commissioners to order such amount of money to be raised by special assessment upon the lands of the district which are benefited as may be necessary, according to the best judgment of the commissioners, which amount shall be certified and returned by the commissioners to the clerk of said court, who shall record the same in the drainage record. The certificate may be substantially as follows:

We hereby certify that we require the sum of dollars to be levied as a special assessment or tax for drainage purposes on the lands and property benefited in the special drainage district in the county (or counties) of and State of Illinois.

Given under our hands this day of, 18....,

which certificate shall be signed by the commissioners in their corporate name. It shall thereupon be the duty of said clerk to compute and apportion the amount thus levied among the several tracts, in the name of the owners when known, according to acreage of each and its figure of classification on the graduated scale, so that each tract may bear its equal burden in proportion to benefits. The commissioners shall make out a tax list, which shall conform, as near as the facts will admit, to the list provided for in section 26 of this act, which list shall be signed by the commissioners and filed by the clerk, and any party against whose land a tax has been thus levied may appeal therefrom to the county court in the same time and manner and upon the same grounds as provided in section 27 of this act.

“Section 63. If at any time the commissioners shall find that the amount of such assessment or tax levied will be inadequate to complete the proposed work, they shall make such additional levy or levies as may be necessary to complete the proposed work, which additional levy or levies shall be made on the original classification as herein provided for the first assessment or tax levy and computed and extended by the clerk in the same manner. Upon any levy being made as herein provided, it shall be competent for the commissioners to order the tax to be paid in installments of such amounts and at such times as will be convenient for the accomplishment of the proposed work; otherwise, the whole amount of such tax shall be payable immediately upon such confirmation, and shall be a lien upon the lands assessed until paid; and such taxes shall draw interest at the rate of eight (8) per cent. per annum from the time they shall become payable till they are paid, and such interest may be collected and enforced as part of the taxes: Provided, however, if, in the judgment of the commissioners, the payment of said tax or any installment or installments thereof for the speedy completion of the proposed work would be too heavy a burden upon the owners and persons interested to pay in time to be used for said work, the commissioners may at any time after the levy has been made postpone the payment of such tax, or any one or more installment or installments, or any part thereof, to such time or times as they may think proper and advisable, but not longer than fifteen (15) years from the time of the levy thereof. For the construction of the proposed work or for the continuation and completion of the same where it has been commenced, the commissioners may borrow money not exceeding in amount ninety per cent. of any assessment or levy unpaid at the time of borrowing, and may secure the payment of the same by notes or bonds of said district, bearing interest not to exceed seven (7) per cent. per annum. The interest may be made payable annually or semi-annually, which notes or bonds may be made due and payable at the same or different times, but shall not run beyond one year after the last assessment or levy on account of which the money is borrowed falls due, which notes or bonds shall not be held to make the commissioners personally liable for the money borrowed, but shall constitute a lien upon the assessment or assessments, levy or levies on account of which they are issued, for the repayment of the principal and interest thereon. On the correction and confirmation of said assessment or levy it shall be the duty of the clerk of said court to record the same, together with all orders of the commissioners or court, in the drainage record, and he shall make a certified copy of such tax list, the order of the commissioners and court, either or both, correcting and confirming the same, and of the order of the commissioners showing how or when the assessment or tax for benefits is payable, and deliver the same to the treasurer of said district, who shall proceed to collect the taxes or installments as they come due.

“Section 64. In any case or cases where the drainage commissioners of any special drainage district heretofore organized, or that may be hereafter organized under the laws of this State, have or may, for the purpose of constructing or completing the work to such district, issued notes or bonds on any assessment or assessments, installment or installments, the payment of which at maturity would in the judgment of the commissioners be an unreasonable burden on the owners of lands assessed, said commissioners shall have the right and power to fund such notes or bonds, as the case may be, or any part thereof, and issue new notes or bonds to the amount of the unpaid assessment or assessments, installment or installments, upon which such notes or bonds thus outstanding were issued, which new notes or bonds may bear interest not to exceed seven (7) per cent. per annum. Said commissioners may extend the time for the payment of any such assessment or assessments, installment or installments, as the case may be, by an order signed by them and filed with the clerk thereof, to be by him recorded in the drainage record, and a certified copy thereof to be by said clerk delivered to the treasurer of said district, which order shall operate to suspend the time for collection until the time fixed in said order of the assessment or assessments, installment or installments, named in said order. Such new notes or bonds shall run not to exceed one year beyond the time thus fixed for the payment of the assessment or assessments, installment or installments upon which the same is, or are, issued. And the old notes or bonds shall be taken up and canceled by said commissioners immediately upon issuing the new notes or bonds on the same assessment or installment, or any part thereof. The payment of interest on all notes or bonds shall be provided for, collected and paid as herein provided for the payment of interest in other cases.

“Section 65. Whenever a petition signed by a majority in number of the adult owners of lands assessed for benefits in any special drainage district heretofore or hereafter organized under any law of this State, and who own, in the aggregate, at least one-third of such land, shall be presented to the drainage commissioners of such district, representing that any assessment or tax has been made against the lands assessed for benefits for the purpose of constructing the work therein, and that the same has been confirmed and is unpaid in whole or in part, and that it would promote the interest of the land owners in such district to extend the time of the payment thereof or any part of the same, stating what part, and the time or times to which they desire such extension made, but not to exceed ten (10) years from the time the assessment or levy was confirmed, and asking that such extension be made and that bonds of the district be issued, not exceeding in amount the amount of the assessment levy or part thereof thus sought to be extended, it shall be the duty of the commissioners of such district to enter an order extending the time of the payment thereof as asked for in said petition, and thereupon it shall be competent for said commissioner to issue the bonds of said district to the amount thus extended, which bonds shall bear interest not to exceed seven (7) per cent. per annum, payable annually or semi-annually, and shall be a lien on the assessment levy or part thus extended, and shall run not longer than one year beyond the time the same becomes due by said extension. The petition and order of the commissioners shall be filed and recorded in the drainage record, and shall operate to stay the collection of the assessment, levy or part thus extended to the time fixed by said [commissioners,] and shall be sufficient authority for the issuing of such bonds by the commissioners of such district. No bonds issued under the provisions of this act shall be sold for less than their par value.

“Section 66. Before issuing any bonds under the provisions of this act the corporate authorities of any district desiring to issue bonds shall provide a well bound book in which a record of all bonds issued, with their number, amount, rate of interest, date of issue, when due, where payable, amount received for the same and the assessment, tax levy, installment or part thereof on account of which the bonds are issued shall be made, and said book shall at all times be open to the inspection of all parties interested in said district, either as taxpayers or bondholders, and on the payment of any bond an entry thereof shall be [made] in said book in proper column for that purpose.

"Section 67. On the presentation of any bond issued under the provisions of this act at the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts for registration, the said Auditor shall cause the same to be registered in his office in a book to be kept for that purpose. Such registration shall show the date, amount, number, date of maturity, rate of interest, time when such interest is payable, and place of payment of the principal and interest of such bond; under what act, and by what district issued, and the name of the person or persons presenting the same for registration; and for such registration the Auditor shall be entitled to a fee of twenty-five cents. And the Auditor shall, under the seal of his office, certify upon such bond the fact of such registration, for which the Auditor shall be entitled to a fee of twenty-five cents, such fees to be paid by the person or persons desiring such registration and certificate, but no bonds issued under this act shall be entitled to registration in the office of the State Auditor until a sworn statement by the corporate authorities of the district issuing the bond shall have been filed with him showing the date of the organization of the district, in what county organized, the time when the assessment levy or part thereof on account of which the bonds are issued will become due, and the date, number, amount, rate of interest, and the date of maturity of the bonds, together with any other information in relation thereto which may be demanded by the Auditor of Public Accounts.

"Section 68. When any bonds issued under the provisions of this act shall be so registered, the Auditor of Public Accounts shall annually ascertain the amount of interest or interest and principal due and accrued, or to accrue for the current year, on all such bonds so registered in his office, together with the ordinary cost to the State of the collection and disbursement of the same, to be estimated by the Auditor and State Treasurer, and shall make out and transmit to the county clerk of the county in which said district is organized, a certificate setting forth such estimated amount of such particular district for such purposes, to be filed in his office and recorded in the drainage record, and the amount thereof shall thereupon be deemed added to and a part of the amount which may be levied or provided by law within the limits of said district for the purposes of State revenue; and thereupon it shall be the duty of the clerk of said district to compute and apportion the amount so certified among the several tracts and property assessed for benefits in such district, in the manner as original levies are computed under this act; and thereupon he shall make out a tax list of the lands and property in the district, and extend opposite each tract and property its pro rata share of the amount so certified by the Auditor, and deliver the same to the treasurer of the district. Where the district lies in more than one county, the clerk shall make out a separate tax list of the lands and property assessed for benefits in each county, showing the pro rata share levied against the same separately, and deliver the same to the county clerk of the respective counties, and the clerk or clerks of the respective counties at the time of making up the tax books and extending State taxes shall extend on the tax books, for collection, the pro rata share thus levied, and the same shall be collected with the State taxes, and all laws of this State relating to the State revenue shall apply thereto.

"Section 69. The State shall be deemed the custodian, only, of the tax so collected and shall not be deemed in any manner liable on account of such bonds, but the tax and funds so collected shall be deemed pledged and appropriated to the payment of the principal and interest of the registered bonds to satisfy which the same is hereinbefore provided to be collected as aforesaid, and such bonds, issued under the authority hereof shall be deemed secured and provided for in virtue thereof until fully satisfied. The State shall annually collect and app'y the said fund to the satisfaction of the interest, or interest and principal, as the case may be, of such registered bonds of any such district, and the interest coupons or bonds so paid shall be canceled by the State Treasurer and returned to the corporate authorities of the district which issued them.

"Section 70. It shall be the duty of the commissioners of every special drainage district heretofore organized under any law of this State, as also the commissioners of every such district hereafter organized, to file on or before the first day of December of each year, with the county clerk of the county in which the district was or may be organized, a statement of the date, number and amount of all notes or bonds issued by them as such commissioners, and which remain unpaid, the time the same will mature, the rate of interest such notes or bonds bear, and the time the interest falls due, the amount necessary to be levied on the lands assessed for benefits in order to meet the payment of the interest for the ensuing year; also the amount, if any, necessary to be levied to keep the work, or any part thereof, in repair for the year next ensuing; also the amount of any deficiency in the payment of interest before accrued, or in the payment of repairs made; and the clerk shall compute the pro rata share which each tract or parcel of land or property in said district, assessed for benefits, will have to pay to raise said respective amounts, which pro rata share shall be in the same proportion as the assessment for the construction of said work; and it shall be the duty of the county clerk of the county in which the lands are located to extend the same on the collector's books, the same as State, county, municipal or other taxes are extended, in appropriate column or columns; and in case the lands or property assessed lie in more than one county, the county clerk of the county in which the district is organized shall certify to the clerk, or clerks, of such other county or counties a description of the lands or property assessed in such other county, and the amount to be extended against the same for interest, as also for repairs, either or both; and on receiving such certificate the clerk of the proper county shall extend the same on the proper collector's book, in proper columns, the same as though the whole proceedings and district were in his county; and the amounts so extended shall be collected at the same time and in the same manner as other taxes on like property, and shall be paid over by the party collecting, to the treasurer of the drainage district, in the same time and manner as taxes collected are required to be paid to treasurers of municipal corporations. No levy or assessment made by the commissioners to meet the payment of interest on the notes or bonds of the district unpaid shall be used for any other purpose, but shall be faithfully applied to the payment of such interest as it becomes due: Provided, where the whole or any part of the bonds of the district are registered, and the Auditor of Public Accounts has levied, as hereinbefore provided, an amount sufficient to meet the payment of the interest on such registered bonds as it becomes due, then the commissioners shall make their levy so as to meet the payment of the interest on the bonds that are not registered.

"Section 71. The county treasurer of the county in which the proceedings for the organization of a special drainage district are commenced, and district organized, shall be the collector and treasurer of such district. He shall give bond to the commissioners in such sum as they may fix, not less than double the amount likely to come into his hands in any one year, which bond shall be signed by two responsible securities, approved by the commissioners and filed and recorded in the office of the clerk: Provided, where the district lies in two or more counties, the commissioners may appoint the county treasurer of either county as treasurer for the district.

"Section 72. Any and all assessments made under any law of this State heretofore in force for the organization of special drainage districts, as also all assessments or levies hereafter made under the provisions of this act, shall be taken, held and considered to be a lien upon each and every tract of land or property assessed in such district to the extent and amount of the proportionate share assessed or levied against the same, but such land, or owner thereof, shall not be liable for more than such proportionate share and the subsequent levy or levies for construction and for the payment of interest or repairs, which lien may be discharged on the payment of the amount thereof to the treasurer of said district at any time before notes or bonds of the district are issued on the assessment. In case the owner or owners of any lands lying in said district, and which are assessed, fails or neglects to pay any assessment or assessments, installment or installments, tax levy or levies when due, and the same be not collected on or before the annual sale of lands for non-payment of taxes, the commissioners of such drainage district may file a petition in the circuit court of the county in which the land or property upon which such assessment, installment or levy has not been paid, for a foreclosure of such lien; and the commissioners may proceed in their corporate name and capacity to foreclose such lien as provided by law. They may also commence and maintain suits at law for the recovery of judgment against the person or party whose lands or property is assessed for benefits, for any assessment or tax or any part thereof which remains due and unpaid on the lands and property of such person or party. Any judgment so recovered may be enforced and collected as other judgment in the same court. The remedy provided in this section for the collection of delinquent special assessments or taxes shall not be construed to abridge or in any manner interfere with the right and power to enforce collection of any delinquent assessment or tax in the manner provided by the revenue laws of this State, or other provisions of this act, but the remedy herein provided shall be taken and held as an additional means to enforce payment of such delinquent assessment or tax.

"Section 73. The commissioners provided for in this act shall receive two dollars and fifty cents per day for the time actually employed in the discharge of the duties of their office. They shall make out their account under oath, and in all districts except special drainage districts their account shall be audited and allowed by the board of auditors of the town in which the district is organized; and in special drainage districts their account shall be presented to and allowed by the judge of the court in which the district is organized; and the amount allowed by the board of auditors, or court, as the case may be, shall be paid out of the funds of the district for which the services were rendered. The clerk of the commissioners shall receive the same fees as is allowed for like services in other matters connected with his office. If a civil engineer shall be employed he shall receive not to exceed five ($5) dollars per day for the time actually employed. The treasurer shall receive for his services such sum as may be fixed by the commissioners, not to exceed.....per cent. of moneys collected by him, and not to exceed one per cent. on moneys paid him by other collectors or treasurers, and in no case shall the treasurer receive to exceed five hundred dollars for his services in any one year from any one district. All fees and allowances shall be paid out of the funds of the district for which the services were or may be rendered.

River Districts.

"Section 74. Mr. Speaker: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has adopted the following preamble and joint resolution, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives, to-wit:

WHEREAS, the edition of the report of the Adjutant General of the State of Illinois published in 1867, containing a roster of the officers and men of the volunteer soldiers who served in the Illinois regiments during the War of the Rebellion, has been exhausted for a number of years, and the volumes are now out of print and inaccessible by purchase or otherwise; and

WHEREAS, the Department of Illinois, Grand Army of the Republic, an organization numbering over twenty thousand members, composed wholly of honorably discharged soldiers of the late war, at the Annual Encampment of the Order held at Peoria in February last, adopted a resolution praying the General Assembly to have this report reprinted for the benefit of the old soldiers and their friends, at the expense of the State, and to make an appropriation for the proper preparation of said report for the press and the publication thereof; and

WHEREAS, it has been ascertained, by inquiry of the custodian of the proper funds, that no increase in the regular appropriations heretofore made for binding, and for paper and stationery, will be necessary if the order for reprint be given; therefore,

Resolved by the Senate, the House concurring herein, That the Adjutant General of the State be, and he is hereby authorized and directed to properly prepare and furnish to the public printer, with as little delay as possible, the copy for printing; using slips from the present printed volumes and making such corrections as may be necessary, incorporating therein such information as he may have received or be able to obtain from the war department at Washington, and from other sources of information, in order that the report so published shall present as true and correct history of each soldier's record as may be possible to procure. He shall also include the names of any individual soldier or bodies of troops called into the service of the State or National Government and not heretofore published, including sailors and marines; he shall also correct and complete the regimental histories contained in the present report, from such data as he may be able to procure from official or other reliable sources. If in his judgment matter now in the report can be omitted without detriment in any way, or doing any injustice to any one, and the omission of which will in no way diminish the value of the report, such matter may be omitted.

Resolved, That upon notice from the Adjutant General that he is ready to furnish the copy as aforesaid, the Board of State Contracts shall order printed by the contractor for the State printing, and bound by the contractor for State binding, five thousand copies of said report in set of volumes, in the same style of printing and binding as the edition of 1867. The printing shall be done at the contract price for the class to which such printing belongs. The binding shall be done by the public binder in the manner before prescribed, but the price per volume shall not exceed 25 cents.

Resolved, That said report, when published, shall be distributed in the manner prescribed by law, as follows: Two copies to the Headquarters of the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic of the United States, for the use of the Commander-in-Chief and Adjutant-General, respectively; two copies to each Department Headquarters, for the use of the Department Commander and Assistant Adjutant-General, respectively; one copy to each Post in the Department of Illinois, Grand Army of the Republic, upon application of the Commander or Adjutant of the Post; one copy to each State officer required by law to reside at the capital; five copies to each member of the Thirty-fourth General Assembly, and one copy to each elective officer thereof; one copy to each library in the State; one copy to the office of each county clerk in this State; one copy to the Adjutant-General of the Army of the United States; one copy to the Library of Congress; one copy to each of the offices of the Adjutants General of each State and Territory; ten copies to the State Library of this State. The committee beg leave to make the following report, and recommend its adoption:

WHEREAS, the revenue laws of the State of Illinois have become wholly inadequate to guarantee equal and just taxation upon all the property of the State, as required by the Constitution, as the decrease of the assessed value of property year after year will show;

WHEREAS, great complaints are coming from the people that real estate is bearing its undue proportion of taxation, while other property and great interests largely enjoying the protection of State and municipal government, unjustly escape their share of the burdens of such government; and,

WHEREAS, the many attempts, during the sessions of the General Assembly, to so amend and revise the revenue laws of the State so as to secure a just assessment and collection of taxes have signally failed; therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of Illinois, the Senate concurring hereto, That the Governor is hereby authorized and directed to appoint a committee of twelve (12) men, an equal number of which shall be of the two leading political parties of the State, with authority to propose and frame a revenue code, which in their opinion and best judgment shall be of practical execution, and shall be just to all classes of property, and in keeping with our complicated systems of business, commerce and individual or corporate avocations, and report the same to the next General Assembly of the State of Illinois. That said committee shall meet on the first Wednesday of September A. D. 1885, in the law library room of the State capital, at Springfield, and shall organize by electing one of their number chairman, and one competent person as stenographic clerk, and the adoption of such rules and modes of procedure as the committee shall determine.

That on or before the first day of March, A. D. 1886, said committee shall furnish to the Secretary of State a true copy of their report, which Secretary shall at once cause to be printed and formulated in pursuance of the law in such case provided; one hundred copies to be furnished each Senator and Representative of the 34th General Assembly, to be by them circulated throughout their respective districts, and a sufficient number to each of the county clerks of the State to furnish one copy to each county officer and to each revenue officer within their respective counties; one copy to every newspaper in the State, and 100 copies to each member of said committee, and one copy to each member and officer of the 35th General Assembly. Each member of said committee shall receive for his services and entire expenses ten dollars per day for every day employed, not to exceed ninety, and the said clerk shall receive six dollars per day for every day employed by said committee.

The Auditor shall draw his warrants upon the Treasurer, upon the order of the chairman of said committee, for the payment of all moneys herein provided for, which shall be paid out of any money appropriated by law for such purposes.

Said commission shall have power to send for persons and papers and take such testimony as they may deem proper, and the Secretary of State shall furnish said committee with all necessary stationery.

M., and the committee be discharged.

And the motion prevailed.

Your committee, appointed on the 18th day of March, to investigate the management of the State Grain Inspection Department at the city of Chicago, respectfully report: That in pursuance to that resolution of the House, they did, on the 28th of March, meet at the Palmer House, in the city of Chicago, and after duly organizing, caused subpoenas to be issued for a large number of witnesses, who appeared before the said committee. From day to day they gave in their testimony, the stenographic transcript of which is herewith filed, and made a part of this, our report.

The committee particularly report that it appears from the testimony of the Chief Grain Inspector himself, and from members of the Board of Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners, and others, that there was, at the time said testimony was given, the sum of $31,233.48 of a fund belonging to said State Grain Inspection Department, and that the same had been, by the said Chief Grain Inspector, deposited in his own name in the Illinois Trust and in the Metropolitan National Bank, and that the said Chief Inspector had received and appropriated to his own use the interest upon said sum. This interest he acknowledged to have appropriated without authority from the Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners, and, as the testimony shows, without their knowledge and consent. Said Chief Grain Inspector was also furnished the use of a horse and buggy, and during all the time he has been Chief Inspector he has held another lucrative office in the city of Chicago, and enjoyed the emoluments thereof, while receiving pay for his services from the State as Chief Grain Inspector for his whole time.

The committee would further report, it appears from the said testimony that men have been retained upon the pay-rolls of the department who have rendered no services to the State, presumably as a reward for political services, notably in the case of Senator Ruger.

It further appears from the testimony that during the campaign an assessment was made, or attempted to be made, upon the employes of said office for the benefit of one John M. Hamilton, the Governor of the State of Illinois; and that during the fall campaign, certain employes of said office were permitted to go, or did go, to the State of Ohio, in the capacity of Deputy U. S. Marshals, to interfere with or regulate the elections in the city of Cincinnati, in October, 1884.

It also further appears that men admittedly competent have been discharged from the employ of said service and upon the mere whim or dictation of Governor Hamilton, without the assignment of any reason therefor, notably in the case of J. Howard Jones.

The testimony further shows, in the opinion of the committee, that men have been retained for political or family reasons who were incompetent or unable to perform the necessary duties of the positions to which they were assigned, as in the case of the son of the Chief Grain Inspector.

The committee would further report, that in its judgment the system of inspection as now organized and carried on under the control of the State, is more expensive and less efficient than while under the control of the merchants of Chicago, and that proper safeguards should be thrown around said department, or else the system should be abandoned and left to the management and control of the receivers and shippers of grain.

THOMAS J. McNALLY,

ANDREW WELCH,

MINORITY REPORT.

We, the undersigned, members of a committee appointed March 18, 1885, to investigate the management of the State Grain Inspection Department of the City of Chicago, desire to make a minority report in relation to said investigation. We concur with the majority report that the evidence shows that the Chief Grain Inspector had $31,233.48 to his credit in the banks named, and that said Grain Inspector had received interest on the same amounting to $822.22. During the two years he has held the office the testimony shows that the Grain Inspector gives a bond in the sum of $50,000 for the faithful discharge of his duties, and that the State furnishes no place in which he could keep the money safely, and he has no other place to keep said money except to deposit it in some bank, for which he and his bondsmen are responsible in case the bank should fail and the money should be lost. We therefore think the $822.22 a very small compensation for the risk in carrying the money for about two years. The evidence does not show that the State furnishes the Chief Grain Inspector with a horse and buggy, but it does show that the Chief Grain Inspector owns the horse he uses and that the Department owned a buggy which the Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners turned over to Mr. Drake, which he is now using under their direction. We beg leave to differ with the majority report that men have been retained on the pay-rolls who have rendered no service to the State and as a reward for political service. The pay-rolls show about 50 employes, made up from both political parties without regard to their political convictions, and we think it the best endorsement that could have been made of the acts of the Chief Grain Inspector in making his appointments, that in about two years service with 50 employes, the committee could only criticise the appointment of one man, who only served on the force three months and was discharged as soon as it became evident that he was not suitable for the place. The evidence does not show that any assessment was made or attempted to be made upon the employes for the benefit of John M. Hamilton or any other person. The evidence does not show that the Chief Grain Inspector gave leave of absence to any employe to go to the State of Ohio in the capacity of Deputy U. S. Marshal. The only evidence given on this subject was that one of the employes got a leave of absence without any knowledge of the Department of where he was going; and during the said leave of absence he went to the city of Cincinnati, Ohio, to assist in pointing out to the authorities there the repeaters sent over from Chicago by the party to which the majority of this committee belongs.

There is no evidence to show that any person has been discharged upon the dictation or whim of Governor Hamilton.

There is no evidence to show that any person has been employed for political or family reasons who was not competent to perform the duties to which he was assigned.

The evidence shows that Mr. Drake's son was on the force as a "helper," which position is opening cars with a crow-bar, and assisting the Deputy Inspector; which duties he performed to the satisfaction of every person.

The evidence shows that the management under the present Chief Inspector has been very efficient and economical, and many reforms have been made that have been of great benefit to the department, and given general satisfaction to the public. We therefore ask that the minority report be adopted, and the committee be discharged from a further consideration of this subject.

ABNER TAYLOR,
CHARLES E. SCHARLAU.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Edward I. Boies, Assistant Secretary.

Mr. Speaker: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has concurred with them in the adoption of the following preamble and joint resolution, to-wit:

WHEREAS, the revenue laws of the State of Illinois have become wholly inadequate to guarantee equal and just taxation upon all the property of the State as required by the Constitution, as the decrease of the assessed value of property year after year will show;

WHEREAS, great complaints are coming from the people that real estate is bearing its undue proportion of taxation, while other property and great interests largely enjoying the protection of State and municipal government unjustly escape their share of the burdens of such government; and,

WHEREAS, the many attempts during the sessions of the General Assembly to so amend and revise the revenue laws of the State so as to secure a just assessment and collection of taxes, have signally failed; therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of Illinois, the Senate concurring herein, That the Governor is hereby authorized and directed to appoint a committee of twelve (12) men, an equal number of which shall be of the two leading political parties of the State, with authority to propose and frame a revenue code, which in their opinion and best judgment shall be of practical execution, and shall be just to all classes of property and in keeping with our complicated systems of business, commerce and individual or corporate avocations, and report the same to the next General Assembly of the State of Illinois. That said committee shall meet on the first Wednesday of September, A. D. 1885, in the law library room of the State capitol at Springfield, and shall organize by electing one of their number chairman, and one competent person as stenographer clerk, and the adoption of such rules and modes of procedure as the committee shall determine.

That on or before the first day of March, A. D. 1886, said committee shall furnish to the Secretary of State a true copy of their report, which the Secretary shall at once cause to be printed and formulated in pursuance of the law in such case provided; one hundred copies to be furnished each Senator and Representative of the 34th General Assembly, to be by them circulated throughout their respective districts, and a sufficient number to each of the county clerks of the State to furnish one copy to each county officer and to each revenue officer within their respective counties; one copy to every newspaper in the State, and 100 copies to each member of said committee, and one copy to each member and officer of the 35th General Assembly. Each member of said committee shall receive for his services and entire expenses ten dollars per day for every day employed, not to exceed ninety, and the said clerk shall receive six dollars per day for every day employed by said committee.

The Auditor shall draw his warrants upon the Treasurer upon the order of the chairman of said committee, for the payment of all moneys herein provided for, which shall be paid out of any money appropriated by law for such purposes.

Said commission shall have power to send for persons and papers and take such testimony as they may deem proper, and the Secretary of State shall furnish said committee with all necessary stationery.

When the lands proposed to be organized into a drainage district lie in two towns in the same or in different counties, both under township organization, such district shall be designated as Union District No., of the towns of, county of, State of Illinois. The petition shall be filed with the clerk of the town in which the greater part of the district lies, and such clerk shall select three commissioners for said district from the commissioners of highways of the two towns, taking a part from each town, to constitute the drainage commissioners for the union district, and the clerk shall notify each of them of their selection and of the time when they shall meet at his office as provided in section twelve (12) of this act, or to meet as provided in section sixteen, as the case may be. The clerk and commissioners shall have like powers and duties as provided for such officers in districts wholly in one town: Provided, however, if such district lies partly in two counties, the delinquent tax shall be made separately for such parts as lie in each, and be returned to the collector of the proper county.

Special Drainage Districts.

"Section 49. When the proposed district lies in three or more towns in the same or different counties, or in a county not under township organization, or partly in a county under township organization and partly in a county not under township organization, the petition as provided in section 11 shall be presented to the county court of that county in which the greater part of the lands of the district shall lie, and be accompanied by a bond, signed by at least three responsible persons, conditioned for the payment of all costs to the officers of the court or accruing to other parties by virtue of the proceedings in case such district be not established, the bond to be approved by the clerk or county judge. Such districts when formed shall be known as special drainage district in county (or counties) and State of Illinois.

"Section 50. It shall be the duty of the clerk of said court to give notice by posting notices in at least five public places in each township in which said proposed district or any part thereof shall lie, also by publishing for three successive weeks a like notice in some weekly newspaper in said county or counties, which said notice shall contain a copy of the petition, and state the day of the term of court when such petition and all parties interested will be heard. The petition may be heard on any day of a probate or common law term of court, not less than twenty days from the filing of said petition. The posting and first publication of said notices shall be at least twenty days before the hearing of said petition, and it shall be the duty of the clerk of said court to mail, at least ten days before the time fixed for the hearing of said petition, a copy of such notice to each person owning lands in said district whose name, or postoffice address or place of residence is given, and whose name does not appear signed to said petition; and the clerk shall, on or before the time fixed for such hearing, file the publisher's certificate of publication, together with his certificate of the mailing of such notices, giving the name of each person to whom notice was sent, also of the posting of the notices in each township, if the same or any part of said notices are posted by him, and the affidavit of all persons posting such notices or any of them, which certificates and affidavits shall be evidence of the facts therein stated.

"Section 51. It shall be the duty of the said court, at the time set for such hearing, to examine said petition, and if the court shall find, upon examination, that it is signed and that notice has been given as required herein, the court shall so find. The affidavits of three (3) credible signers of such petition that they are acquainted with the locality, and that they verily believe that such petition is signed as required, shall be taken as prima facie evidence of such facts against all persons owning lands therein, and as conclusive evidence against all signers of such petition, of the facts therein stated, and that they admit the necessity of organization under the provisions of this act and for the assessment of benefits and damages hereunder. At such meetings, any other owner or owners of land within said district shall be permitted to place his, her or their names on said petition, if they so desire. Any person owning land in said district, whose name is not on said petition, may, at said time and place, appear and controvert any material statements in said petition. And for the purpose of such hearing, and of publishing, posting and mailing of notices, the court shall have power to examine witnesses produced before it, and may continue the hearing from time to time, until all matters are heard and determined by the court.

"Section 52. Should the court find against the petitioners, it shall enter an order to that effect, and the petition shall thereupon be dismissed at the cost of the petitioners; should the court find in favor of the petitioners, it shall enter an order to that effect, and it shall thereupon be the duty of the court to appoint three drainage commissioners for said district, who shall at once proceed to the examination of the lands in said proposed district. Said commissioners shall go upon the lands included in said proposed district, and personally examine the same; they shall have power to employ a competent civil engineer, if, in their opinion, the services of an engineer be necessary, who shall make such surveys and estimates as said commissioners may direct, and shall, if required by said commissioners, make and return to them a map, or plat, of his surveys, and a full report of all estimates required of him. Said commissioners shall make out and file with the clerk of the court a full report of their acts and doings as such commissioners, together with all maps, plats, surveys and estimates made or caused to be made by them, or the engineer employed by them, and may put into said report any recommendation they may deem advisable, which report shall be signed by the commissioners, and filed as aforesaid, on or before the time fixed by the court for the hearing to complete the organization of said district, or such further time as the court may give for the filing of the same. It shall be the duty of the court at the time of the appointment of said commissioners to fix the time for the hearing of said commissioners' report as aforesaid, and to complete the organization of said said district, and no further notice thereof shall be required, and said commissioners shall then appear before said court and file their report, with all maps, plats, surveys and estimates, if the same has not been previously filed in said court. The time fixed by the court for such hearing shall not be more than thirty days subsequent to the date of the appointment of said commissioners. At the time fixed for the said hearing, if the commissioners have not completed their estimates, or for other cause have not their report completed, the court may continue the hearing to such further time as will enable the commissioners to complete their work and file their report and other papers as herein required. At the time fixed by the court for the hearing on the report of the commissioners, and to complete the organization of said district, or at the time to which such hearing was continued, any owner of lands in said proposed district may appear in person or by attorney, and persons under guardianship by their guardians, and the court shall appoint a guardian ad litem as in other civil proceedings, and be heard upon any and all questions, matters and things touching said report, and the organization of said district, and the court shall hear the testimony of all witnesses then introduced; and if it shall appear to the court that the lands included in the proposed district will be benefited for agricultural or sanitary purposes, the court shall so find and enter an order declaring such district organized, unless the court shall find, from the evidence introduced on such hearing, that the cost of the proposed work will exceed the benefits to be derived therefrom. In which case the court shall so find, and enter an order to that effect, and dismiss the petition: Provided, however, if the owners of lands lying in said district, who own in the aggregate more than one-half of the land lying therein, still desire the formation of said district, and such desire shall be evidenced by a failure to withdraw their signatures from the petition, the court shall enter an order declaring said district organized, and the clerk shall enter the same of record, and the district shall thereupon be deemed fully organized, and shall be known and designated as 'The.....special drainage district, in the county (or counties) of.....and State of Illinois.' The commissioners shall be the corporate authorities thereof, and shall be a body politic and corporate, with like powers as herein conferred upon other drainage commissioners either by this act or other laws of this State; may sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded in their corporate name and capacity, which shall be: 'The commissioners of the.....special drainage district in the county (or counties) of....., and State of Illinois.'

"Section 53. As soon as a special drainage district has been organized containing fifteen (15) or more land owners, it shall be the duty of the county clerk of the county in which the proceedings are instituted, who shall be ex-officio clerk of the commissioners of said district, to give notice, by posting written or printed notices in at least five public places in or near said district, that on a day and place therein named, and at an hour not later than two (2) o'clock P. M., and not less than ten (10) days from the date of notice, an election will be held, for the purpose of electing three (3) drainage commissioners for said district.

"Section 54. In all elections held for the election of drainage commissioners, the drainage commissioners then in office shall be the judges of election, and in the absence or refusal of any of them to act, the voters present may choose a person or persons to fill the vacancy or vacancies. The judges shall choose one of their number to act as clerk. Every adult owner of land in the district, whether residing within or without said district, shall be a voter, and if a resident of the county in which such district or any part thereof lies, eligible to the office of drainage commissioner. The elections shall close at four o'clock P. M., unless the judges of election shall determine to hold the polls open longer, but not later than six (6) o'clock P. M., to accommodate the voters. At the close of the election the judges of election shall canvass the votes, and the three persons, or so many as there are vacancies to be filled, having the highest number of votes, shall be declared elected. In case of a tie, the judges shall determine, by lot, who is elected, and they shall also determine, by lot, at the first election, their respective terms of office, one of whom shall serve for one year, one for two years and one for three years, or such parts thereof as may expire upon the election of their successors, respectively at the annual meeting, which shall be held each year on the third Tuesday of November, when there shall be elected one drainage commissioner, to hold his office for three years, and until his successor is chosen and qualified. In case of a vacancy in the office from resignation, death, removal or refusal to serve, the commissioners in office shall fill the vacancy by appointment, until such vacancy shall be filled at an annual election. Within five (5) days after every election of drainage commissioners, the judges of election shall cause the poll book to be delivered to the county clerk aforesaid, with a certificate therein showing the names of those elected drainage commissioners, and the terms of each, which poll book shall be filed by the clerk, and be evidence of such election; each commissioner shall, within ten (10) days after his election or appointment, take an oath to faithfully discharge the duties of his office as such commissioner, which oath shall be signed by him and filed in the office of said clerk.

"Section 55. In all special drainage districts containing less than fifteen (15) land owners, the court on the organization of the district shall appoint three drainage commissioners, who shall not be interested in the lands or work to be accomplished, nor of kin to any of the parties interested therein, one of whom shall hold his office for one year, one for two years, and one for three years, or such parts thereof as may expire upon the appointment of his successor, the term of each to be determined by the court, by lot, at the time of such appointment; and annually thereafter, on the first day of the December term of the county court, the court shall appoint one commissioner for such district, who shall hold his office for three years, and until his successor is appointed and qualified, and the court shall fill, by appointment, all vacancies in the office of commissioner, from any cause.

"Section 56. The commissioners, as soon as they are elected, or appointed and qualified, shall go upon the land included in said drainage district and determine upon a system of drainage, which shall provide main outlets of ample capacity for the waters of the district, having in view the future contingencies, as well as the present. A competent engineer shall be employed to locate, and advise upon the character of the work to be done, and report in writing, with maps, profiles and estimates of cost, and in a general way, the benefits to accrue to the lands in the several localities of the district. They shall make, or cause to be made, a map or plat of the district, and of the work to be done therein, which map shall show, with reasonable certainty, the location of the proposed work, and they shall give a name or number to each ditch or drain. The maps and papers showing the final determination as to the system of drainage, shall be filed in the clerk's office, and be recorded in the drainage record.

"Section 57. The commissioners shall then proceed to procure the right of way, where they can do so, by agreement, as provided in section 18 of this act, which releases shall be filed and recorded in the drainage record. Should the commissioners be unable to procure the right of way by agreement with the owner or owners of any land on which the work may be located, they shall file a petition or statement, in writing, with the clerk of the court in which the proceedings are had, requesting the court to issue a venire for a jury to assess damages for right of way, and which petition or statement shall contain a general description of the lands or premises over or through which the right of way is sought, and the name of the owner or owners thereof, if known, the general course and direction of the right of way sought, and the amount of land proposed to be occupied by the same. On such petition or statement being filed, the court shall fix the time for the hearing not less than fifteen days from the date the same is filed, and the clerk shall issue a venire for a jury of twelve disinterested land-owners to appear at the time fixed by the court, which venire shall be delivered to the sheriff to execute the same as venires from courts of record. It shall also be the duty of the clerk to issue a notice or notices, to be served upon the owner or owners of the lands over which the right of way is thus sought, informing him or them, of the time and place when said case, or cases, will be tried, which notice may be substantially in the following form:

To..... You are hereby notified that a jury has been called to meet before the county judge of the, county of....., State of Illinois, at the court house in said county, on the.....day of.....A. D. 18...., ato'clock.....M., for the purpose of assessing damages in the matter of the special drainage district, in the county (or counties) of.....and State of Illinois,..... when and where you can appear and assert your rights if you desire.

which notice shall be signed by the clerk, and attested by his seal of office, and may be served by any constable, sheriff, or other person, by reading the same to the person to whom it is addressed, or by delivering a copy thereof to such person, or by leaving such copy at his usual place of abode, with some person of the family of the age of ten years or upwards, and informing such person of the contents thereof. The services of said notices shall be made at least five days before said hearing. If the service be made by an officer, the return shall be made as in other cases, but if made by any person not an officer, the return shall be made under oath, stating when and in what manner served, and for all services there shall be allowed the same fees as for services of process in civil cases: Provided, that if any of the owner or owners are non-residents or unknown, notice of such proceeding shall be given by publication, in some newspaper published in said county two successive weeks prior to the time of such hearing, which notice shall be substantially in the form as above given. Minors and their guardians shall be notified the same as other owners.

"Section 58. When the jury shall appear, the trial shall be conducted as other cases before said court; either party may have the same number of challenges, and for the same causes as in other civil cases before said court; and if notice shall not have been given as herein provided, or for any other good cause, the court may continue the case from time to time, until proper notice has been given, or the case is ready for trial. The jury shall hear the evidence offered as to the value of the land proposed to be taken, and all damages consequent upon the construction of the proposed work, and may go upon the premises at the request of either party, for the purpose of viewing them, and they shall return, as their verdict, the amount found, if any, in favor of the owner or owners, and against said district, and the court shall enter judgment upon the verdict, unless for good cause shown the court grants a new trial, in which case a time for such new hearing shall be fixed by the court, and a new jury shall be empaneled; the judgment shall be final and conclusive. Vacancies in the panel of jurors, from whatever cause, shall be filled the same as other vacancies in other cases, but such vacancies shall be filled by land-owners. The owners of different tracts of land, whether they be joint or several owners, may be joined in the same petition or statement, and the jury shall hear and determine all cases for which the venire was issued, except when some one or more of the same have been settled, or the proceedings in reference thereto are determined. They shall return in their verdicts the amount allowed, if any, to each owner or joint owner, and in case they are unable to agree as to any one or more of the cases submitted to them, the court shall receive their verdict in the case or cases in which they do agree, upon which, judgment shall be rendered as hereinbefore provided, and a new jury shall be called to hear and determine the case or cases in which the former jury failed to agree, and the court shall fix the time for such hearing by an order entered of record, which shall be conducted and tried as new trials in other cases, but may be heard at the same, or a subsequent term of the court. The court shall allow amendments to the petition, or other papers or records in the proceedings, at any time before rendering judgment.

"Section 59. At the earliest practicable day the commissioners shall proceed to make a special assessment of benefits as provided in sections 21 and 22 of this act, so that each tract benefited shall bear its proportionate share of the entire costs and expenses of such work and proceedings.

"Section 60. They shall without delay make out and file in the office of the clerk of said court the table or map, either or both, showing the classification of the lands and premises in said district, the names of the owners thereof, if known, and when unknown, stating 'unknown,' and they may attach to the same a statement of damages allowed, together with any statement or explanation they may think proper or necessary to a full understanding thereof by all persons. Said commissioners shall file the time, not less than fifteen (15) days from the filing thereof, when they will meet to hear any and all objections that may be made to their classification, which meeting shall be at the court house of the county in which the district was organized, unless the commissioners shall, for the convenience of persons interested, designate some other place; and it shall thereupon be the duty of said clerk to issue notice or notices of the time and place of such meeting, which notice or notices may be in substance as follows:

To whom it may concern: You are hereby notified that the commissioners of the..... special drainage district, in the county (or counties, as the case may be) of and State of Illinois, have filed their classification of lands benefited in said district, and that they will, on the day of A. D. 18...., at the hour of o'clock M., meet at to hear any and all objections that may be made to the same, when and where you can appear and be heard, if you see fit.

Dated at, county of, State of Illinois, this day of....., 18....

which notice shall be signed by said clerk, and shall be published in some newspaper or newspapers printed or published in the county or counties in which the district or any part thereof is located, for two successive weeks, the first publication to be at least fifteen (15) days prior to the time for such hearing. The commissioners or a majority of them shall meet at the time and place fixed for the hearing, and shall hear all objections that may be urged, by any person interested, to their classification. They may adjourn from day to day, or from time to time, as deemed necessary, by public announcement, until all objections are heard. All persons shall take cognizance of all adjournments without further notice. After hearing all objections that may be offered to their classification the commissioners shall, if satisfied that any injustice has been done, correct the same in accordance with the rights and justice of the matter, which corrections or changes, if any, may be made on the table or map, and the commissioners shall thereupon confirm their classification; but if not so satisfied, they shall confirm their classifications as originally made and shall make an order to that effect. All orders made by the commissioners, either of correction or confirmation, shall be filed in said clerk's office within five days from the completion of the hearing, and any person appearing and urging objections who is not satisfied with the decision of the commissioners in confirming the classification of his lands, may appeal therefrom, within ten (10) days after the order of the commissioners is filed in said court aforesaid, by filing with the clerk of said court an appeal bond with good and sufficient security, to be approved by the clerk or judge thereof, payable to said drainage district, conditioned for the payment of such tax as may be levied upon the land in question and all costs occasioned by said appeal in case said order of said commissioners shall be affirmed.

"Section 61. Where the district lies wholly in one county under township organization, the appeal shall be taken to three supervisors, as provided in sections 24 and 25 of this act; where it lies wholly in a county not under township organization, the appeal shall be taken to the county commissioners; where it lies in two counties under township organization, all of the supervisors shall not be selected from the same county; where it lies in more than two counties under township organization, the board of appeal shall consist of one supervisor from each county in which any part of the district lies, to be selected by the clerk of the commissioners. Where it lies wholly in two counties not under township organization, the appeal board shall consist of three of the county commissioners, but not more than two members of such board shall be selected from the same county; where it lies in more than two counties not under township organization, one member of the board of appeal shall be selected from each county in which the district or any part thereof lies;

and where it lies partly in a county or counties under township organization and partly in a county or counties not under township organization, at least one member of the board of appeal shall be selected by the clerk from each county in which any part of the district lies, and shall be a supervisor or one of the officers hereinafter mentioned, as the case may be, and the clerk shall summons the members constituting the appeal board in the same manner; and the clerk, as also the board of appeal, shall have like power, and perform like duties, as near as may be, as is provided by section 25 of this act, and the classification, when made and confirmed, shall be conclusive, and shall be recorded in the drainage record.

“Section 62. As soon as the classification has been corrected and confirmed by the commissioners, or board of appeal, as provided in the preceding section, it shall be competent for the commissioners to order such amount of money to be raised by special assessment upon the lands of the district which are benefited, as may be necessary, according to the best judgment of the commissioners, which amount shall be certified and returned by the commissioners to the clerk of said court, who shall record the same in the drainage record. The certificate may be substantially as follows:

We hereby certify that we require the sum of dollars to be levied as a special assessment or tax for drainage purposes on the lands and property benefited in the special drainage district in the county (or counties) of and State of Illinois.

Given under our hands this day of, 18....

which certificate shall be signed by the commissioners in their corporate name. It shall thereupon be the duty of said clerk to compute and apportion the amount thus levied among the several tracts, in the name of the owners when known, according to acreage of each and its figure of classification on the graduated scale, so that each tract may bear its equal burden in proportion to benefits. The commissioners shall make out a tax list, which shall conform, as near as the facts will admit, to the list provided for in section 26 of this act, which list shall be signed by the commissioners and filed by the clerk, and any party against whose land a tax has been thus levied may appeal therefrom to the county court in the same time and manner and upon the same grounds as provided in section 27 of this act.

“Section 63. If at any time the commissioners shall find that the amount of such assessment or tax levied will be inadequate to complete the proposed work, they shall make such additional levy or levies as may be necessary to complete the proposed work, which additional levy or levies shall be made on the original classification as herein provided for the first assessment or tax levy and computed and extended by the clerk in the same manner. Upon any levy being made as herein provided, it shall be competent for the commissioners to order the tax to be paid in installments of such amounts and at such times as will be convenient for the accomplishment of the proposed work; otherwise, the whole amount of such tax shall be payable immediately upon such confirmation, and shall be a lien upon the lands assessed until paid; and such taxes shall draw interest at the rate of eight (8) per cent. per annum from the time they shall become payable till they are paid, and such interest may be collected and enforced as part of the taxes: Provided, however, if, in the judgment of the commissioners, the payment of said tax or any installment or installments thereof for the speedy completion of the proposed work would be too heavy a burden upon the owners and persons interested to pay in time to be used for said work, the commissioners may at any time after the levy has been made postpone the payment of such tax, or any one or more installment or installments, or any part thereof, to such time or times as they may think proper and advisable, but not longer than fifteen (15) years from the time of the levy thereof. For the construction of the proposed work or for the continuation and completion of the same where it has been commenced, the commissioners may borrow money not exceeding in amount ninety per cent. of any assessment or levy unpaid at the time of borrowing, and may secure the payment of the same by notes or bonds of said district, bearing interest not to exceed seven (7) per cent. per annum. The interest may be made payable annually or semi-annually, which notes or bonds may be made due and payable at the same or different times, but shall not run beyond one year after the last assessment or levy on account of which the money is borrowed falls due, which notes or bonds shall not be held to make the commissioners personally liable for the money borrowed, but shall constitute a lien upon the assessment or assessments, levy or levies on account of which they are issued, for the repayment of the principal and interest thereon. On the correction and confirmation of said assessment or levy it shall be the duty of the clerk of said court to record the same, together with all orders of the commissioners or court, in the drainage record, and he shall make a certified copy of such tax list, the order of the commissioners and court, either or both, correcting and confirming the same, and of the order of the commissioners showing how or when the assessment or tax for benefits is payable, and deliver the same to the treasurer of said district, who shall proceed to collect the taxes or installments as they come due.

“Section 64. In any case or cases where the drainage commissioners of any special drainage district heretofore organized, or that may be hereafter organized under the laws of this State, have or may, for the purpose of constructing or completing the work to such district, issued notes or bonds on any assessment or assessments, installment or installments, the payment of which at maturity would in the judgment of the commissioners be an unreasonable burden on the owners of lands assessed, said commissioners shall have the right and power to fund such notes or bonds, as the case may be, or any part thereof, and issue new notes or bonds to the amount of the unpaid assessment or assessments, installment or installments, upon which such notes or bonds thus outstanding were issued, which new notes or bonds may bear interest not to exceed seven (7) per cent. per annum. Said commissioners may extend the time for the payment of any such assessment or assessments, installment or installments, as the case may be, by an order signed by them and filed with the clerk thereof, to be by him recorded in the drainage record, and a certified copy thereof to be by said clerk delivered to the treasurer of said district, which order shall operate to suspend the time for collection until the time fixed in said order of the assessment or assessments, installment or installments, named in said order. Such new notes or bonds shall run not to exceed one year beyond the time thus fixed for the payment of the assessment or assessments, installment or installments upon which the same is, or are, issued. And the old notes or bonds shall be taken up and canceled by said commissioners immediately upon issuing the new notes or bonds on the same assessment or installment, or any part thereof. The payment of interest on all notes or bonds shall be provided for, collected and paid as herein provided for the payment of interest in other cases.

“Section 65. Whenever a petition signed by a majority in number of the adult owners of lands assessed for benefits in any special drainage district heretofore or hereafter organized under any law of this State, and who own, in the aggregate, at least one-third of such land, shall be presented to the drainage commissioners of such district, representing that any assessment or tax has been made against the lands assessed for benefits for the purpose of constructing the work therein, and that the same has been confirmed and is unpaid in whole or in part, and that it would promote the interest of the land owners in such district to extend the time of the payment thereof or any part of the same, stating what part, and the time or times to which they desire such extension made, but not to exceed ten (10) years from the time the assessment or levy was confirmed, and asking that such extension be made and that bonds of the district be issued, not exceeding in amount the amount of the assessment levy or part thereof thus sought to be extended, it shall be the duty of the commissioners of such district to enter an order extending the time of the payment thereof as asked for in said petition, and thereupon it shall be competent for said commissioner to issue the bonds of said district to the amount thus extended, which bonds shall bear interest not to exceed seven (7) per cent. per annum, payable annually or semi-annually, and shall be a lien on the assessment levy or part thus extended, and shall run not longer than one year beyond the time the same becomes due by said extension. The petition and order of the commissioners shall be filed and recorded in the drainage record, and shall operate to stay the collection of the assessment, levy or part thus extended to the time fixed by said [commissioners,] and shall be sufficient authority for the issuing of such bonds by the commissioners of such district. No bonds issued under the provisions of this act shall be sold for less than their par value.

“Section 66. Before issuing any bonds under the provisions of this act the corporate authorities of any district desiring to issue bonds shall provide a well bound book in which a record of all bonds issued, with their number, amount, rate of interest, date of issue, when due, where payable, amount received for the same and the assessment, tax levy, installment or part thereof on account of which the bonds are issued shall be made, and said book shall at all times be open to the inspection of all parties interested in said district, either as taxpayers or bond-holders, and on the payment of any bond an entry thereof shall be [made] in said book in proper column for that purpose.

“Section 67. On the presentation of any bond issued under the provisions of this act at the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts for registration, the said Auditor shall cause the same to be registered in his office in a book to be kept for that purpose. Such registration shall show the date, amount, number, date of maturity, rate of interest, time when such interest is payable, and place of payment of the principal and interest of such bond; under what act, and by what district issued, and the name of the person or persons presenting the same for registration; and for such registration the Auditor shall be entitled to a fee of twenty-five cents. And the Auditor shall, under the seal of his office, certify upon such bond the fact of such registration, for which the Auditor shall be entitled to a fee of twenty-five cents, such fees to be paid by the person or persons desiring such registration and certificate, but no bonds issued under this act shall be entitled to registration in the office of the State Auditor until a sworn statement by the corporate authorities of the district issuing the bond shall have been filed with him showing the date of the organization of the district, in what county organized, the time when the assessment levy or part thereof on account of which the bonds are issued will become due, and the date, number, amount, rate of interest, and the date of maturity of the bonds, together with any other information in relation thereto which may be demanded by the Auditor of Public Accounts.

"Section 68. When any bonds issued under the provisions of this act shall be so registered, the Auditor of Public Accounts shall annually ascertain the amount of interest or interest and principal due and accrued, or to accrue for the current year, on all such bonds so registered in his office, together with the ordinary cost to the State of the collection and disbursement of the same, to be estimated by the Auditor and State Treasurer, and shall make out and transmit to the county clerk of the county in which said district is organized, a certificate setting forth such estimated amount of such particular district for such purposes, to be filed in his office and recorded in the drainage record, and the amount thereof shall thereupon be deemed added to and a part of the amount which may be levied or provided by law within the limits of said district for the purposes of State revenue; and thereupon it shall be the duty of the clerk of said district to compute and apportion the amount so certified among the several tracts and property assessed for benefits in such district, in the manner as original levies are computed under this act; and thereupon he shall make out a tax list of the lands and property in the district, and extend opposite each tract and property its pro rata share of the amount so certified by the Auditor, and deliver the same to the treasurer of the district. Where the district lies in more than one county, the clerk shall make out a separate tax list of the lands and property assessed for benefits in each county, showing the pro rata share levied against the same separately, and deliver the same to the county clerk of the respective counties, and the clerk or clerks of the respective counties at the time of making up the tax books and extending State taxes shall extend on the tax books, for collection, the pro rata share thus levied, and the same shall be collected with the State taxes, and all laws of this State relating to the State revenue shall apply thereto.

"Section 69. The State shall be deemed the custodian, only, of the tax so collected and shall not be deemed in any manner liable on account of such bonds, but the tax and funds so collected shall be deemed pledged and appropriated to the payment of the principal and interest of the registered bonds to satisfy which the same is hereinbefore provided to be collected as aforesaid, and such bonds, issued under the authority hereof, shall be deemed secured and provided for in virtue thereof until fully satisfied. The State shall annually collect and apply the said fund to the satisfaction of the interest, or interest and principal, as the case may be, of such registered bonds of any such district, and the interest coupons or bonds so paid shall be canceled by the State Treasurer and returned to the corporate authorities of the district which issued them.

"Section 70. It shall be the duty of the commissioners of every special drainage district heretofore organized under any law of this State, as also the commissioners of every such district hereafter organized, to file on or before the first day of December of each year, with the county clerk of the county in which the district was or may be organized, a statement of the date, number and amount of all notes or bonds issued by them as such commissioners, and which remain unpaid, the time the same will mature, the rate of interest such notes or bonds bear, and the time the interest falls due, the amount necessary to be levied on the lands assessed for benefits in order to meet the payment of the interest for the ensuing year; also the amount, if any, necessary to be levied to keep the work, or any part thereof, in repair for the year next ensuing; also the amount of any deficiency in the payment of interest before accrued, or in the payment for repairs made; and the clerk shall compute the pro rata share which each tract or parcel of land or property in said district, assessed for benefits, will have to pay to raise said respective amounts, which pro rata share shall be in the same proportion as the assessment for the construction of said work; and it shall be the duty of the county clerk of the county in which the lands are located to extend the same on the collector's books, the same as State, county, municipal or other taxes are extended, in appropriate column or columns; and in case the lands or property assessed lie in more than one county, the county clerk of the county in which the district is organized shall certify to the clerk, or clerks, of such other county or counties a description of the lands or property assessed in such other county, and the amount to be extended against the same for interest, as also for repairs, either or both; and on receiving such certificate the clerk of the proper county shall extend the same on the proper collector's book, in proper columns, the same as though the whole proceedings and district were in his county; and the amounts so extended shall be collected at the same time and in the same manner as other taxes on like property, and shall be paid over by the party collecting, to the treasurer of the drainage district, in the same time and manner as taxes collected are required to be paid to treasurers of municipal corporations. No levy or assessment made by the commissioners to meet the payment of interest on the notes or bonds of the district unpaid shall be used for any other purpose, but shall be faithfully applied to the payment of such interest as it becomes due: Provided, where the whole or any part of the bonds of the district are registered, and the Auditor of Public Accounts has levied, as hereinbefore provided, an amount sufficient to meet the payment of the interest on such registered bonds as it becomes due, then the commissioners shall make their levy so as to meet the payment of the interest on the bonds that are not registered.

"Section 71. The county treasurer of the county in which the proceedings for the organization of a special drainage district are commenced, and district organized, shall be the collector and treasurer of such district. He shall give bond to the commissioners in such sum as they may fix, not less than double the amount likely to come into his hands in any one year, which bond shall be signed by two responsible securities, approved by the commissioners and filed and recorded in the office of the clerk: Provided, where the district lies in two or more counties, the commissioners may appoint the county treasurer of either county as treasurer for the district.

"Section 72. Any and all assessments made under any law of this State heretofore in force for the organization of special drainage districts, as also all assessments or levies hereafter made under the provisions of this act, shall be taken, held and considered to be a lien upon each and every tract of land or property assessed in such district to the extent and amount of the proportionate share assessed or levied against the same, but such land, or owner thereof, shall not be liable for more than such proportionate share and the subsequent levy or levies for construction and for the payment of interest or repairs, which lien may be discharged on the payment of the amount thereof to the treasurer of said district at any time before notes or bonds of the district are issued on the assessment. In case the owner or owners of any lands lying in said district, and which are assessed, fails or neglects to pay any assessment or assessments, installment or installments, tax levy or levies when due, and the same be not collected on or before the annual sale of lands for non-payment of taxes, the commissioners of such drainage district may file a petition in the circuit court of the county in which the land or property upon which such assessment, installment or levy has not been paid, for a foreclosure of such lien; and the commissioners may proceed in their corporate name and capacity to foreclose such lien as provided by law. They may also commence and maintain suits at law for the recovery of judgment against the person or party whose lands or property is assessed for benefits, for any assessment or tax or any part thereof which remains due and unpaid on the lands and property of such person or party. Any judgment so recovered may be enforced and collected as other judgment in the same court. The remedy provided in this section for the collection of delinquent special assessments or taxes shall not be construed to abridge or in any manner interfere with the right and power to enforce collection of any delinquent assessment or tax in the manner provided by the revenue laws of this State, or other provisions of this act, but the remedy herein provided shall be taken and held as an additional means to enforce payment of such delinquent assessment or tax.

"Section 73. The commissioners provided for in this act shall receive two dollars and fifty cents per day for the time actually employed in the discharge of the duties of their office. They shall make out their account under oath, and in all districts except special drainage districts their account shall be audited and allowed by the board of auditors of the town in which the district is organized; and in special drainage districts their account shall be presented to and allowed by the judge of the court in which the district is organized; and the amount allowed by the board of auditors, or court, as the case may be, shall be paid out of the funds of the district for which the services were rendered. The clerk of the commissioners shall receive the same fees as is allowed for like services in other matters connected with his office. If a civil engineer shall be employed he shall receive not to exceed five ($5) dollars per day for the time actually employed. The treasurer shall receive for his services such sum as may be fixed by the commissioners, not to exceed per cent. of moneys collected by him, and not to exceed one per cent. on moneys paid him by other collectors or treasurers, and in no case shall the treasurer receive to exceed five hundred dollars for his services in any one year from any one district. All fees and allowances shall be paid out of the funds of the district for which the services were or may be rendered.

River Districts.

"Section 74. River districts may be organized in the manner and with like powers provided in this act for forming and conducting the business of drainage districts, and the commissioners as the corporate authorities shall have power to levy special assessments on the land and property benefited for the purpose of straightening, enlarging, embanking or otherwise improving the channels of rivers or lesser streams for a more free flow of water and protection from overflow, including the clearing of driftwood from the stream and removing drift material from the bank when liable to become drift; and railroads and public roads which receive benefits may be included in the assessment for benefits; or the highway commissioners of towns interested therein may appropriate from the road fund, and the county board may appropriate from the county treasury in aid of or wholly to accomplish such work, in consideration of the benefit to roads, bridges and the public health. The town or county authorities named may order surveys and reports with maps, plans and estimates of cost and benefits to accrue from the proposed improvement. When such works or any of them are a necessary part to the system of drainage of any organized drainage district, such works shall be deemed as belonging to drainage."

Such writings shall be recorded on the drainage record. The powers and duties of the commissioners of a district by mutual agreement, and the mode and effect of special assessments, shall be the same as provided for other districts."

This act, as well as the acts repealed, shall be liberally construed to promote drainage, and the reclaiming of wet and overflowed lands, and in the making and collection of assessments and taxes therefor."

Amend section 68, line 23, by inserting after the word "act" the following words: "and shall have and possess all the rights, powers and privileges the same and to the same extent as though the whole proceedings were commenced and carried on under the provisions of this act."

Amend section 68 by adding at the end of the section the following: "but shall be construed as an independent act, not affecting other independent drainage laws except as it is a codification and amended successor to the first three acts mentioned in the repealing section; and the special provisions of this act for their own class of districts shall apply only to such districts, but the general provisions applicable to all districts shall apply to all districts provided for in this act."

By unanimous consent, Mr. Henry, chairman of the committee to visit State educational institutions, made the following report:

In pursuance of law your committee appointed under the provisions of an act entitled "An act to provide for the visitation and examination of State educational institutions," approved May 31, 1879, consisting of the following named persons, members of the respective houses of the Thirty-fourth General Assembly, to-wit:

Thos. N. Henry, chairman, Wm. H. McNary, Senate, Martin B. Thompson, Senate, Alfred N. Cherry, Walter C. Headen, Adam C. Oldenburg, Wm. H. Wear.

On the 24th day of March, 1885, your committee visited the Illinois State Normal University, at Normal, where they were very cordially received by President Hewitt, and by him given such statement of the affairs of the institution, and information regarding the same, as we desired for an intelligent understanding of its objects and aims, the facilities it now enjoys, and its wants and needs for the furtherance of the object in view.

This school was established in 1857, and has for its principal object the preparation of teachers for the public schools of Illinois, and is, we believe, faithfully and successfully doing the work for which it was established.

The attendance at this university is steadily on the increase, and is now taxing the institution to its utmost capacity.

The primary and high schools are doing a noble work in their departments, and are deserving of the continued support of our citizens and of the State. The high school is a very important adjunct to normal school work. A large number of high school pupils go out to teach, but when the school is as full as it now is, it becomes a source of considerable revenue, and it would therefore seem proper that everything necessary be done to make this school as efficient as possible.

Your committee would further report that they visited the Southern Normal at Carbondale, April 4th, 1885. We were most cordially received by Dr. Allyn, principal of the school, and by him given such information as was required to obtain an idea of the progress of this school, and of its worth to the people of the State of Illinois as an educational institution.

The year just closed is the eleventh of the work of the school.

The school was created by an act of the General Assembly which convened in January, 1869, and it was approved by the Governor, April 9th, 1869; it has, therefore, had a legal existence for sixteen years, and during that time it has met the usual discouragements of all public institutions. It has, however, been steadily growing in public favor, and has increased in the number of its students, as well as in the attainments of those who enter its classes, and of those who annually graduate from its halls. The work of the school has had three ends or purposes in view: First, to give our students a careful review of the common branches of an English education, and along with this to illustrate and practice methods of teaching and governing in public schools. This is what may be called the preparatory normal work, and is a fair fitting for a second grade certificate, so reckoned with any of our county superintendents.

Hundreds of the students of this institution have gone out with simply this amount of knowledge and training and have improved the district schools into which they have entered.

The second purpose is similar but in some respects higher. It is to assist such as are prepared for the work, to acquire a knowledge of the four higher or natural science branches, required by law for a first grade certificate—still with methods and plans of school work and duty. It embraces a year's work in what is called practical pedagogy, or the methodology of teaching. It is the Normal or University department, and from this work, supplemented by the study of the higher mathematics and the theoretical pedagogics, our students graduate, receiving their diplomas.

The third object has been to bring together young men and young women who have been engaged in teaching, or who intend to pursue it as a calling, and give them opportunities to observe the daily workings of the school in all its departments, to stimulate them to discuss methods and whatever is connected with their high duties, to inspire them with a nobler sense of their need of more knowledge and a better understanding among the members of their profession.

The members of your committee are divided upon the question of State Normals, yet we give it as our opinion that if appropriations are to be made for the sustenance of the State Normal, at Normal, Illinois, sufficient appropriations should be made for the support of the Normal at Carbondale.

Your committee would further report that they visited the Illinois Industrial University, at Champaign, May 25, 1885, and was cordially received by Dr. Peabody, regent of the University, and Prof. Geo. E. Morrow, who showed us over the farm, and through the various buildings, and afforded us all necessary facilities for learning the condition of the affairs of the University, its needs and requirements.

The University buildings, fifteen in number, were visited and found commodious, neat, and well ventilated.

Your committee were well pleased with their visit to the laboratory, museum, art gallery and conservatory. The museum contains a large collection illustrating the several departments of science, and is unusually rich, and equalled at few, if any, of the colleges in the West. The art gallery is the gift of the people of Champaign and Urbana, and contains an excellent display of valuable and interesting works of art. We were very favorably impressed with the mechanical department of the University. The domain occupied by the several departments of the University embraces about 623 acres, in a most desirable and healthful location, a large portion of which is in an excellent state of cultivation. The agricultural department has 150 acres of land devoted to experimental uses in agriculture, horticulture, orcharding, vineyards, etc., and a stock farm of 400 acres.

The following table shows the per cent. of students in the various departments:

Mr. Downs, chairman of the committee to visit State charitable institutions, made the following report:

In pursuance of law, your committee appointed under the provisions of an act entitled "An act to provide for the visitation and examination of the State charitable institutions," approved May 31, 1879, consisting of the following named persons, members of the House of Representatives, Thirty-fourth General Assembly, to-wit:

Messrs. John Downs (chairman), T. N. Henry, John M. Highsmith, George G. Struckman, Thos. Nowers, jr., Charles E. Scharlau, Wm. A. Dorman, Mathew Murphy, Wm. S. Powell, Wm. McLean, Wm. H. Brackenridge, Wm. M. Hanna and J. Park McGee.

In arranging our report we present the several institutions in the order by dates in which the same were visited by us, as follows:

INSTITUTION FOR THE BLIND, AT JACKSONVILLE.

On the 28th day of March, 1885, we visited the Illinois Institution for the Education of the Blind, located at Jacksonville, and were shown through the institution by Dr. F. W. Phillips, the superintendent, who pointed out the several object for which appropriations were asked, explaining fully the reasons therefor.

We examined the several departments of this institution, and found everything generally in good order, so far as the management and sanitary condition were concerned.

There are in this institution at present, as shown by the rolls, 149 pupils—94 male and 55 female.

This institution asks for appropriations for the several items herein named, as follows:

Ordinary Expenses for two years.....$64,000.

This is the amount allowed by the Thirty-third General Assembly, and is the estimate made by Dr. Phillips eight months ago. Your committee is inclined to the opinion, however, that the school can be kept up to its present size on $60,000, hence we would recommend that that sum be appropriated.

Repairs and Improvements for two years.....$3,000.

This is the usual amount, and from observations made we fully believe the sum is not too high, and recommend the allowance of that sum.

Pipe Organ.....$3,000.

An organ is very much needed, and a first class instrument of good capacity is necessary to do the work, and not be out of repair half the time. Dr. Phillips assures us the organ will be at work six and one-half days in the week, and in our judgment a cheap organ will not stand it. We recommend the sum asked be allowed.

Extension.....$8,700.

The sum of $8,700 is asked for the purpose of extending the central portion of the building north thirty feet. It is desired to increase the capacity of the assembly room and also to provide a means of escape for the inmates of two of the dormitories in case of fire. There are twenty inmates in each of the two dormitories who will be cut off by a fire in either stairway on which the door may open. In our opinion all the other dormitories are perfectly safe, and these two cannot be made safe without some fire escape arrangement such as is expected to be obtained in the proposed extension. We approve the object and recommend the appropriation.

Bakery, Refrigerator, etc......$13,000.

Thirteen thousand dollars is asked for to erect a building similar to the shops, to contain a bakery, refrigerator, store rooms, and office. The institution has no bakery, no cellar that is not steam-heated and no adequate store room. The present store room is 11 ft. 8 in. by 18 ft. 5 in. and the superintendent cannot buy the necessary stores in any quantity because they cannot be stored; nor would they keep, if they could be stored, without a refrigerating apparatus. When stores can be obtained at a cheap market the management ought to have the proper facilities for taking care of such articles as can be purchased at such a time. Your committee do not think the sum asked is exorbitant, and would recommend that it be allowed.

Sewer Extension......$500.

The city of Jacksonville intends to run a sewer down to the brook into which the institution sewer now empties. It is proposed to extend the institution sewer and connect it with the proposed city sewer. If this is not done the institution will be compelled to find another outlet, which will require nearly half a mile of sewer. As it will be much cheaper to connect with the city sewer now, we would recommend the sum asked.

In connection with the advantages of an education bestowed upon this unfortunate class, trades in broom making, mattrass making, and cane-seating are taught the male portion, thereby fitting and enabling many to earn a respectable livelihood after leaving the institution. Numerous cases are known where pupils, after leaving, engaged in business, prosecuting their trades and succeeding well.

We believe this to be a charity productive of much good to the class for which it was established, and one deserving to be well fostered and encouraged.

The following summary shows the several items asked for, with the amount requested for each, by the Illinois Institution for the Education of the Blind, also the amount recommended by your committee for each item:

INSTITUTION FOR THE EDUCATION OF THE DEAF AND DUMB, AT JACKSONVILLE.

On March 28, we visited the Institution at Jacksonville for the education of the Deaf and Dumb, and were shown over the institution by Dr. Phillip G. Gillett, superintendent.

This institution was found to contain 506 pupils, of whom 212 are females and 294 males. These were all in the enjoyment of excellent health and gave evidence of being very happy and contented. The rate of mortality in this institution for many years has been very low, being less than a third of one per cent. Doubtless this is due to the excellent sanitary arrangements and regulations enforced with regularity.

This is the largest institution of its kind in the world, and the committee believe is one of the best, and is certainly a credit to the State. Its prominence among similar institutions of the day is evinced by the frequent visits made to it for purposes of inspection by representatives of institutions in other States. Notwithstanding it furnishes its pupils more extensive opportunities than most other institutions do, yet its per capita cost is among the lowest of well conducted institutions for the deaf and dumb in America, as is exhibited by its late report recently published and laid upon the tables of the members of the General Assembly. Your committee consequently approve of the appropriation

For Ordinary Expenses for two years.....$202,000.

Asked by the trustees. This includes the extension of the articulation department and the addition of a department for oral instruction. This sum is $8,000 in excess of that asked two years ago from the Thirty-third General Assembly, but your committee is of the opinion the extra expenditure is necessary.

Your committee carefully inspected its various buildings and found them in a good state of repair and order, but needing considerable painting, and extensive renewal of pavements. Some defective roofs are also needing renewal for the preservation of the buildings. A new ice house is a necessity, the present one being quite worn out and decayed. A lumber shed is also very much needed for the storage of lumber to be used in the cabinet shop and for general repairs. Better fire protection is also of great importance. The sewer running from the institution should be extended, as it is a nuisance to the neighborhood where it now debouches.

For a Gymnasium.....$8,000.

The committee are impressed that a gymnasium for the physical culture of the youth assembled at this institution is of prime importance, and they fully approve of the appropriation of $8,000 asked for by the trustees.

For Dairy Barn and Cows.....$6,000.

A dairy barn should also be provided, as all the cows now owned by the institution are housed in inadequate sheds without room or facilities for keeping hay and feed. The committee are of the opinion that fifty cows are needed for the use of this institution, and if a suitable means for caring for them and their produce are provided, the superintendent expects during the annual vacation to be able to make and store a considerable portion of the butter to be used during the following school term. The trustees ask for $6,000 for this purpose, which the committee believe can be thus judiciously expended, and accordingly recommend that the appropriation be made, believing that it will ever after render a valuable return.

For Purchase of Land.....$10,000.

This institution owns only forty-six acres of land, more than half of which is occupied by buildings and garden. The trustees ask for $10,000 for the purchase of additional land, which the committee believe it is important to secure, and consequently approve of this appropriation. It is the part of wisdom to secure land while it can be done near by, as the city is growing around the institution, and before long land in such quantities as are needed cannot be rented or purchased.

For Enlargement and Improvement of Grounds.....$6,000.

The committee approve of the proposed appropriation for the enlargement and improvement of the grounds of this institution. The play grounds of the pupils are altogether too restricted. A parcel of ground fronting the buildings is now in the market, and will, no doubt, be bought up by parties who will so improve it as to render its purchase hereafter very difficult. This parcel of ground is so platted that the rear of the lots thereon are thrown at the front of the institution, which will necessitate building stables and other outhouses in such relation to the property of the State as to be very offensive.

New Boiler.....$1,800.

An additional boiler is required for warming the buildings. The amount asked for, $1,800, the committee are convinced is not any larger than is necessary for this purpose.

Cottage for Girls, etc......$13,000.

The application for appropriations of $6,000 for the erection of a cottage for girls, and of $7,000 for the erection of a detached hospital, the committee are of the opinion should be granted, if the funds at the disposal of the General Assembly will admit of it. It certainly is prudent to separate different diseases, and to keep the sick entirely away from the well, and the convalescent apart from the sick. This institution, like all others, is subject to invasion of all kinds of diseases, and every precaution possible to protect the health of its inmates should be provided.

For Library for two years.....$1,000.

This being an educational institution, the committee are of the opinion that the practice of former legislatures, of appropriating $500 per annum for a library, should be continued, and consequently approve of the application made by the trustees for an appropriation of $500 per annum for this purpose.

For Repairs and Improvements for two years.....$10,000.

The balance sheet of this institution shows that its real estate is valued at $355,800. It is of the utmost importance that the property of the State should be kept in a good state of preservation, and the committee recommend that the appropriation of $5,000 per annum, asked for by the trustees, for repairs and improvements, be made.

The following summary shows the several items asked for, with the amount requested for each, by the Illinois Institution for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb; also the amount recommended by the committee for each item:

CENTRAL HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE, AT JACKSONVILLE.

On the 28th day of March, 1885, your committee visited the Central Hospital for the Insane, at Jacksonville. Here we were met by Dr. Henry F. Carriel and his able corps of assistants, who gave us material aid in making our examination of the institution, and the investigation as to its needs and the general workings of the institution.

A minute examination of the institution was made by your committee, including the different wards and apartments occupied by the inmates, all of which presented a clear and creditable appearance. We heard no complaint whatever in regard to the treatment, and have good reason to believe the management to be efficient and entirely satisfactory in every particular.

At present there are in this institution 630 inmates.

The new building, which, it is expected, will be completed about July 1, will accommodate 300 patients with their attendants and all other necessary employes, thus making the entire capacity of the institution 930.

For Ordinary Expenses for two years..... $302,000.

The trustees ask this legislature for current expenses for the next two years, $151,000 per annum. The basis of estimate is $3.12 per week for each inmate, or $162.24 per annum. The last legislature appropriated to this institution on a basis of $174.50 per capita per annum, or $110,000, on a basis of 630 patients, but it is expected with the increase of numbers the per capita cost can be reduced without detriment to the good management and proper care of the inmates, and this reduction is something over $12 per capita per annum, and is as much as it will be safe to make.

For Repairs and Improvements for two years..... $12,000.

The institution asks for $6,000 per annum for repairs and improvements. In the last fifteen years not less than $5,000 per annum has been appropriated by each successive legislature for this purpose. With the late large addition to the hospital buildings, and the extra work necessary in making roads, rearranging fences, tiling an open ditch on the west side of the new building with twenty-two inch tile, etc., this extra thousand a year is deemed desirable and necessary, and therefore your committee would recommend that it be allowed.

For Care and Improvement of Grounds for two years.....$2,000.

The trustees ask for $1,000 per annum for the care and improvement of grounds. This sum has been appropriated for several sessions of the Legislature, and is needed.

For the Purchase of Land.....$16,000.

This institution asks for an appropriation of $16,000 to purchase additional land. This institution now owns and controls 200 acres of land at present. Not less than 75 acres are covered by buildings, or used for exercise grounds for the patients, leaving an amount of land for pasture and tillage wholly inadequate to the needs of the hospital. About 75 cows and heifers are now kept on the place, and these require a large portion of the farm for grazing purposes. Upon the completion and occupancy of the new building there will be over 450 males in the institution.

Employment on the farm is conceded by those most familiar with the care of the insane to be the best for the patients themselves, while their labor will conduce to the cheapening of supplies of vegetables of all kinds; and for both the patients and the economical management of the institution, more land is needed. The other insane hospitals in the State have a much larger amount of land than this one. It is expected not less than 160 acres of land can be purchased for the sum asked, and your committee believe it would be a good idea to purchase it now; hence we would recommend the sum be appropriated.

For Railroad Track to C. & A. Railroad.....$9,000.

The management ask for $9,000 to lay a track from the C. and A. railroad to the hospital coal house.

Should such road be built the State would be required to purchase the right of way and land for the switch, the cost of which is included in the estimate. Fourteen tons of coal are hauled each working day in the year from the C. and A. to the hospital, to keep it supplied. In certain seasons of the year it is nearly impossible for a team to haul an empty wagon, so deep is the mud. When all other hauling is added to that of coal, the amount is so great as to justify the expenditure of this sum for a track, as asked. Had this track been built during the process of erecting the new building, it would have resulted in a great saving to the institution, and of course to the State.

For a New Reservoir, the balance remaining after the new building is completed.

It is requested that any balance of the appropriation for the new building that may remain after the completion of the same, as contemplated by the act making the appropriation, be re-appropriated for a new reservoir, thereby increasing the storage supply of water. The construction of this reservoir is considered of great importance for several reasons, some of the more important of which are:

A large amount of dirt is needed to properly grade around the new building, which would be obtained in excavating for this new reservoir. The facilities the reservoir would give in putting up a thousand tons of ice each year, would pay a good interest on the investment in saving all the hauling. The quality of the water would be much improved by storing. It would give opportunity for laying a large pipe to connect with the fire pump—the size of the pipe into the present reservoir, and the city supply, being through a four-inch main. Lastly it would enable the institution to supply itself with water in case the city should refuse to do it on reasonable terms. The institution has a pump house and possesses the same facilities for pumping water it had before the city water works were constructed.

It is hoped and expected to build a reservoir that will hold 6,000,000 gallons of water. The two reservoirs now in use hold about 5,000,000 gallons; and 11,000,000 gallons would supply the institution for a period of four months, and at the same time place the institution in a position to take care of itself, independent of the city of Jacksonville. Your committee deem this request of great importance to the welfare and good management of the institution, and would recommend that it be carefully considered.

For additional protection against fire.....$15,000.

Fifteen thousand dollars are requested for additional protection against fire. It is proposed to place iron fire doors, thirty-six in number, in each section of the building, to carry up fire walls above the roof, thus separating each section by a brick wall thirteen inches thick. To accomplish this, the pitch and direction of part of the roof will have to be changed, and some of the ventilating flues carried out as chimneys. Out of this sum it is proposed to floor and plaster the attics of the entire building, thus giving facilities for removing the great amount of lint, which is very combustible, that is carried up from the different wards in the ventilating flues, and deposited there. These fire doors are now being put into the new building. If the different sections of this great building can be entirely separated from each other by a good brick wall and iron doors, making each section practically fire proof—if this can be done for the sum asked—it would seem a good investment as a security against a great loss of property, as well as a safeguard against a great sacrifice of life that would be made in case these buildings should take fire in their present unprotected condition. Your committee, therefore, are of the opinion that the object is a laudable one, and hence would recommend that the sum be appropriated for the purpose named.

The following summary shows the several items asked for, with the amount requested for each, by the Illinois Central Hospital for the Insane; also the amount recommended by your committee:

ILLINOIS SOUTHERN HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE, AT ANNA.

Your committee visited the Illinois Southern Hospital for the Insane, at Anna, on the 18th of April. The entire day was spent in the examination of the institution, and an investigation as to its needs.

In the general management, discipline and economy of the administration, there is much that is commendable at this hospital. The building and improvements are in some respects superior to those of other institutions visited, and in other respects are below the average.

There is no slaughter house, no shops at all equal to the demands, and no conservatory for the protection of plants, as we find at other institutions.

The bakery is altogether too small, and the room for drying the clothing ought to be twice as large as it now is to accomplish the purposes for which it was erected, in a satisfactory manner.

This institution has a capacity for 635 patients, but the present list shows that there are 650 under its control, a few being permitted to visit home for a time as a trial of their ability to exercise self-control, and in the hope that their condition would continue to improve by a return to former associations, a longing for which is very strong with convalescent patients.

The institution has 556 acres of land, all in use, as pasture, meadow or under the plow. All the milk used in the hospital is produced on the farm; as also are all the vegetables, except a part of the potatoes.

A goodly number of the male patients are given occupation on the farm and about the institution, by which they are rendered more contented, and greatly benefited in bodily health. As many of the females are given some kind of employment a part of each day, as can be so accommodated. The theory adopted is that a regulated system of employment at some moderate work is one of the best factors in the treatment of people whose mental functions are disarranged.

The committee saw but little restraint in use, and what they did see was of the mildest character compatible with safety and efficiency. The record of restraint is carefully kept, as well as the general history of each patient.

The system of keeping accounts is that recommended by the State Board of Charities four years ago. This system imposes a great deal of labor, but when worked out fully, it gives a clear account of all items received and expended.

The trustees ask for $160 per capita per annum for the next two years for ordinary expenses. Your committee does not think the amount too large, and it ought to be allowed.

For Improvements and Repairs for two years.....$10,000.

The amount asked for improvements and repairs, $5,000 per annum, is less than 1 per cent. on the cost of the buildings, and is none too much to be appropriated for that purpose.

For Care and Improvement of Grounds for two years$2,400.

This amount could be expended to advantage for the purpose named, but the committee think that the expenditure of $1,000 per annum will, in due time, put the grounds into proper shape, after which a less amount will keep them in order.

The other special appropriations asked for by the trustees, the committee believe are made on as low an estimate as the improvements needed can be made for, and with the exception of the electric light, the committee believe the several items asked for are necessary for the purposes specified, and that they should be granted.

The committee are emphatic in their condemnation of the system of lighting institutions where the insane are kept with gasoline. Its great danger with reference to fire and explosion, its irregular burning, as many of the blackened ceilings testify; its offensive smell, polluting the air about the hospital, are sufficient reasons for its displacement for some better and safer system of lighting such institutions.

The present machinery has been in use for the past twelve years, and being buried in the ground, the iron tank and carbureters are rusting away, and will need to be renewed at no distant day if the present system is maintained. The committee are decidedly of the opinion that the electric light promises to be far preferable on account of safety, healthfulness and neatness, than any system of lighting by gas or gasoline now extant, and while they do not recommend immediate action on the part of the General Assembly, they suggest the propriety of renting a plant on a basis similar to that now in use at Elgin, which is so far proving very satisfactory.

Several of the committee, who had never seen the southern part of the State, were agreeably surprised to find the hospital situated in a hilly, healthy locality, where the climate is mild, the winters not severe, and the cost of maintenance less than further north,—the difference in the cost of fuel alone between this and the Elgin hospital being over $9,000 per annum.

While the committee were there, the superintendent was obliged to refuse admission to four female patients for want of room. The friends of these patients were urgent for their admission that they might receive the benefit of treatment early in their cases. This occurrence brought the fact before the committee of the necessity for further provision, by the State, for the care of the chronic insane, whereby the present hospitals could be relieved of a part of the accumulated cases, and room made for all new cases that may apply for admission. This would be a blessing to many people on whom the care of an insane relative imposes a heavy burden, not infrequently impoverishing or exhausting the resources of members of a family, and paralyzing their efforts to gain a competence.

An additional building at Anna similar to the one at Jacksonville, and the one proposed at Elgin, could be erected at a moderate cost and run on a very economical basis under the present management.

ILLINOIS EASTERN HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE, AT KANKAKEE.

The hospital at Kankakee is constructed mainly on the detached plan. There are eighteen buildings occupied by patients, with a capacity for 1225. The number of beds in a building varies from 30 to 160. The larger buildings are divided into separate wards varying from two to four in a building. Besides these detached wards, is the main hospital—a three-story fire proof structure. The buildings are substantially built of limestone.

Regarding the fire which occurred in one building on January 18, with attendant loss of 17 lives, further inquiry fails to develop with absolute certainty the origin of the conflagration. These new buildings at Kankakee are heated with furnaces for the reason that the amount of money appropriated was not sufficient to put in steam heating. The starting point of the fire was in the floor over one of the furnaces, but the most diligent investigation and inquiry fails to give a clue to the precise manner in which the fire began.

The north infirmary building, constructed on the north side for women, which is in every way a duplicate of the south infirmary, which was destroyed, has furnaces put in in exactly the same manner. It seems to be safe, and there has been nothing to indicate any danger from the manner in which the furnaces were put in.

This hospital management has rapidly carried forward the work provided for by the last legislature of accommodating 1,000 more patients in addition to the 500 previously provided for.

When we visited this model institution there were 1,246 patients in the institution, and all but two of the twelve new buildings were occupied, and 67 of the counties of the State were represented, most of them with their full quota of patients.

The location of the Kankakee hospital in respect to drainage, water supply, etc., seems to be well chosen. The town, from its ample railroad facilities, is easily accessible, and the proximity to the Wilmington coal fields, together with its railroad side-track, makes the situation good for securing an ample supply of cheap fuel.

The needs of the hospital which seem to be the most urgent are:

First—The increase of kitchen, bakery, and laundry facilities sufficient to do the work for 1,500 patients and the necessary employes. It was not anticipated when the first buildings were constructed that the capacity would be greater than 800 (see first biennial report), and now with 1,500 inmates the space is very much cramped and the consequent inconvenience great. The kitchen should be enlarged, and this will take away the present bakery and also rooms now occupied by 14 male employes; hence a separate building for bakery will be needed. An addition should also be made to space for working in the laundry, particularly in the ironing and drying rooms.

Second—The second need of the institution in importance is to complete the south wing. This has been left unfinished for four years, but the wards which this new wing will furnish (for the violent male patients) are now more urgently needed than ever, as the number of patients has now become so great, and all the accommodation heretofore made for males is for the quiet and harmless ones.

Third—The employes' quarter needs to be enlarged on account of the room now occupied by some of the employes being needed to add to the available space in the kitchen building, and also because the employes are now occupying space intended for patients in the wards. There is no other place for them, but the completion of the building for employes will meet this need. In connection with this a sewing, tailoring and upholstering shop should be provided, as the sewing room now occupies a portion of the laundry, and with room provided for this class of work economy would be subserved by providing suitable room for the tailoring, upholstering and shoemaking, which would give employment to large numbers of inmates and enable a great deal of manufacturing in this line to be done for the benefit of the institution.

Fourth—This institution requires about fifteen head of cattle for beef weekly. The slaughtering is economically done on the premises, but at a considerable disadvantage. In addition the institution puts up all its corned beef, salt pork, sour krout, etc. There is also an ice house needed which has never been provided, although there is an inexhaustible supply of ice conveniently at hand in the Kankakee River. An ice house, with a slaughter house, packing room and store room for meat, can be provided at a comparatively small expense, and the institution seems to require these very seriously, in view of the large numbers to be provided for.

Fifth—The buildings are at present lighted with gas, but the gas works, originally constructed to provide for 800, are now of insufficient capacity and will need to be enlarged or means of lighting provided. As soon as the days grow shorter it will become impossible to provide light for all the buildings with the present works, and even at the present time this is only done by running day and night at a great disadvantage and expense.

Sixth—There is a very great amount of work to be done in grading and filling around these new buildings, and the needed amount for improvement of grounds will be proportionately larger for the next two years than it will be thereafter.

Seventh—The new buildings have all sand finished walls, which, although this is the most durable for such an institution, looks bare at the present time. These walls should be painted, and the amount of painting in so many buildings is so great that it cannot be done without a special appropriation for that purpose.

Eighth—There are 17 acres of land adjoining the hospital grounds, forming a corner bounded on two sides by the highway, which cuts into the grounds of the hospital seriously, as it lies at the point where the main entrance to the hospital grounds should be located. The building of the institution stands in close proximity to this land, and it will inevitably be built up with a class of small tenements giving undesirable neighbors close to the grounds intended for the female recreation grounds, unless it is acquired by the State. It is also probable that it could never be procured again so cheaply as at the present time. More farm land is also needed for raising hay and affording pasture to the large amount of stock which it is necessary to keep.

The above are the more pressing needs of this institution. The list is long, and the amount asked seems large or would seem so unless it be taken into account that this institution has had such large numbers placed in its care by the State. It is the largest institution in the United States at the present time with a single exception, the Willard Asylum for the Chronic Insane at Ovid, N. Y., which has about 1,700 inmates.

NORTHERN HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE, AT ELGIN.

This institution was visited by the committee on April 4th. Dr. Kilbourne, the superintendent of the hospital, afforded us every possible facility for examination and investigation. The trustees of this institution are asking for an appropriation to erect a new building. It is thought that the erection of a plain but substantial brick structure—similar in design to those recently erected at Middletown, Conn., and at Jacksonville, Ill.—on the grounds south of the present building, with a capacity for 300 patients, will meet the wants for the immediate future.

No purchase of land will be required. The farm of 510 acres connected with the institution will furnish ample employment for an increased number of patients. The cost per capita will be increased. The out-buildings rendered necessary by the enlarged capacity are already constructed. The working force will remain the same except an increase of one in the medical staff, and a slight increase in the clerical force. The outlay for construction is estimated at $150,000, or $500 per capita, which includes cost of building, furnishing, heating and making ready for occupancy.

For Electric Lighting.....$10,500.

The contract made in 1880 with the Elgin Gas Light Company for lighting the hospital for five years will expire Jan. 1 next, and immediate action should be taken to secure proper light in the future. The management demonstrated to the satisfaction of your committee that electric lighting is the cheapest, and we would recommend that the sum above named be appropriated.

For Front Fence.....$1,500.

Two years ago the management asked $3,000 to build a front fence. The estimates were close and the fence could not be built for less. The Thirty-third General Assembly appropriated only $1,500, which was used as far as it went, but the work is uncompleted. We believe the appropriation is necessary and should be allowed.

For Reservoir.....$5,000.

For some time the trustees have endeavored to get an appropriation for an artificial lake or reservoir. They ask $5,000, and insist that it is an urgent necessity. The superintendent says in no other way can a sufficient volume of water be obtained to fight a fire if the institution should be visited by one.

For Construction of Fire Line$4,289.53.

We recommend the establishment of a fire line outside the hospital, and fire escapes conveniently located upon the building for the use of firemen and to aid in the removal of patients if necessary. It will require $4,289 53.

For Additional Fire Apparatus.....$4,366.

A further appropriation of $4,366 is asked for hose and fire apparatus, fire escapes, etc. The management also ask for $1,400 for a fire pump with foundation, valves, piping, etc., to be placed at the river. Protection from fire is a matter of the highest importance, and should not be lightly considered. The amounts asked seem reasonable enough, but your committee would refer the matter to the House without recommendation.

For Side Track.....$17,568.50.

The question of constructing a side track from the railroad to the hospital grounds has frequently been laid before the legislature. The Chicago and Northwestern railroad propose to lay a side track for a distance of about a mile and a half to the hospital for the above sum.

For Ordinary Expenses for two years....$200,000.

In the matter of current expenses, to which we have given careful attention, we are pleased to note a material decline in the market rates of provisions, which permits a like reduction in the appropriations asked from this legislature. The last General Assembly appropriated $106,000 per annum. In view of the reduction in provisions your committee are of the opinion that $100,000 per annum will be sufficient to meet all requirements.

For Improvements and Repairs for two years..... $12,000.

This, it seems, is the usual amount appropriated by each General Assembly, and we recommend it be allowed.

THE ILLINOIS ASYLUM FOR FEEBLE MINDED CHILDREN, AT LINCOLN.

Your committee visited this economically managed institution on May 9, and were met by Dr. Fish, the superintendent, who took great pains in order that your committee should be correctly informed as to the workings and needs of the institution.

The estimates of the superintendent for ordinary expenses, repairs and improvements of grounds we fully endorse. In the opinion of your committee this institution is the most economically managed of any of the State institutions. We would specially emphasize the importance of a separate hospital building and the purchase of land enough to employ the larger boys in the cultivation of vegetables and small fruits, that now constitute quite an item in the ordinary expenses.

There are in this institution 317 children—174 boys and 143 girls.

For Improvements and Repairs for two years..... $6,000.

Extensive repairs are needed in the building formerly used for laundry purposes. The floors of the main building and wings require renewal in several places, and the oven in the bakery will have to be replaced. The roof will also need considerable attention. The above sum is the smallest amount, in your committee's judgment, that will be sufficient to keep the buildings and machinery of the institution in proper repairs.

For Improvement of Grounds for two years..... $1,000.

This is the usual amount and should be allowed. It is small enough.

For Purchase of Land..... $6,000.

The tract of land desired comprises 40 acres, which adjoins the asylum grounds on the west. It can now be purchased for $6,000, and as it seems to be a necessity to the asylum we favor the appropriation.

For Erection of Hospital Building..... $7,500.

Feeble-minded children are many of them predisposed to disease by heredity, and require medical care and treatment to a greater extent than children of average intelligence. It is essential in an institution for their care that its hospital facilities should be ample and that the apartments used for that purpose should be in a building removed from the main structure, in order to prevent the spread of epidemic and contagious diseases. The rooms used for hospital purposes at present are in the south wing of the main building, on the same floor as the girls' dormitories. In case of further epidemics of infectious or contagious diseases, the management could not, as at present situated, thoroughly isolate those affected. For these reasons your committee would recommend that the above sum be appropriated for the purpose named.

For Ordinary Expenses for two years.....$117,000.

During the coming two years it is expected that the average number of inmates will exceed 325. Accepting this estimate and allowing $200 per capita per annum—a sum that is very reasonable—it would cost for ordinary expenses $65,000 per annum. But the receipts estimated from reimbursements on account of clothing, sale of stock, etc., are $6,500, thus leaving the estimate for ordinary expenses $58,500 per annum, or $117,000 for two years. Your committee recommend that that amount be appropriated.

Too much praise cannot be given Dr. Fish for his able and in all respects satisfactory management of this institution. The interests of the unfortunate children committed to the care of the institution are carefully considered, and the objects of the institution well and thoroughly carried out, manifesting judgment, economy and efficiency in all the details of management.

THE SOLDIERS' ORPHANS' HOME, AT NORMAL.

On June 6th, 1885, your committee visited the Soldiers' Orphans' Home located in the north part of the village of Normal, in McLean county, on one of the most beautiful tracts of land in the State.

We were kindly met at the midnight train by the authorities of the institution and every facility afforded us in making our inspection and examination of the "Home," and the manner in which it is conducted.

Mrs. Virginia C. Ohr, the superintendent, was unavoidably absent, but we were met by the local trustee, Duncan M. Funk, Dr. J. L. White and other officers of the institution, who aided us very materially in making our examination thorough and comprehensive.

We found present 353 inmates—198 boys and 155 girls—averaging in age nine years, representing 70 counties in the State. All were bright and intelligent looking, healthy and happy, well fed and comfortably clad.

The trustees are requesting the appropriation of the following amounts to perpetuate and maintain the institution the next two years from July 1, 1885 to July 1, 1887:

Current expenses, $50,000 per annum.....	$100,000
Repairs and improvements for two years.....	5,000
Library fund for two years.....	500
Total	$105,500

The amount asked for current expenses is less by $5,000 per annum than was granted this institution by the last General Assembly, and the attendance is increased by about fifty children. But as the books of the Home show an accumulated surplus of something over $6,000, the trustees are of the opinion that their estimate will be ample to meet all requirements. We are fully convinced that this request is reasonable, and therefore cheerfully recommend the appropriation of the amount specified for this purpose. The buildings are all very much in need of paint outside. A new roof will be required on the engine room building, new floors will be necessary in many of the rooms, and various other repairs in and about the buildings, making the special appropriation asked for this purpose, $5,000, very low and should be allowed in full.

We regard the $500 requested to keep up the library of the institution as a very important item and one which is much needed, and therefore recommend that it be allowed.

The condition in which we found this institution in all its departments, warrants the assertion that it is one of the cleanest, best kept, most thoroughly systematized, and most economically managed charitable institutions in the State, and reflects credit upon its able superintendent, Mrs. V. C. Ohr, and the board of trustees, consisting at present of Hon. Duncan M. Funk, of Bloomington, and Hon. James E. Morrow, of Pontiac.

Your committee would respectfully recommend that the trustees should be authorized to establish a class of music for the instruction of the children of the institution.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

By unanimous consent, Mr. Crafts, chairman of the select committee to investigate the charges against the Southern Illinois Penitentiary, made the following report:

Your committee to whom was referred the following resolution, to-wit:

Resolved, That a select committee of five be appointed by the Chair, and they are hereby instructed to examine into the charges and specifications heretofore made against the management of the Southern Illinois Penitentiary, as set forth in the House journal of the 33d General Assembly, on pages 760 and 761, and they are further empowered to examine and inquire into the management of the penitentiary at Joliet, the Reform School at Pontiac, and the penitentiary at Chester, at the present time, so far as concerns the discipline, food, expenditures of any and all kinds, together with all matters pertaining to the welfare of these institutions, their inmates, and the people of the State; and they shall have full authority to employ a stenographer, and to issue processes or summonses to compel the attendance of witnesses, or the production of books and papers when required.

Submit the following report and ask to be discharged, viz:

In compliance with the foregoing resolution, the committee visited the penitentiary at Chester, on the eleventh day of April, and began the inquiry into the charges made against this institution to the 33d General Assembly. We found that the report of the special committee of that Assembly was substantially correct. The evidence showed that the discipline was good, and that the abolition of the lock-step and the introduction of the "social," had a very beneficial effect on the behavior of the men. The evidence further showed that the food was good and wholesome, and that the institution was creditably managed.

A part of the committee visited Joliet on the 11th of June, and inquired into the method of letting their contracts for labor, and as to whether or no he contracts had been let to the highest and best bidders. The information shows that April 22d, 1884, a contract was made with Selz, Schwab & Co., for 50 men at 70c. per day, and 200 men at 65c. per day. On the same day, Fred A. Watson bid for 250 men at 70½c. per day; difference in favor Watson for eight years, $27,000. However, prior to letting, the State was under contract with Selz, Schwab & Co. to refund them $1800 per annum for heating all their shops. Selz, Schwab & Co. relinquished this claim in consideration of being awarded the contract, all of which is fully set out in the accompanying papers. Your committee found no evidence or grounds for the rumored charges against the management of the Reform School at Pontiac, and believe that its management is economical and just.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
